Preface

The Trinity College Historical Society, organized in 1892, began a collection of manuscript materials under the leadership of John Spencer Bassett in 1894. Limited membership and lack of resources prevented any outstanding success for a time, but, nevertheless, this small beginning at Trinity College paved the way for the present Manuscript Collection of Duke University Library. In the fall of 1906, Dr. William K. Boyd, becoming the leading figure in the Society, virtually started the present collection by emphasizing the value of written records in contrast to historical relics. The Trinity College Historical Society, stirred to greater action by the spirited work of Dr. Boyd and the enthusiastic assistance of Professor R. L. Flowers, had accumulated a small but valuable collection by 1924. In that year a charter member of the Society, William Washington Flowers, influenced by the active program of the group, established in honor of his father, Colonel George Washington Flowers, a fund to be used for a collection of historical materials bearing on the South, especially the Confederate period. The greatest portion of the manuscript holdings have accordingly been acquired through the Flowers Fund. Dr. Boyd continued to build up the collection, and thereafter the manuscript holdings of Duke University Library were greatly expanded and enriched by materials purchased for the Flowers Collection. Gifts, loans, and materials purchased by other funds also increased the collection. Since Dr. Boyd's death in 1938, the Flowers Fund has been administered by Dr. Robert H. Woody, a member of the Department of History of Duke University and a former student of Dr. Boyd.

New materials, consisting both of new collections and additions to collections already accessioned, are constantly being received so that normally the holdings are expanded at the approximate rate of 60,000 to 75,000 items yearly. There are at present approximately 1,000,000 pieces and 3,000 volumes catalogued and arranged by collection, and approximately 500,000 pieces and many volumes as yet uncatalogued.

Despite the accumulation of manuscript materials for virtually forty years, no attention was given to recording and arranging them until 1931. At that time, with an inadequate staff, a mass of unaccessioned and uncatalogued manuscripts, and a constant flow of freshly acquired materials, the task of reducing the collection to a semblance of order was more than challenging. Dr. Ruth Ketring Nuermberger became the first curator of the collection. Without previous experience in handling manuscript materials and without the benefit of expert advice, Dr. Nuermberger not only devised a sound system of arrangement which has rendered the problem of locating materials very simple, but she also set a high standard in analyzing manuscript materials. In her method of arrangement, used in part in this Guide, a collection is a group of papers (as small as two items) centering around one individual, one organization, or one political unit. In the case of bound volumes, a single item, connected with an individual, organization, or political unit, has been listed as a separate collection. Small collections have been included in the belief that one letter of some individuals may be of greater significance than thousands written by some others. The single items have been grouped under one entry entitled "Miscellaneous Collection," in the description of which an effort has been made to mention the outstanding items. In one instance various manuscript arithmetics (Entry 47) have been entered collectively as a matter of convenience.

In appraising the manuscript holdings of the Duke University Library, first emphasis should be placed on records pertaining to the Civil War, among which are countless diaries and letters of Confederate officers and soldiers, a surprisingly large portion having been written by soldiers of no rank and little education. Many rosters, military reports, records of the Confederate Congress, a large set of court records, and numerous letters and papers of executive departments of the Confederate government are included. In addition, the collection includes letters and diaries of Federal soldiers who campaigned in the South and wrote in detail of what they saw. These materials, in general confined to the Flowers Collection, are so numerous and of such importance as to be of great value to students of the Confederate period. There is also abundant information on such subjects as plantation life, slavery, the manufacture of tobacco and cotton, agriculture in general, mercantile pursuits, and religious denominations, especially the Methodist Church in North Carolina during the post-bellum period. Special attention should be called to the original manuscript census returns, generally for the decades from 1850 to 1880, for Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Tennessee. Few records portray social and economic life so faithfully as do these statistics assembled by local census enumerators. Valuable information on the lives and careers of several literary figures of the South is to be found in the papers of such writers as Thomas Holley Chivers, John Esten Cooke, Clara V. Dargan, Paul Hamilton Hayne, A. B. Meek, Thomas Nelson Page, and Augustin Louis Taveau. Viewed from the standpoint of location, the collection contains numerous large and important sets of papers relative to the history of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and Virginia. There are also many valuable collections from North Carolina, but no great number of a comprehensive nature. Among these various papers there are letters and other important records of many notable figures of public life, among whom are P. G. T. Beauregard, Armistead Burt, John C. Calhoun, David Campbell, Robert Carter, Clement C. Clay, Henry Clay, John J. Crittenden, Jefferson Davis, George Frederick Holmes, Andrew Jackson, Robert E. Lee, and numerous others.

In addition to Southern materials the collection contains other manuscripts of value. A comparatively small portion of the collection bears on a number of English literary figures and contains letters and papers of George Moore, William Michael and Dante Gabriel Rossetti, Robert Southey, Alfred Tennyson, and others. A recently acquired collection of Walt Whitman material, since separately catalogued, consisting of some 200 literary manuscripts and over 400 letters, constitutes an outstanding addition to the collection. There are also a small number of medieval manuscripts consisting in general of lectionaries and copies of the New Testament. Most important among the non-Southern materials are the records of the Socialist party of America, containing 95,000 items, the official files of the party from 1900 to 1938. It would be extremely difficult to study properly the radical labor movements of recent years without recourse to these papers of the Socialist party of America, which include also unpublished records of party councils and proceedings.

Arrangement and cataloging are based on the physical state of the manuscript; unbound manuscripts are filed flat in folders placed in fireproof steel boxes, and the bound manuscripts are shelved separately. Each collection has been analyzed and listed on 3" x 5" cards with a description of the contents, the number of items, the inclusive dates, and date of filing. In addition, for the rapid location of letters of prominent individuals, an autograph file is kept, giving the date, recipient, and location of these individual letters. Other keys designed to simplify the work of students using these manuscripts consist of lists of the various collections according to geographical location and subject matter.

With the exception of a few collections which are restricted, the manuscripts may be used freely by serious students of history.

Two factors peculiar to the arrangement of the collections and the Guide should be explained for the convenience of those who may consult this volume. Before the present system of arrangement had been completely developed, the custom of withdrawing letters of certain persons from individual collections and thus forming extra collections in some cases rendered it difficult to place materials in their proper milieu. This practice, later abandoned, may be illustrated by the Alexander Robinson Boteler Collection, which originally included also the three smaller collections of Henry Kyd Douglas, Rose (O'Neal) Greenhow, and Richard, Robert, and Thomas Stockton. Pressure of accumulating materials has prevented the return of these smaller collections to the original collection, and it has seemed impractical merely to combine them in the Guide. It is believed, however, that the somewhat comprehensive index will eliminate confusion on this point. Inclusive dates are given for each collection, although in some cases they are misleading by reason of family papers which antedate the birth of the person for whom the collection is named. Where inclusive dates are misleading, parentheses have been employed to indicate the years where the bulk of a collection falls. For example, in the Edward Harden Papers, Entry 740, the inclusive dates are 1772-1930; but there are relatively few papers before 1803 and likewise a small number after 1884. The dates are there written 1772 (1803-84) 1930. Inclusive dates of the lives of individuals prominent in the various collections have been inserted in parentheses following the names whenever the information was available to the compilers. It should be noted, too, that the importance of the various collections is not to be gauged by the length of the description, as a heterogeneous set of little importance often requires more space than a valuable collection.

The present Guide to the Manuscript Collections in the Duke University Library was planned by the Historical Records Survey under leadership of Dr. C. C. Crittenden of the North Carolina Historical Commission and his successor in the Historical Records Survey, Mr. Dan Lacy. Under their supervision a mimeographed edition was released in December, 1939. With Dr. Crittenden as sponsor and Mr. Colbert F. Crutchfield and Mr. M. A. Rushton, Jr., as state supervisors of the North Carolina Historical Records Survey, revision of the mimeographed guide was begun in the spring of 1941. The mimeographed guide has been revised and enlarged almost beyond recognition. Field survey for the original guide was made by John M. Clarke, Miss Georgia Couch, S. Branson Marley, Carl Whitely, and J. Burwell Woodall, under the editorial supervision of Mrs. Viola S. Burch and the state directorship of Mr. Dan Lacy. As State Director of the Service Division, Mrs. May E. Campbell, with the members of her staff, aided in preparing the mimeographed edition. Field work for the present revised guide was done by Mrs. Mamie H. Crompton and members of the staff of the Manuscript Department of Duke University Library.

Among the various people who aided in the preparation of this Guide, no one labored with more tireless energy than Miss Noma Lee Goodwin, assistant in the Manuscript Department of Duke University Library. Likewise, the work of Mr. Lewistine M. McCoy, student assistant, in editing and typing the manuscript, has been indispensable. Special appreciation is due Dr. Ruth Ketring Nuernberger for advice and assistance in initiating the work for the mimeographed edition, for proofreading the final copy, and for preparing the index to this volume. Miss Margaret E. Kinsman also aided with the proofreading. Professor John Tate Lanning, of the Department of History, Duke University, and Dr. Gustav A. Nuernberger, of the Reference Division of Duke University Library, did the tedious work of preparing the description of the Peruvian Manuscripts, Entry 1320. Dr. Kenneth W. Clark, of the Divinity School of Duke University, criticized the descriptions of the Medieval Manuscripts, Entry 1161. Professors Jay B. Hubbell and Paull F. Baum, of the Department of English of Duke University, gave generous aid and advice relative to the form and content of the Guide. The co-operation and support of Dr. John J. Lund, former Librarian of Duke University, and the late Mr. Henry R. Dwire, of the Duke University Press, have made it possible to prepare and publish this guide.

GUIDE TO THE MANUSCRIPT COLLECTIONS IN THE DUKE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

1. ABBEVILLE DISTRICT (S. C.) LAND INDENTURES, 1769-1856. 50 items.
Abbeville, S. C.

Land grants with accompanying surveys from King George III, William Bull, and various deeds given by private citizens and the state of South Carolina for land in Abbeville District.

2. DANIEL ABERNETHY PAPERS, 1862-65. 19 items. (Dinwiddie County?) Va.

Letters of Daniel Abernethy, a Confederate soldier of limited education, to his wife and father, containing gossip and comments on desertion and scarcity of food, and references, in 1864, to the probability of overtures of peace to the North by North Carolina.

3. M. A. ABERNETHY LEDGER, 1886-1903. 1 vol. Statesville, N. C.

General mercantile accounts.

4. ABERNETHY LIBRARY OF AMERICAN LITERATURE PAPERS, 1836-98.
63 items. Various places.

Typed copies of letters of Thomas Willis White, Paul Hamilton Hayne, Lafcadio Hearn, DuBose Heyward, Richard Malcolm Johnston, John Pendleton Kennedy, William Gilmore Simms, and Alice French (pseud. Octave Thanet). The originals are the property of the Abernethy Library of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont. The White letters contain occasional references to Edgar Allan Poe [partially published: Arthur Hobson Quinn, Edgar Allan Poe: A Critical Biography (New York, 1941)]. The Hayne letters are addressed to Julia Caroline (Ripley) Dorr and contain comments on her poetry and on contemporary writers. Hearn's letters were written from Japan to his publishers. The letters of Simms and Alice French contain literary comment, but those of Heyward, Johnston, and Kennedy are largely notes of thanks or requests for addresses.

5. JAMES ABSTON DAYBOOK, 1823. 1 vol. Waterloo Mills, Va.

Fragmentary mercantile accounts; only a few of the entries contain detailed statements.

6. HERBERT BAXTER ADAMS PAPERS, (1891-1902) 1913. 52 items. Baltimore, Md.

Photostatic copies of letters of Herbert B. Adams (1850-1901), historian and one of the organizers of the American Historical Association in 1884, consisting chiefly of communications from Stephen Beauregard Weeks and John Spencer Bassett concerning the organization of the History Department at Trinity College, Durham, North Carolina, the quarrel between Weeks and John Franklin Crowell, president of Trinity College, the Trinity College Historical Society, the advanced study of William Kenneth Boyd, and current political problems in North Carolina. Included also are a few letters from W. T. Laprade to Professor John Martin Vincent concerning a graduate thesis in history.

7. HENRY D. ADAMS NOTES, 1870. 1 vol. Trinity College, Randolph County, N. C.

"Notes on International Law" by Henry D. Adams, a member of the senior class of Trinity College.

8. THOMAS ADAMS ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1768-1808. 2 vols. Augusta County, Va.
Accounts, chiefly of tobacco to be sold for Virginia planters and goods to be purchased in London, of Thomas Adams, a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses and of the Continental Congress and a tobacco factor and merchant, showing prices, shipping charges, and a record of the sale of Adams's estate. One item among a number of commissions to be executed in London was for Thomas Jefferson.

9. W. G. ADAMS ACCOUNT BOOK, 1851-63. 1 vol. (Va.?)
A physician's record of services rendered and fees received.

10. JOHN ADGER PAPERS, 1839; 1852. 2 items. Charleston, S. C.
Letters concerning renewals of subscriptions to the Presbyterian of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

11. G. H. ADSHEAD PAPERS, 1880-98. 10 items. London, England.
Personal letters to G. H. Adshead from friends visiting in England, France, Russia, and Turkey.

12. ALABAMA STATE SALT WORKS LETTERPRESS COPYBOOK, 1863-64.
1 vol. Clarke County, Ala.

Business letters of the Alabama State Salt Works, usually written by N. S. Brooks, superintendent, and Benjamin Woolsey, salt commissioner of Alabama.

13. ADAM LEOPOLD ALEXANDER PAPERS, 1785 (1803-89) 1909. 361 items.
Washington, Ga.

Family correspondence of Adam Leopold Alexander (1803-82), planter and businessman with interests in banking, railroads, and mercantile firms. Included are letters from Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut; the University of Virginia, Charlottesville; schools of Washington, Georgia; New England secondary schools, 1830-40, 1850; letters concerning Civil War and Reconstruction; and miscellaneous deeds and other papers.

14. BETTIE ALEXANDER PAPERS, 1860-63. 9 items. Monroe County, Va.
(now W. Va.)

Personal letters from Bettie Alexander, apparently a schoolgirl, to her sister in Fincastle, Virginia. Frequent mention is made of sick, wounded, or killed Confederate soldiers, runaway Negroes, and Federal troops.

15. JAMES H. ALEXANDER DIARY, 1862. 1 vol. Centreville, Va.

Diary kept while James H. Alexander was in a Confederate camp near Centreville. It contains intimate details of life in the Confederate Army, including a description of the company dispute with Colonel William Nelson Pendleton about building a church and attending services, and references to Northern newspapers that came by the Underground Railroad.

16. ROBERT P. ALEXANDER NOTES, 1856-57. 1 vol. Charlottesville, Va.

Robert P. Alexander's notes on physiology and surgery taken from lectures delivered by Dr. James Lawrence Cabell at the University of Virginia.

17. [A. T. ALLEN] DIARY, 1843-44. 1 vol. Accomac County, Va.

18. ETHAN ALPHONSO ALLEN LETTER BOOK, 1818-35. 1 vol. Accomac County, Va.

Copies of letters of Ethan A. Allen (1789-1855), son of Ethan Allen of Revolutionary War fame, graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, and captain in the U. S. Army. Generally routine in nature, the letters are largely concerned with recruiting service for the 2d Battalion of Artillery in Virginia and Maryland, reports to auditors and other officials of the U. S. Treasury Department, and efforts to obtain his portion of military bounty land due his father. Included also are copies of letters received by Allen; a description of the fort at Craney Island, Norfolk County, Virginia, in 1820; a letter to President James Monroe protesting the omission of his name from the rolls of the U. S. Army; a draft, evidently first hand, of Allen's will; and business correspondence with the firm of Aldis and Davis.

19. JAMES WALKINSHAW ALLEN NOTEBOOK, 1848-64. 1 vol. Mt. Prospect (Bedford County), Va.

Notebook of James W. Allen (d. 1862), a student at Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, and later colonel in the 2d Virginia Infantry, C. S. A., containing collections of poems and quotations. Included also is a comment on the life and death of J. W. Allen, signed by J. N. Allen.

20. JOHN ALLEN PAPERS, 1864 (1870-79) 1885. 39 items. Franklin County, N. C.

Personal and business letters of John Allen, Confederate soldier, teacher, and civil engineer. The collection relates chiefly to the Civil War, teaching, college life, and financial difficulties during Reconstruction. Included also are a report card of James Parker, of the Oxford (N. C.) High School, giving a description of the courses offered; and four letters from relatives and friends in Texas and Missouri.

21. RICHARD ALLEN DAYBOOK AND ACCOUNT BOOK, 1839-74. 2 vols. Keyville, Va.

Records of a country merchant whose operations were on a small scale.

22. WILLIAM C. ALLEN PAPERS, 1857-66. 7 items. Haywood County, Tenn.

Letters of William C. Allen, a plantation owner. The collection deals with a typhoid epidemic in 1865 and with the high prices and scarcity of various articles in 1863. The letter for 1866 was written by H. Allen, a share-cropper tenant in Holly Springs, Mississippi.

23. WILLIAM H. ALLISON PAPERS, 1851-60. 8 items. Richmond, Va.

Chiefly letters to William H. Allison from his mother, written while he was a student at Richmond.

24. BENJAMIN ALLSTON PAPERS, 1856-78. 13 items. Charleston, S. C.

Military and personal correspondence of Benjamin Allston (1833-1900), Confederate officer and Protestant Episcopal minister, and some executive correspondence of R. F. W. Allston (1801-64), including three letters relative to an engineering project in progress on the Savannah River in 1858. Included also are several letters to "Ben" Allston from another minister, W. B. W. Howe, all mentioning the desirability of reserving a portion of church auditoriums for Negro worshippers, and personal letters from feminine correspondents.

25. LEONARD ALMAN PAPERS, 1862-64. 10 items. N. C.

Letters to Leonard Alman's wife, written for Alman by comrades, while he was in the Confederate Army.

26. WILLIAM ALSTON PAPERS, 1861-85. 3 items. Henderson, N. C.

One letter describing a Civil War camp, and two accounts from William Alston's store.

27. JOHN AMBLER PAPERS, 1788 (1810-26) 1864. 14 items. Richmond, Va.

Personal and business correspondence of John Ambler (1762-1836), plantation owner, miller, and officer in the War of 1812. Included are two letters from William Tucker of Amherst County, Virginia, concerning agriculture; a letter of condolence on the death of Ambler's wife; and one letter, 1864, from Robert Ambler to Beverly Ambler concerning army life during the Civil War.

28. RICHARD AMOS PAPERS, 1850 (1858-69) 1893. 108 items. Ayresville (Stokes County), N. C.

Family letters, most of which were written before the Civil War from Shelby County, Indiana, where one of the Amos brothers had settled.

29. FRANCIS THOMAS ANDERSON PAPERS, 1828 (1850-58) 1915. 443 items. Fincastle (Botetourt County), Va.

This collection concerns also the activities of Joseph Reid Anderson (1813-92). Included are business papers pertaining to mining operations and Francis Thomas Anderson's Cloverdale Furnace, a part of the Tredegar Iron Works; miscellaneous letters and papers concerning the sale of slaves, collection of debts, rental of property, teaching, and school tuition. Included also are a charge for the ministry of A. B. McCorkle; two summonses; and a printed plea, March 4, 1846, addressed to Anderson, seeking funds to help the widow and children of John Hampden Pleasants, "recently killed in a duel."

30. RICHARD HERON ANDERSON PAPERS, 1864; 1880. 2 items. Savannah, Ga.

Papers of Richard H. Anderson (1821-79), lieutenant in the Mexican War and colonel of 1st South Carolina Regiment, C. S. A. Included is an extract from Anderson's account of the operations of the 1st Corps, Army of Northern Virginia, after General James Longstreet was disabled; and a committee report on tactics.

31. Z. W. ANDERSON BAND BOOK, 1865. 1 vol. Wilkes County, Ga.

Band book of Z. W. Anderson, 37th Georgia Regiment, Hardee Corps, C. S. A., used during four years of service under General Joseph E. Johnston.

32. BENJAMIN ANDREW PAPERS, 1783; 1786. 2 items. Liberty County, Ga.

Promissory note to James Dunwoody, and a petition from John McLean to the Chief Justice of Georgia for the collection of a debt.

33. CHARLES S. ANDREWS AND LEWIS SCHELPERT NOTEBOOK, 1861-65. 1 vol. Madison, Ga.

Notebook on heavy infantry tactics.

34. ANONYMOUS ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1793-1910. 20 vols. Various places.

Account books of general merchants in Abernethy, North Carolina, 1881-88; Campbell County, Virginia, 1773-74; Davidson County, North Carolina, 1835-39; Lincoln County, Georgia, 1831-39; New Market, Virginia, 1823; Newton, North Carolina, 1866-80; Panola, Mississippi, 1883-84; Virginia, 1857; and no locality indicated, 1793-1860.

35. ANONYMOUS DAYBOOKS, 1796-1924. 5 vols. Various places.

Daybooks of general merchants in Abernethy, North Carolina, 1898-99 and 1920-24; Buena Vista (Va.), 1851; Augusta, Georgia, 1796-1872; Margaretsville, Northampton County, North Carolina, 1840-41; and no locality indicated, 1839-43.

36. ANONYMOUS DIARIES, 1813-68. 2 vols. Baltimore, Md., and Charleston, S. C.

The Baltimore diary, 1865-68, concerns family matters, public celebrations, and a storm in August, 1867, which is further described by a clipping from the Sun (Baltimore); the Charleston diary, 1813-14, is almost illegible.

37. ANONYMOUS JOURNALS, 1886-1901. 4 vols. Abernethy, N. C.

Records of a general merchant.

38. ANONYMOUS LEDGERS, 1822-55. 3 vols. Va.

Ledgers of general merchants in Baskerville, Virginia, 1822-24, and Buena Vista (Va.), 1849-51; and of a postmaster in Lawrenceville, Virginia, 1853-55.

39. ANONYMOUS NOVEL: "A LITTLE PICTURE," n.d. 6 vols. n.p.

A sentimental novel with the scene in France and Germany during and after the Franco-Prussian War. The plot follows the traditional pattern of a romance between individuals of enemy nations. Despite the amateurish plot, the anonymous author wrote with a surprising command of the English language.

40. ANONYMOUS POEM: "EDWIN AND LAURA," n.d. 4 vols. (Va.?)

Rough draft and revised copy of a long narrative poem entitled "Edwin and Laura," evidently by a Virginian, probably some time after 1825. The hero, Edwin, is made to wander over Virginia, thus giving the author opportunity to express unfavorable opinions of the practice of going to the springs of western Virginia for therapeutic purposes; of popular writers and magazines, especially "C....." in "W.....'s weekly paper"; and of the University of Virginia, with references to various early members of the faculty by initial, to the importation of foreigners for its faculty, and to the great expense of operating the University. A supplement to the poem, near the end of one volume, takes the hero to Richmond, describing merchants peering over their profits and losses, and lazy members of the legislature. Included also, near the end of one canto, is a poem on drinking.

41. ANONYMOUS SCRAPBOOK [ca. 1869]. n.p.

Scrapbook of sentimental poems and humorous articles.

42. ANTISLAVERY PAPERS, 1832; 1837. 2 items. Charleston, S. C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters referring to various phases of the abolition movement by Thomas Smith Grimké and William Henry Burleigh.

43. RICHARD APPERSON PAPERS [ca. 1800]. 2 items. Petersburg, Va.

44. DILMUS APPLEBERRY PAPERS, 1810 (1850-96) 1901. 1,750 items. Fluvanna County, Va.

Business, family, and legal correspondence of a plantation owner, largely composed of accounts, bills, invoices, indentures, and land surveys. Letters, some of a business nature, comprise about 5 per cent of the collection. Correspondents whose names appear most often are Pettit and Leake, a legal firm of Goochland Court House, Atlantic and Virginia Fertilizing Company of Richmond, Virginia, and Dilmus Appleberry's nephew, Thomas A. Bledsoe.

45. FLETCHER HARRIS ARCHER PAPERS AND NOTEBOOKS, 1804 (1847-85) 1900. 939 items and 15 vols. Petersburg, Va.

Correspondence of Fletcher H. Archer (b. ca. 1817), lawyer and soldier, including letters written from Mexico during the Mexican War; Civil War papers, among which are letters, morning reports, subsistence returns, diaries, and scrapbooks of Archer's poems; letters covering economic and legal phases of Reconstruction; account books of Archer's legal business; sermons and three account books of his father, Allin LeRoy Archer (b. 1783), a Methodist minister.

S. senator, 1846-55, and secretary of the navy, 1841, to Thomas Mandeville Carlisle, concerning a disagreement between the postmaster general and the railroads; and a letter to R. B. Temple relating to President Zachary Taylor's election.

64. WILLIAM BADHAM, JR., PAPERS, 1817 (1862-70) 1897. 706 items and 12 vols. Edenton, N. C.

Family and business correspondence and papers of William Badham, Jr. (b. 1835), North Carolina lawyer, merchant, and Confederate soldier, and a few political letters to William Badham, Jr., from Thomas Bragg, M. E. Manly, John W. Moore, Kenneth Rayner, George Reade, and others. The Civil War letters written from near Petersburg, Virginia, and Smith Island, at the mouth of the Cape Fear River in North Carolina, contain price quotations on blockade goods, descriptions of army life on Smith Island, and comments on peace advocates in the Confederacy. Twelve volumes contain Badham's dry-goods accounts; a teacher's register kept by his wife, Louisa (Jones) Badham; and accounts of a sale of furniture of John Jones, Badham's father-in-law. The bulk of the correspondence consists of very ardent love letters from Badham to his wife.

65. BENNETTE M. BAGBY PAPERS, 1830 (1860-94) 1920. 910 items. Powhatan County, Va.

Correspondence of the Bagby and Flippin families, planters, soldiers, and educators, especially the papers of Bennette M. Bagby, and family letters of his second wife, Louisa B. (Flippin) Bagby. Letters from Bagby's sons and nieces of his second wife are numerous. The letters deal chiefly with the period of secession, Civil War, and Reconstruction, revealing the economic plight of the South; hardships from disease, especially the yellow fever epidemic in Louisiana; camp life; educational conditions; and the attempts of the South at readjustment after the Civil War. Many of the family letters are written from Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Texas, and various parts of Virginia. Included are college letters from Randolph-Macon College, Boydton, Virginia, and letters which discuss the systems of education in Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, and Virginia, many of which describe the hardships of the public-school teacher.

66. DOCTOR WARREN BAGLEY DIARY, 1856-64. 1 vol. Williamston, N. C.

Diary, 1861-64, of D. W. Bagley (1801-78), treasurer of the Martin County Volunteer Company of the Confederate Army, giving detailed accounts of military events in eastern North Carolina. In the same volume there are thirty-seven pages of records, 1856-60, of the Roanoke Steamboat Company, of which Bagley was president. The volume also includes a section devoted to newspaper clippings relative to the Civil War.

92. GODFREY BARNESLEY PAPERS, 1828 (1840-61) 1873. 3,660 items and 1 vol. Savannah, Ga.

Letters to Godfrey Barnesley (1805-1872), Savannah agent for general import and export brokers of Liverpool, England, from his children; correspondence among the children; detailed lists comprised of accounts with physicians, invoices, prices of building materials for "Woodlands" (Barnesley's estate), records of sales and imports of cotton, bills, and receipts. There are letters from three of the Barnesley sons who attended the preparatory school of Charles Green at Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts; and letters from Barnesley's three daughters at Montpelier Female Institute, near Macon, Georgia. Much of the material concerns Harold Barnesley, who traveled over New England and other northern sections of the United States, in China, and on the sea; references to the Civil War, in which several of the sons served, and to depredations suffered by the family. Beginning in 1867 there are several letters from two of Barnesley's sons, George, a physician, and Lucien, both of whom went to South America with an emigrant group under the leadership of one McMullen. They shortly severed connections with this group, however: George followed his profession, while Lucien engaged in a number of enterprises, operating in turn a rice mill, apothecary's shop, brick manufactory, and gold mine. Most of this work was at Iguape, Sao Paulo Province, and near Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The letters contain descriptions of the natives, the countryside, and political, social, and economic conditions of the country. The collection also contains a ledger, 1828-44.

134. SAMUEL SIMPSON BIDDLE PAPERS, 1764 (1830-75) 1895. 3,207 items and 12 vols. New Bern and Fort Barnwell, N. C.

Business and personal correspondence of four generations of members of the Simpson and Biddle families, principally those of John Simpson (1728-88), locally a prominent Revolutionary figure, his son Samuel, and his great grandson Samuel Simpson Biddle (1811-72), both families being prominent in local affairs. The early letters, including several from John Simpson's brother in Boston, are largely concerned with business, including deeds, Simpson's property in Boston, and shipment of goods. One letter, in 1790, indicates that Simpson was associated in business with Dr. Hugh Williamson in Fayetteville, North Carolina. Other correspondence is concerned with probable purchase of land from John Haywood; one contract, 1810, with a tenant on Simpson's land; agricultural and business interests of Samuel Simpson Biddle in the 1840's and 1850's; the education of Samuel Simpson Biddle at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; and the education of several of his children at various schools in North Carolina, including Wake Forest College, Louisburg Academy, Chowan Female College, Oxford Female College, and a school at Warrenton.

William P. Biddle, father of Samuel Simpson Biddle, was a Baptist minister, who associated with his father-in-law in farming and business. Many letters of other ministers are included, with considerable information on activities of the Baptist church in the area of Fort Barnwell and New Bern. There are also minutes of Neuse (Baptist) Association, November 4, 1843, and of a conference meeting of the Baptist Church of Christ at Harriett's Chapel, September, 1853.

A large proportion of the letters refer to the Civil War, S. S. Biddle, Jr., and James W. Biddle having enlisted in the Confederate Army in 1861. These letters contain descriptions of campaigns, troop movements, camp life, and epidemics among soldiers and civilians. References are also made to naval conflicts along the coast, Federal prisoners, execution of deserters and of Southern traitors, fortifications at James Island, South Carolina, various generals, including P. G. T. Beauregard and Wade Hampton, and the confiscation of Southern property by Federal forces. There are also comments on the comparative merits of Z. B. Vance and W. W. Holden as governors.

Included are twelve account books, one containing general mercantile accounts of James William Biddle. Filed with the papers are five small stud books for "Horse Charlie." More than half the collection consists of bills and receipts connected with the mercantile and farming interests of the Simpsons and Biddles.

Among the correspondents are John D. Bellamy, William Gaston, John Haywood, Thomas Meredith, and John Stanly.

Family correspondence of three generations centering chiefly around John G. Brodnax (1829-1907), Confederate surgeon and practicing physician. Letters from 1857 to 1867, generally from Lynchburg, Virginia, refer to the sale of slaves and, during the war years, are concerned with the question of fleeing or remaining to face the advancing Federals. Included also are Brodnax's appointment as assistant surgeon general of the North Carolina Hospital at Petersburg, Virginia, and his oath of allegiance to the United States. Other items pertaining to Dr. Brodnax are restricted to letters to his wife, beginning in 1881, while she visited her relatives in summer; a speech against railroad taxation in 1879; a group of petitions in 1877 requesting that Brodnax be made superintendent of the North Carolina State Insane Asylum; and an undated article on optical surgery. Included also is genealogical material as well as other materials connected with the activities of Brodnax's wife in the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

A number of letters were written from schools and colleges attended by members of the family, including Salem Female Academy, Salem, North Carolina, and St. Mary's College, Raleigh, North Carolina, during 1912; N. I. Smith's School in Leaksville during 1879 and 1880; Bingham School in Orange County during 1883; Bingham School in Asheville, and Old Point Comfort College, Virginia, after 1909. Included also are letters from Mrs. Barr, an aunt of Mrs. Brodnax, and her children from 1877 to 1884 while traveling in Europe and studying music in Germany.

There are letters from Mary (Brodnax) Glenn and her family while in Mexico, where her husband worked for a railroad company, a mining firm, and as secretary to the American consul general; letters of this period are filled with references to conditions in Mexico, especially concerning political upheavals around 1910. Included also are papers relative to the settlement of the estate of John Brodnax, Jr., after 1909, and a group of sermons delivered by James Kerr Burch, a Presbyterian minister and father-in-law of Dr. John G. Brodnax.

Correspondence and family papers of John C. Calhoun (1782-1850), South Carolina statesman, concerning current politics and his public life. The material for 1765-1805 consists of personal correspondence of Calhoun's family, including letters to John Ewing Calhoun; the letters for 1805-50 are chiefly from Calhoun to his son about plantation matters. Among the correspondents are Armistead Burt, John D. Gardiner, Joseph McMinn, R. J. Meigs, and Francis Wilkinson Pickens.

276. NICHOLAS CALLAN SCRAPBOOK AND DIARY, 1860-70. 2 vols. Washington, D. C.

The diary of Nicholas Callan, apparently a lawyer, covers the period 1860, 1867-68, and concerns his law practice, state of the weather, politics, the unsettled condition of the country both before and after the Civil War, religion, and various government issues. The scrapbook contains various newspaper clippings concerning current political issues, especially the inauguration of President Ulysses S. Grant, 1869. The scrapbook, made from a book of records of the militia of the District of Columbia, contains a few readable pages of these militia records.

277. CHARLES CAMPBELL PAPERS, 1740 (1770-1879) 1935. 1,358 items and 5 vols. Fredericksburg, Va.

Copies of historical documents and letters, and personal papers of Charles Campbell (1807-76), historian, editor, and antiquarian. Original letters of P. T. Barnum, Virginius Dabney, B. T. Johnson, D. H. Maury, and Pierre Soulé are included. There are copies of letters and papers of Theodorick Bland, Jr., and Sr., R. H. Lee, Arthur Lee, Edgar Allan Poe, John Smith, and George Washington. Much of the material consists of Campbell's writings. There is some material, especially in the volumes, concerning Campbell's position as principal of Anderson Academy in Petersburg, Virginia, including a list of books used in 1867. The volumes also include personal accounts, records of Anderson Academy, and historical notes. One particularly valuable item consists of a transcription of the minute book of the city council of Richmond, Virginia, from July, 1782, to March, 1795, the first thirteen years of the incorporation of Richmond.

278. DAVID CAMPBELL PAPERS, 1780 (1800-69) 1908. 8,038 items and 32 vols. Abingdon, Va.

Family, business, and political correspondence of David Campbell (1779-1859), governor of Virginia, 1837-40, lieutenant colonel in the War of 1812, major general in the state militia west of Blue Ridge mountains; and of William Bowen

Campbell (1807-67), governor of Tennessee, 1847-48, and member of U. S. Congress, 1837-43, 1865-66; and of their families, friends, and political associates.

David Campbell (1779-1859), a deist and devotee to the reforms of the American Revolution, left a set of remarkable papers concerned with many activities, including education, politics, wars, religion, household economy, methods of travel, slavery, secession, commission business, settlement of the old Southwest, legal practice, and general mercantile pursuits. Included also are many letters concerned with the War of 1812, in which he served as major and lieutenant colonel of infantry, with information bearing on quarrels among officers, inefficiency of military organization, courts-martial, lack of patriotism, and promotion of officers over their seniors.

From 1814 until 1837, while David Campbell was political leader of western Virginia, his papers reflect his career, throwing light on state politics, state militia, affairs of the office of clerk of court, which position he held, many intimate details of the Virginia Assembly, in which he served, 1820-24, and accounts of various journeys made to Philadelphia when buying goods for his mercantile establishment in Abingdon. Campbell's papers for 1837-40 contain material on the common schools, the panic of 1837, establishment of the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, and the state asylum for the deaf, dumb, and blind. After 1840 his papers refer to his activities as school commissioner, as trustee of an academy and of Emory and Henry College, Washington County, Virginia, as justice of the peace, and as a planter.

In letters to his wife, his nieces, and his nephews are many references to Thomas Mann Randolph, Winfield Scott, the bank and sub-treasury of the Jackson-Van Buren era, disapproval of abolitionists, Southern demagogues, nullification, disapproval of emotion in religion, concern for the plight of the free Negro, and interest in historical works and literature. Included also are accounts of various Revolutionary battles in which his forebears took part, of the early history of the Abingdon vicinity, and of religious denominations.

Letters, 1785-1811, to David Campbell include those of his uncle, Arthur Campbell (1742-1811), famous Indian fighter and Revolutionary patriot, containing treatises on democratic government; comments on thought of French philosophers of the eighteenth century; reminiscences of the Revolution; and comments on European affairs, especially the rise of despotism under Napoleon. Other letters to David Campbell include many from William C. Rives during the most active period of Campbell's leadership in Virginia politics. Letters to Maria Hamilton (Campbell) Campbell (1783-1859), wife of Governor David Campbell, from her father, Judge David Campbell (1753-1832), contain information on the early settlement of eastern Tennessee, government and politics of the young state, and information on Archibald Roane, his brother-in-law and an early governor of Tennessee.

Letters of John Campbell (1789-1867), member of the executive council of the governor of Virginia, member of the state constitutional convention of Alabama, 1819, treasurer of the United States, and brother of Governor David Campbell, contain information on student life at Princeton College, Princeton, New Jersey, prominent men and events in Richmond, 1810-17 and 1819-29, War of 1812, John Taylor of Caroline, Virginia penitentiary, Spencer Roane, state rights, Lafayette's visit, Jacksonian campaign of 1824-28, Virginia constitutional convention of 1829, Richmond Theatre fire of 1811, Andrew Jackson as president, Peggy O'Neale affair, storage of specie in 1837, rise of the Whig party, Washington gossip, and Washington bureaucracy. In the letters of Arthur Campbell (1791-1868), brother of Governor David Campbell and government clerk in Washington, 1831-51, are accounts of mercantile pursuits in Tennessee; Andrew Jackson; Thomas Ritchie; and Washington gossip.

Letters of James Campbell (1794-1848), lawyer and member of Tennessee legislature, contain accounts of his college life and studies at Greenville, Tennessee, law practice in Tennessee, settlement of Alabama, Tennessee legislation, literary and historical works, the theater in Nashville, and dramatic literature of his day.

Letters and papers of Governor William Bowen Campbell, nephew of Governor David Campbell, in reflecting the career of the former, contain accounts of his legal training in the law school of Henry St. George Tucker at Winchester, Virginia; law practice in Tennessee; services as circuit judge; activities in Creek and Seminole wars, 1836; small-scale farming operations; mercantile establishment in Carthage, Tennessee; firm of Perkins, Campbell, and Company, commission merchants in New Orleans; banking business as president of the Bank of Middle Tennessee at Lebanon; Mexican War; activities of the Whig party in Tennessee; career as governor; plans to prevent secession; bitter local fighting of the Civil War; and his career as a Unionist during and after the war, including his disappointment in methods of Reconstruction by Congress while he was a member of that body in 1865-66.

Of the many letters by women, those of Virginia Tabitha Jane (Campbell) Shelton, niece and adopted daughter of Governor David Campbell, contain valuable information on social events in Richmond while her uncle was governor; household economy; dress; slavery; methods of travel; literary works; conditions of Union University, Murfreesboro, Tennessee, Brownsville Female Academy, Brownsville, Tennessee, and West Tennessee College, Jacksonville, Tennessee, where her husband, William Shelton, taught; political campaigns; slavery; and a variety of items important in the social history of the period. Included in the collection also are the letters of Adine Turner, remarkable for their literary excellence and sparkling wit. Numerous letters from relatives in Arkansas reveal much information connected with the early history of that state. Letters of the McClung family of East Tennessee contain information on the settlement, growth, and Civil War in that area.

Letters of the Owen family, originally of North Carolina, deal with Daniel Grant, a Methodist minister of Georgia, 1788-96, his opposition to the Baptists, and the disturbance of his conscience by the question of owning slaves; the Great Revival of 1800 as described by Thomas Owen; and medical education in Philadelphia of John Owen, 1810-12, and of his sons, Benjamin Rush Owen (1813-49) and John Owen (1825-89).

The thirty-two volumes, largely account books of Governor William B. Campbell, contain a daily journal kept by David Campbell while governor of Virginia, a volume containing copies of his wife's letters to him, 1812-25, a short diary kept by William B. Campbell during the Mexican War, and a diary of John D. Owen.

Among the correspondents are Jos. Anderson, Wm. S. Archer, Alex. Barry, Thos. Barrow, Jno. Bell, Wm. Blount, Willie Blount, O. H. Browning, Wm. G. Brownlow, B. F. Butler, Jos. C. Cabell, A. Daybook, ledger, and account book of the firm of Claiborne and Jeter, merchants of Danville.

336. HAMILTON CABELL CLAIBORNE NOTEBOOK, n.d. 1 vol. (Richmond, Va.)

337. CLAIRE [CLARA MARY JANE] CLAIRMONT DIARIES, 1814-26. 7 vols. Europe.

Photostatic copies of a diary and reminiscences of Claire (Clara Mary Jane) Clairmont, giving descriptions of France, Switzerland, Italy, and the Rhine Valley as she saw them when accompanying Percy Bysshe Shelley and Mary Godwin on their elopement; accounts of her daily activities, including readings (with frequent quotations and comments), her social calls, and her philosophic musings; descriptions of her life as governess in a family of Moscow, Russia; and reminiscences of her youth. Frequent allusions to the Shelleys and Byron are usually of an indirect and impersonal nature. References to grief at being separated from her daughter, Allegra, are numerous. There is no material for the years 1815-17 and 1822-24.

338. C. J. CLARK DIARY, 1841-74. 2 vols. Jacksonville, Ala.

Notes taken by C. J. Clark of Selma, Alabama, as a medical student in Louisville, Kentucky, and later as a practicing surgeon in the Confederate Army.

339. CYNTHIA A. W. CLARK PAPERS, 1898-1909. 1,307 items. Northampton, Mass.

Personal and family correspondence of Cynthia A. W. Clark, and almost unintelligible letters of her son, Arthur Wilson Clark, who was mentally deranged and often signed himself "Napoleon Bonaparte." The early letters contain a few scattered references to the Spanish-American War.

340. EDWIN CLARK PAPERS, 1878-1918. 3,517 items and 118 vols. Weldon, N. C.

Apparently the complete records and business correspondence of a general merchant in Weldon. The collection includes also a letter from Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, where a son attended school, and a letter from an instructor at Oak Ridge Academy, Guilford County, North Carolina, 1917. There are also one hundred and fifteen daybooks, 1880-1918; two ledgers, 1878; and an index to the ledgers.

341. ENOCH CLARK PAPERS, 1852-70. 11 items. Chatham County, N. C.

Family correspondence of Enoch Clark, a planter, concerning property, finances, experiences in Georgia during and after the Civil War, contracts with a former slave, and family affairs.

Political and official correspondence of Henry T. Clark (1808-74), North Carolina governor, dealing chiefly with political and military affairs. Included are comments on state and national politics for 1850-60, patronage letters, discussions of North Carolina's part in the Civil War, requests for military appointments, 1861-62, and letters concerning Clark's pardon and certain legal aspects of Reconstruction.

344. T. A. CLARK CASHBOOK AND LEDGERS, 1880-99. 4 vols. Weldon, N. C.

345. WALTER CLARK SKETCHES, 1895. 3 items. Raleigh, N. C.

Three sketches, "Counties in North Carolina That Have Disappeared" (holograph); "North Carolina in the War" (typed); and "North Carolina Troops in South America" (typed), all prepared by Walter Clark (1846-1924), antiquarian and judge of North Carolina Supreme Court.

346. CLEMENT CLAIBORNE CLAY PAPERS, 1811 (1821-1915) 1925. 8,515 items and 25 vols. Huntsville, Ala.

Personal, business, and political correspondence, accounts, diaries, memoranda, college notes, scrapbooks, and newspaper clippings of Clement Claiborne Clay (1816-82), lawyer, U. S. senator, Confederate diplomat, and planter; of his father, Clement Comer Clay (1789-1866), lawyer, planter, member of U. S. Congress, U. S. senator, and governor of Alabama; of his mother, Susanna Claiborne (Withers) Clay (1798-1866); of Virginia Caroline (Tunstall) Clay (1825-1915), wife of Clement Claiborne Clay and social leader, co-author and central figure in A Belle of the Fifties: Memoirs of Mrs. Clay, of Alabama, covering Social and Political Life in Washington and the South, 1853-66. Put into Narrative Form by Ada Sterling; and of Clement Claiborne Clay's brothers, Hugh Lawson Clay and John Withers Clay; and of their wives.

Letters deal with family matters, including education of the elder Clay's three sons at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, and the University of Virginia, Charlottesville; management of two or more cotton plantations and approximately fifty slaves; civic affairs in Huntsville; state politics, 1819-60; Democratic and Whig party alignments, rivalries, and disputes; presidential elections, especially in 1844, 1852, and 1856; Clement Comer Clay's governorship, 1835-37; the Creek War, 1836; the panic of 1837; Clement Claiborne Clay's election as a Democrat to the U. S. Senate in 1853 and his re-election in 1857. Other political matters referred to include the Compromise of 1850; Kansas-Nebraska difficulty; break with Stephen A. Douglas; Democratic Convention of 1860; secession; and organization of the Confederate Government. Personal letters refer to social life in Alabama and in Washington, D. C.; visits to springs and health resorts, and Clement Claiborne Clay's travels for his health through Florida, 1851, and later to Arkansas and Minnesota.

Subjects of the Civil War years include Clement Claiborne Clay's political activities in the Confederate States Senate; his relations with Jefferson Davis; Federal raids on and occupation of Huntsville and consequent disruption of civilian life, including demoralization of slaves; and J. W. Clay's publication of the Huntsville Democrat in various towns; Clay's defeat in the election of 1863 for the Confederate Senate; his and other agents' work in Canada, assisting in the return of escaped Confederate prisoners to Confederate territory; plots of a general revolt in the Northwestern states designed to join these states to the Confederacy; the Democratic Convention of 1864; Horace Greeley's efforts for peace, 1864; plans and execution of the Confederate raid on St. Albans, Vermont, 1864; Clay's return from Canada; and the final days of the Confederacy.

As an aftermath of the Civil War, the following incidents loom large: accusations of Clay's complicity in Lincoln's assassination; Clay's surrender to Federal authorities, and efforts and eventual success in obtaining his release from Fortress Monroe, Virginia. Two letter books, together with numerous other letters, cover the Canadian activities, fall of the Confederacy, Clay's imprisonment, and Virginia (Tunstall) Clay's efforts to obtain her husband's release. Papers for the period 1866-1915 are large in bulk, but contain little beyond personal matters. Subjects covered include Clay's poverty, his efforts to retrieve his confiscated property, efforts to re-establish farming operations, to settle his father's estate, and to obtain a footing in the insurance business, 1871-73; there are also occasional comments on politics, Virginia (Tunstall) Clay's dissatisfaction with a restricted social life, her tour of Europe, 1884-85, and her efforts in later years to operate the plantation.

The twenty-five volumes in the collection consist of one executor's book of the estate of C. C. Clay, Sr., 1866-69; two letter books, 1864-65; letterpress copybook covering insurance business; two memorandum books, 1853-61, containing a mailing list of constituents and other notations; a notebook, 1835-41, containing college lecture notes; two receipt books; a legal fee book, 1814-15; and eight scrapbooks, ca. 1848-1903. One of the scrapbooks contains plantation accounts, 1870-73, and minutes of the Madison County Bible Society, 1820-30. Nine volumes of diaries and scrapbooks, 1859-1905, of Virginia (Tunstall) Clay are gossipy but fragmentary.

The collection includes letters of many persons of prominence, including Jeremiah S. Black, E. C. Bullock, C. C. Clay, Sr., C. C. Clay, Jr., David Clopton [Virginia (Tunstall) Clay's second husband], W. W. Corcoran, J. L. M. Curry, Jefferson Davis, Varina Davis, Benjamin Fitzpatrick, U. S. Grant, Andrew Johnson, L. Q. C. Lamar, Clifford Anderson Lanier, Sidney Lanier, Stephen R. Mallory, Nelson A. Miles, James K. Polk, John H. Reagan, R. B. Rhett, E. S. Shorter, Leroy P. Walker, Louis T. Wigfall, and William L. Yancey.

347. HENRY CLAY PAPERS, 1802 (1821-51) 1852. 130 items. Lexington, Ky.

Correspondence of Henry Clay (1777-1852), Kentucky statesman, dealing with the U. S. Bank, public finance, Missouri Compromise, cabinet appointments in 1817, possibility of the purchase of Texas by the United States in 1825, the panic of 1819, tariff, Nullification, and the Whig party. There is also evidence of Clay's desire to be President, especially in 1844. Other topics referred to are his private debts, horse breeding, various lawsuits, sale and purchase of lands, appointments to the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, and to political offices, introduction of English cattle into the Western country, long discussion of Kentucky bluegrass, and his refusal to free three of his slaves. There are several letters of Clay's daughter, Anna B. (Clay) Erwin, commenting on family and personal matters and to some extent on Washington society.

348. JOSEPH CLAY DEPOSITION, 1782. 1 vol. Chatham County, Ga.

Deposition made to Joseph Clay (1741-1804), merchant, Revolutionary officer, and member of Continental Congress, as senior assistant judge of Chatham County, Georgia, by several mariners from the brigantine Bachelor, commanded by Robert Etherington, in which charges were made that the brigantine was supplying aid to the British at Charleston, South Carolina.

349. CLAYTON AND ERWIN PAPERS, 1860. 2 items. Napoleon, Ark.

Correspondence of Clayton and Erwin, a law firm, concerning a debt owed Alexander Craig, of Richmond, Virginia, by Solon B. Jones.

350. W. C. CLAYTON PAPERS, 1860-62. 4 items. Richmond, Va.

Personal correspondence of W. C. Clayton while a student at Centre College, Danville, Kentucky, while in a Richmond hospital, and while in the Confederate Army stationed at Centreville and Richmond, in Virginia, with comments on food, weather, friends, and homesickness.

351. JOHN MARSHALL CLEMENT PAPERS, 1830-72. 24 items. Mocksville, N. C.

Family, school, and legal correspondence of John M. Clement (1825-86), North Carolina lawyer and member of the North Carolina state legislature. The school letters are from De Witt C. Clement, while at Clegg's College, near Mocksville, North Carolina, to John M. Clement while attending a college at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and to Clement's sister while at Edgeworth Female Academy, Greensboro, North Carolina. Included also are a letter during the Civil War and two essays on the Whig party and card playing.

352. THOMAS GREEN CLEMSON PAPERS, 1872-81. 24 items. Fort Hill, S. C.

Business and family letters from Thomas G. Clemson (1807-88), South Carolina educator, diplomat, and son-in-law of John C. Calhoun, to Armistead Burt, dealing largely with the settlement of Calhoun's estate. Included are comments on Reconstruction problems in South Carolina, the panic of 1873, and gold mines at Dahlonega, Georgia; and two letters to Henry Gourdin relative to the death of Mrs. Clemson.

353. STEPHEN GROVER CLEVELAND PAPERS, 1885-1904. 4 items. New York City.

Three routine letters written by Grover Cleveland (1837-1908), president of the United States; and his autograph.

354. JACOB CLICK PAPERS, 1861-65. 10 items. Rockingham County, Va.

Family letters of Jacob Click, a private in the Confederate Army, giving occasional references to long marches, conditions of camp life, and scarcity of food.

355. THOMAS LANIER CLINGMAN PAPERS AND BRIGADE ORDER BOOKS, 1833-80. 4 items and 4 vols. Asheville and Camp Whiting, N. C.

Four letters, 1843-80, from Thomas L. Clingman (1812-97), North Carolina political leader, member of U. S. Congress, U. S. senator, and Confederate brigadier general, to his niece, Jane A. Puryear, concern his activity in public life, a projected trip to Europe in 1859, and family matters; and three of his brigade order books, 1862-64, contain two hundred and thirty-one orders and letters concerning Confederate military activity around Camp Whiting, North Carolina. Included also is a notebook, evidently prepared by Clingman while studying law in 1833.

356. CLIONIAN DEBATING SOCIETY PROCEEDINGS, 1851-58. 1 vol. Charleston, S. C.

A record of meetings and final dissolution of the Clionian Debating Society.

357. JOSEPH CLISBY RECEIPT BOOK, 1857-62. 1 vol. Macon, Ga.
Receipt book for printing the Christian Index.

358. JOHN CLOPTON PAPERS AND ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1629 (1775-1897) 1915.
9,394 items and 6 vols. New Kent County and Manchester, Va.

Family correspondence and miscellaneous papers of four generations of the Clopton family and of three generations of the Wallace family. The papers from 1629 to 1732 are genealogical records. The letters for 1774-1816 of John Clopton (1756-1812), U. S. senator from Virginia, 1759-99, 1801-16, and Jeffersonian Republican, contain comments on the Revolutionary War, the Continental Congress, Jay's Treaty, 1794, the Alien and Sedition Acts, 1798, the Embargo Act, 1807, and relations of the United States with France.

The collection contains many of John Clopton's letters to his son, John Bacon Clopton (b. 1785), Virginia judge, while the former was in the U. S. Senate, regarding operation of the New Kent plantation. Especially interesting are the letters for 1848-70 of Charles Montrieu Wallace, Sr. (1825-1910), a Richmond merchant, describing his trip to California in 1849 by the overland route and his five-year sojourn in Mariposa County and San Francisco; trade with Nassau and England during the Confederate period; conditions in England in 1865; and Reconstruction in the Lower South; a diary giving an account of his travels in England, Scotland, and the Lower South, 1865-66; and an autobiographical account of his early life in Richmond. Letters of Jefferson and William Manson Wallace, Jr., 1850-54, relate to their journey to California by the Isthmian route and their residence in Mariposa County. Included also are six account books and scrapbooks, 1854-85, of three granddaughters of John Clopton: Adelaide, Joyce, and Katherine, including housekeeping accounts, poetry scrapbooks, and tuition accounts of the Misses Clopton's boarding school for girls at Manchester, Virginia; an essay on "Knitting in Virginia as a Fine Art," 1898-99, by Joyce Wilkinson (Clopton) Wallace; account books of Jefferson Wallace; and an account book, 1860, of William Wallace Sons, Richmond, Virginia, in which there is a four-page sketch of the early history of Richmond written by Charles Wallace. There are also many interesting letters written from England and Scotland by the Wallace relatives, all well educated. Other valuable letters include those from William Izard Clopton while in the Confederate Army; from Maria (Foster) Clopton, wife of John Bacon Clopton; and from the Crenshaw commission firm in Richmond concerning local trade and shipping during and after the Civil War.

359. MARY E. CLOUD PAPERS, 1847-84. 218 items. Front Royal, Va.

Personal correspondence among the brothers and sisters of a minister's family and their relatives and friends. The letters are chiefly concerned with the personal relations of a family of extremely religious temperament. There are a few letters from Sara (Cloud) Gibbons and her husband, A. S. Gibbons, a teacher at the College of the Pacific, Stockton, California, and Ohio University, Athens; the letters indicate that Daniel Cloud was in business in Baltimore, Maryland.

360. ANDREW CLOW PAPERS, 1785-90. 5 items. Philadelphia, Pa.

Business correspondence of Andrew Clow, a merchant engaged in shipping, with other merchants in Charleston, South Carolina, concerning loss of a case of goods, efforts to collect money, trade conditions, commodity prices, and the good crops of rice, tobacco, indigo, and corn in 1790.

361. HOWELL COBB PAPERS, 1848 (1854-68). 39 items. Athens, Ga.

Papers of Howell Cobb (1815-68), lawyer, member of U. S. Congress, member of President James Buchanan's cabinet, Confederate major general, and governor of Georgia, concerning a tax system for Georgia, military activities, despondency and disaffection to the Confederate Government in Georgia, work in Congress and as secretary of the treasury. One letter to Joseph E. Brown is concerned with sending troops to aid Alabama in April, 1865. Included also is a memorial prepared by the Macon bar at Cobb's death.

362. JOB COBB PAPERS, 1861; 1862. 2 items. Tarboro, N. C.

363. THOMAS READE ROOTES COBB PAPERS, 1859-62. 6 items. Cherry Hill (Jefferson County), Ga.

Civil War and routine political correspondence of T. R. R. Cobb (1823-62), Georgia statesman and Confederate general, including two requests for appointments, two letters on the death of Edward F. Bagley, 1861, and a letter to his wife written from Fredericksburg, Virginia, November 29, 1862, in which he wrote hopefully of the war and of details of camp life.

364. JOHN F. COBBS DOCKET BOOK, 1868-69. 1 vol. Danville, Va.

Lists of bankrupts, and court docket for counties in the vicinity of Danville.

365. ANN COBIA ESTATE ACCOUNTS, 1855-68. 1 vol. Charleston, S. C.

366. JOHN HARTWELL COCKE PAPERS, 1825 (1840-65) 1869. 10 items. Fluvanna County, Va.

Business letters of John Hartwell Cocke (1780-1866), planter, agricultural reformer, and brigadier general in the War of 1812, concerning the purchase of land in Perry County, Alabama, the weather, crop conditions, prices, and health of slaves. Two items after 1866 consist of a report on the progress of a younger John Hartwell Cocke at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, and a letter to Dr. Cary C. Cocke.

367. RICHARD IVANHOE COCKE PAPERS, 1824-64. 95 items. Fluvanna County, Va.

Promissory notes, accounts, and other business papers of Richard I. Cocke (b. 1820), planter.

368. FRANCIS MARION COCKRELL PAPERS, 1861 (1875-86) 1895. 12 items. Warrensburg, Mo.

Routine correspondence of Francis M. Cockrell (1834-1915) while he was U. S. senator from Missouri; some biographical material is also included.

369. JAMES F. COGHILL PAPERS, 1845 (1861-64) 1894. 88 items. Vance County, N. C.

Civil War letters describing a Confederate soldier's views of army food, sickness of the soldiers, and the Battle of Fredericksburg, 1862, with comment on the deaths of his two brothers. The later material includes family and personal correspondence of James F. Coghill's sons, daughters, and friends.

370. ANN (RANEY) THOMAS COLEMAN REMINISCENCES, 1876-87. 7 vols. Coupee Parish, La., and Port Lavaca, Tex.

Personal reminiscences of Ann (Raney) Thomas Coleman (b. 1810) giving intimate details of her life, including circumstances of her birth at Whitehaven in Cumberland County, England, and her early life; the removal of her family to New Orleans, Louisiana, and Brazoria County, Texas, in 1832; her marriage in Texas to John Thomas, wealthy landowner; their removal to Louisiana, because of fear of a Mexican victory in Texas; Thomas's work in opening a plantation in Coupee Parish, Louisiana; his death; her unhappy marriage to a Mr. Coleman and her divorce; her work as a housekeeper for a hotel in New Orleans, 1851-53; her return to England to see after a small property; her return to Texas to live near Port Lavaca and to support herself by teaching, sewing, and keeping house for others.

Especially valuable are accounts of life in Brazoria County from 1832 to 1836 with comments on the Battle of Velasco and the help of women in carrying powder and making cartridges; marriage, weddings, love affairs; the flight from Brazoria in 1836; the marriage of her sister, Mary Raney, to Dr. Benjamin Harrison, son of President William Henry Harrison; and numerous other matters of local importance in Texas history. Throughout the reminiscences are comments on social life, agriculture, the Mexican War, slavery, travels, school teaching in Texas during the 1870's, and much relative to the religious fanaticism into which the writer lapsed during her later years.

371. WALTER COLES PAPERS, 1850. 2 items. Pittsylvania County, Va.

Correspondence of Walter Coles, probably a planter, concerning the estate of R. T. Coles and the sale of tobacco.

372. JOSIAH COLLINS PAPERS, 1819-50. 3 items. Edenton, N. C.

Josiah Collins's will and two personal letters.

373. MICHAEL COLLINS PAPERS, 1826-61. 5 items. Warrenton, N. C.

Correspondence of Michael Collins, North Carolina planter, including a letter from his son at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, in 1845, with a list of school supplies and prices; and an undated letter to a local newspaper on the evils of allowing slaves to come into town on Sunday to sell produce in exchange for whiskey.

374. WILLIAM F. COLLINS NOTEBOOK, 1826. 1 vol. Middletown, Va.

Lecture notes kept by William F. Collins while a student (at Armstrong's Classical and Military Academy?) in Middletown.

375. ALFRED HOLT COLQUITT PAPERS, 1848; 1889. 2 items. Troup County, Ga.

Correspondence of Alfred H. Colquitt (1824-94), member of U. S. Congress, Confederate major general, and governor of Georgia, 1876-84. The letter for 1848 discusses politics and the presidential election of that year.

376. JOSHUA AND MERRITT COMFORT PAPERS, 1862-65. 69 items. Ithaca, N. Y.

Civil War letters from Joshua and Merritt Comfort, New York State Volunteers, to their parents, concerning military conscription, drafting of Maryland Negroes, Sherman's march, living conditions among the Federal troops, desertions, battles, pay, furloughs, and military duties.

377. CONFEDERATE LEAGUE SUBSCRIPTION BOOK, 1862-70. 1 vol. West Baton Rouge, La.

Record of donations to the Confederacy, usually in the form of sugar, cotton, molasses, or wood. The volume also contains a few records of Bolling R. Chinn's plantation, Cypress Hall, 1868-70. Chinn probably kept the records for the Confederate League.

378. CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA. ARCHIVES, 1861-65. 1,890 items and 37 vols. Various places.

Various types of records concerned with executive departments and other divisions of the Confederate Government, including, for the army, muster rolls, morning reports, subsistence rolls, pay rolls, general orders, discharges, amnesty oaths, commissary papers, commissions, exemption papers, field returns, military telegrams, ordnance reports, provision returns, reports of men present and absent, reports on clothing, and reports on transportation. For the hospitals there are letters, medical records, reports, orders, accounts, and surgeons' reports. Included also are various state records, such as poor relief, bonds for state officers, oaths of office, tallies of votes cast by soldiers in state elections, tax receipts, and tax records. Included also are one hundred twenty-seven letters of Confederate soldiers, unrelated to any other collection. Among the volumes are accounts with the Confederate Government, 1864-65; Camden County, North Carolina; abstracts of dispatches received, 1864-65, North Carolina; Daily Reports of Miles Legion, 1862-63, Louisiana; exemptions from duty in the home guard, 1863-64, North Carolina; register of Acts of the Confederate Congress, 1861-65 [published: W. M. Robinson (ed.), "The Second Congress of the Confederate States Enactments at its Second and Last Session," American Historical Review, XLI (Jan., 1936), 306-317]; a collection of autograph letters and portraits of the signers of the Confederate Constitution arranged by C. C. Jones, Jr.; records of the expenditures of the Chimborazo Hospital at Richmond, Virginia, 1863-65; accounts and records of the General Hospital at Charlottesville, Virginia, of which James Lawrence Cabell was superintendent, as well as a letterpress copybook of Cabell, 1861-62; an invoice of medicines; a list of patients, 1862-65; and ten volumes containing estimates of taxes in kind collected.

Probably the most outstanding item is the set of ninety-five original statutes passed by the second and last session of the Second Confederate Congress (November 7, 1864—March 18, 1865) including secret sessions dealing with various subjects, among which are trivial matters, financial problems, repair of and rebuilding railroads, and special defenses of Richmond. These "enrolled" bills are signed by by Thomas S. Bocock, speaker of the House of Representatives, and R. M. T. Hunter, president pro tempore of the Senate; and are approved by the signature of Jefferson Davis. [Published: Charles W. Ramsdell (ed.), Laws and Joint Resolutions of the Last Session of the Confederate Congress (Durham, N. C., 1941).]

379. CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA COURT RECORDS OF PAMLICO DISTRICT, 1859 (1861-65) 1905. 3,390 items. Goldsboro, N. C.

Records, except for a few of the U. S. Court prior to 1861 and following 1865, pertaining to the Confederate Court for the Pamlico District, including the eastern section of North Carolina, involving chiefly the sequestration of alien property, usually consisting of debts owed to Northern firms by retail merchants in the Pamlico District. The chief types of records consist of questionnaires sent to retail merchants by receivers of the Confederate Court; costs of cases involving sequestration: petitions from individuals owing money to aliens and those possessing funds due aliens; and lists of materials, chiefly patent medicines, in the hands of retail merchants to be sold for Northern firms. Among the correspondents are Braxton Craven, John W. Cunningham, Adèle (Cutts) Douglas, Nereus Mendenhall, and Thomas Settle.

380. CONFEDERATE SURVIVORS' ASSOCIATION ROSTER, 1898-1909. 1 vol. Augusta, Ga.

387. JOHN ESTEN COOKE PAPERS, 1840-96. 278 items and 7 vols. Clark County, Va.

Professional and personal correspondence and literary notes of John Esten Cooke (1830-86), novelist, historian, and Confederate soldier, and of his brother, Philip Pendleton Cooke (1816-50), poet and storyteller, including manuscript copies of published works. Centering around John Esten Cooke are letters from boyhood friends, a few Civil War letters, many business and critical letters from his publishers and literary friends during the 1870's and 1880's, five small volumes of war notes [partially published; see J. B. Hubbell (ed.), "The War Diary of John Esten Cooke," Journal of Southern History, VII (Nov., 1941), 526-540]; holograph manuscript of Surry of Eagle's Nest; an article "On the Road to Despotism"; and an appreciation of Philip Pendleton Cooke. Concerning Philip Pendleton Cooke there is a group of letters from him to his father, intrinsically valuable as literary productions [partially published: see David K. Jackson, "Philip Pendleton Cooke: Virginia Gentleman, Lawyer, Hunter, and Poet," in American Studies in Honor of William Kenneth Boyd, ed. David K. Jackson (Durham, N. C., 1940), and John D. Allen, Philip Pendleton Cooke (Chapel Hill, N. C., 1942)]; and a manuscript, "A Legend of Turkey Buzzard Hollow," perhaps written by him.

Among the correspondents are W. H. Appleton, Geo. W. Bagby, Alexander R. Boteler, W. H. Browne, O. B. Burie, M. B. T. Clark, J. E. Cooke, Philip Pendleton Cooke, W. De Hass, M. Schele De Vere, H. K. Douglas, E. A. Duyckinck, G. C. Eggleston, Wm. Evelyn, Wade Hampton, J. W. Harper, H. B. Hirst, J. B. Jones, J. P. Kennedy, C. C. Lee, W. H. Lee, B. W. Leigh, A. H. Sands, W. G. Simms, David Strother, and Beverley Tucker.

Constitution, and minutes of three meetings of the society.

394. DABNEY COSBY, JR., PAPERS, 1848-51. 3 items. Halifax Court House, Va.

Correspondence of Dabney Cosby, Jr., later a newspaper editor at Halifax Court House, Virginia, including two business letters and one letter from his father in Raleigh, North Carolina, which comments on the activities of the North Carolina legislature in 1851.

395. WILLIAM C. COSSENS RECEIPT BOOK, 1862-71. 1 vol. Savannah, Ga.

Cash receipts for goods, showing high prices prevalent during the Civil War.

396. COTTON MILL CORRESPONDENCE AND LEDGERS, 1871-1918. 1,673 items and 52 vols. N. C.

Correspondence, ledgers, time books, and store accounts of a group of North Carolina cotton mills showing wages paid, provisions purchased, general living standards of workers, and correspondence concerning the purchase of machinery, hiring of workers, prices of products, and stock owned by some individuals. The mills concerned were located in various towns. Records of mills at Laurel Hill, Scotland County, operated by Mark Morgan (1837-1916) and Charles Malloy under three different names (Laurel Hill Mill before 1872, Beaver Dam Mill after 1872, and Richmond Cotton Mill somewhat later) include 1,615 items and twenty-two volumes, 1871-99. Records of Beaver Creek and Bluff Cotton Mills at Fayetteville, operated first by John Shaw and later by E. J. Lilly, include three volumes: a stock ledger, 1878-96; records of dividends paid, 1878-1908; and a journal, 1894-1900. Records of mills at Stowesville (now Belmont) in Gaston County consist of twelve items bearing on legal titles for mill sites and a scaled map of a spinning room; three volumes consisting of a cashbook, daybook, and ledger, 1846-60, all records of mills started by Jasper Stowe, builder of one of the first factories in Stowesville. Records of cotton mills at Turnersburg, Iredell County, consist of forty-six items, 1847-77, receipts, bills, and letters of Notley D. Tomlin, founder and long the operator; also four volumes consisting of ledgers, one containing data for a mill at Lexington, Kentucky (1885-87), and a time book, 1885-1906, while the mill was operated by LeRoy B. Steele. Records of Cleveland Cotton Mills at Shelby consist of thirteen volumes, including ten letter books, 1889-1900, of H. F. Schenck while president of the company; and three cotton house account books, 1888-96, Lawndale. Records of Monbo Cotton Mills at Catawba (Granite Shoals before Civil War) consist of general and monthly invoices, 1908-16. (In 1919 there was a "Turner Hosiery Mill" at Monbo, North Carolina.) Records of Yadkin Falls Manufacturing Company at Milledgeville (Montgomery County) consist of account book, store ledger, letter book, and time book (as El Dorado Mill), 1876-1902. Records of Double Shoals Mill at Shelby consist of one daybook, 1875-79. Records of Cane Creek Cotton Manufacturing Company at Cane Creek near the boundary between Chatham and Alamance counties consist of minutes of the directors, 1837-57.

397. JOHN COWAN ACCOUNT BOOK AND DIARY, 1844. 1 vol. n.p.

Brief diary and personal accounts kept by John Cowan.

Fee book of Joseph Cowan, apparently a lawyer.

399. NANCY H. COWAN PAPERS, 1830-1904. 110 items. Covington, Ga.

Personal papers and correspondence of Nancy H. Cowan, concerned with the Chester District of South Carolina and the vicinity of Covington, Georgia, before the Civil War, and with letters from soldiers of limited education during the war period. Early letters bear on the collection of debts due John Cowan, husband of Nancy Cowan, in the Chester District, and the poverty of relatives in the same section. Letters from five of Nancy Cowan's sons, Confederate soldiers, tell of marches in Kentucky and South Carolina, fighting around Vicksburg, details of camp life, desertions, and scarcity of food and soap. Included also are bylaws of the Lewisville Rifle Company, pardons, amnesty oaths, and a post-bellum labor contract.

400. WINIFRED A. COWAND PAPERS, 1861-84. 105 items. Holly Grove (Bertie County), N. C.

Personal letters of the family of Starkey Cowand, consisting chiefly of letters from Joseph J. Cowand to his cousin, Winfred A., daughter of Starkey Cowand. Included also are letters from suitors and from her sisters. The letters are gossipy. Those of Joseph J. Cowand, a Confederate soldier, contain references to hardships and homesickness. Included also are folksongs and bits of doggerel popular with the members of his company, usually located near Petersburg, Virginia, and in eastern North Carolina.

401. E. B. COX PAPERS, 1862; 1864. 2 items. Miss.

Personal letters written by and to Thomas E. Cox, a student at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, 1835-36, and later a physician in Richmond.

403. DAVID LUCIUS CRAFT PAPERS, 1861-68. 38 items. Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Letters from David L. Craft, chiefly to his sister, Carrie, describing battles and sections of the country through which he passed while serving as sergeant and lieutenant in the signal corps of the Federal Army in General Ambrose E. Burnside's Coast Division, notably areas around Washington, D. C., Annapolis, Maryland, and eastern North Carolina, the bulk of the letters being concerned with military activities in the latter area. Included are comments on oaths of allegiance taken in the spring of 1862 by citizens of New Bern, North Carolina, extortionate prices of merchandise in that town, an expedition to Port Royal, South Carolina, the superiority of Confederate generals and soldiers to the Federals, and a Confederate ram's playing havoc with Federal ships in Pamlico Sound during April, 1864. Craft, transferred to Virginia in June, 1864, continued his comments on General Ulysses S. Grant and Knights of the Golden Circle. After the war he wrote from Raleigh of Reconstruction in North Carolina.

404. LOCKE CRAIG PAPERS, 1880-1923. 126 items and 1 vol. Asheville, N. C.

Personal correspondence and papers of Locke Craig (1860-1924), North Carolina legislator, 1898-1903, and governor of North Carolina, 1913-17. Included are letters from his mother; recommendations from professors at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; letters of Craig to his sons, Carlyle and Arthur, at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, and one letter from Carlyle Craig giving an account of his voyage to the Azores, including the Island of Fayal, and other places; copies of many of Locke Craig's political and religious speeches, including one on Masonry; and one chemistry notebook kept by Craig at the University of North Carolina. Among the correspondents are J. W. Bailey, Kemp P. Battle, H. G. Connor, A. W. Mangum, W. J. Peele, J. C. Pritchard, Woodrow Wilson, F. D. Winston, and G. T. Winston.

405. MARY E. CRAIG PAPERS, 1853-81. 56 items. Hillsboro, N. C.

Family correspondence of Mary E. Craig and of her sister and brothers, all teachers, the brothers also being Confederate soldiers. Included also is a letter of W. H. Strayhorn, Confederate soldier, on the futility of war; and family correspondence after the war.

Record of cash receipts of W. H. Crane.

407. TILMAN CRANFORD PAPERS, 1822-77. 1,064 items. Rowan County, N. C.

Papers of Tilman Cranford, constable and deputy sheriff of Rowan County, relative to the case of W. A. Houck vs. J. J. Albright, and promissory notes, contracts, executor's bonds, bills, receipts, deeds of trust, tax in kind estimates, summonses, and warrants evidently in Cranford's hands because of his office.

408. JOHN A. CRAVEN ACCOUNT BOOK, 1856-71. 1 vol. n.p.

Account book of a merchant.

409. JOHN L., HARVEY B., AND ALICE H. CRAVEN DIPLOMAS, 1875; 1896; 1924. 3 items. Durham, N. C.

Diplomas from Trinity College awarded to descendants of Braxton Craven, first president of Trinity College.

410. MARTHA (FOSTER) CRAWFORD DIARIES, 1846-81. 7 vols. Clinton, Ala., and Shanghai, China.

Diaries of Martha (Foster) Crawford (1830-93), as a young woman in Alabama, 1846-51; and later a Baptist missionary to China as the wife of Tarleton

Perry Crawford, revealing conditions in Shanghai from 1852 to 1864 and afterwards at Tengchow, Shantung, and expressing her reactions to the Civil War in the United States. The diary furnishes a realistic picture of the impact of the American Protestant missionary on China with a day-by-day record of the lives of the two missionaries. Most interesting is the Shanghai period which covers the Taiping rebellion and reveals the earnest hope that the rebellion might furnish a means for converting the Empire to Christianity. Included also are several printed pamphlets and an original manuscript history of missions in China.

411. WILLIAM CRAWFORD PAPERS, 1864. 3 items. Beith, Scotland.

Correspondence of William Crawford concerning his interest in the British tobacco trade during the American Civil War, with references to blockade running, supplies, and prices.

412. WILLIAM HARRIS CRAWFORD PAPERS, 1790 (1842-62) 1867. 113 items. Crawfordville, Ga.

Correspondence of William H. Crawford (1772-1834), Georgia statesman and diplomat, pertaining largely to U. S. foreign relations in the Napoleonic period. Among the correspondents are W. W. Bibb, G. W. Erving, Albert Gallatin, B. W. Leigh, James Madison, James Monroe, and Richard Rush.

413. NATHANIEL CREDLE PAPERS, 1849. 2 items. Swan Quarter, N. C.

Letters from Nathaniel Credle to Charles Manly, governor of North Carolina, concerning the purchase of land and the payment of a bond.

414. JOHN JORDAN CRITTENDEN PAPERS, 1786 (1819-89) 1890. 755 items and 3 vols. Frankfort, Ky.

Family and political correspondence of John J. Crittenden (1787-1863), Kentucky statesman and governor, and letters pertaining to the publication of the Life of John J. Crittenden (Philadelphia, 1871) by Crittenden's daughter, Ann Mary Butler (Crittenden) Coleman, a work which includes about half this correspondence before 1863. Included also are two scrapbooks, a letter book, and speeches of Crittenden. In addition to the published correspondence are letters from Thomas Hart Benton, James Buchanan, William Butler, Henry Clay, Ann Mary Butler (Crittenden) Coleman, John Jordan Crittenden, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Jackson, James Madison, John Marshall, James Monroe, Franklin Pierce, Winfield Scott, W. H. Seward, Alex. H. Stephens, Benjamin Taylor, Zachary Taylor, John Tyler, and Daniel Webster.

415. JOHN WILSON CROKER PAPERS, 1828. 3 items. London, England.

Correspondence of John W. Croker (1780-1857), politician and essayist, while secretary of the Admiralty, including an official copy and a facsimile of an official copy of letters referring to a pirate ship which had attacked the Morning Star and other vessels, and giving an account of the pirates' depredations; and a circular sent to consular agents signed by an official of the foreign office.

416. R. N. CROOKS PAPERS, 1876-80. 10 items. Harrellsville, N. C.

Personal letters of R. N. Crooks, a Methodist minister, and of his daughter, devoted largely to petty news and village gossip, with an occasional reference to the church.

417. THOMAS CROSS PAPERS, 1846-61. 4 items. Montgomery County, Tenn.

A list of slaves belonging to the estate of George Cross, for which Thomas Cross was executor; receipts for slaves; and a letter, 1861, from John L. Wilson, commenting on the raising of troops at the beginning of the Civil War, and divided sentiment in Tennessee over secession.

418. JOHN FRANKLIN CROWELL PAPERS, 1887-1926. 191 items and 13 vols. East Orange, N. J.

This set includes various accounts, notebooks, and scrapbooks kept by John F. Crowell (1857-1931), among which are memoranda of accounts, 1894, 1914-17; household accounts, 1910-26; notes on financial and economic subjects, 1898 and n.d.; accounts of cotton prices, 1912; scrapbooks, 1907-1908; and clippings relative to New York tenements, 1894.

419. E. A. CRUDUP DIARY, 1857-72. 2 vols. Franklin County, N. C.

Plantation diaries, containing accounts of expenses incident to keeping slaves; local news; and accounts of crop conditions.

420. W. J. CRUMPLER DIARY AND ACCOUNT BOOK, 1875. 1 vol. Pantego, N. C.

Agricultural diary and accounts kept by W. J. Crumpler in a notebook prepared by the Patrons of Husbandry, containing some printed matter relative to that organization.

421. HENRY M. CRYAN PAPERS, 1861-63. 9 items. Chenango County, N. Y.

Letters from Henry M. Cryan, a private in the New York State Volunteers, to his parents, describing the sights of New York City, his experiences in the army, revivals and religious meetings among the soldiers, and a sermon by Henry Ward Beecher in Brooklyn, New York.

422. HENRY M. CRYDENWISE PAPERS, 1866-67. 34 items. Issaquena County, Miss.

Letters of Henry M. Crydenwise, a Federal soldier from Chenango County New York, while serving as overseer on the plantation of John Wesley Vick in Issaquena County, Mississippi, with interesting comments on the size of the plantation (2,400 acres), production of cotton and corn, Negro labor, agricultural methods, and social conditions.

423. J. P. CULP PAPERS, 1864-65. 3 items. Cabarrus County, N. C.

Family letters of J. P. Culp, a private in the Confederate Army, chiefly concerned with homesickness and war weariness.

424. ALFRED CUMMING PAPERS, 1792 (1850-60) 1889. 755 items and 9 vols. Ga. and Utah.

Family and political correspondence of William Clay Cumming; Thomas Cumming; and Alfred Cumming (1802-73), participant in the "Mormon War," 1857-61, with material on Mormon history and frontier and pioneer life.

Letters of William Clay Cumming, brother of Alfred Cumming, falling in the period from 1805 to 1818, contain mention of books read and studied at Princeton College, Princeton, New Jersey, in 1805; description of studies, living arrangements, and teachers in the Litchfield Law School, operated at Litchfield, Connecticut, by Tapping Reeve; accounts of violent opposition to Federalism in New England; description of climate and countryside around Litchfield; participation of William Clay Cumming's brother, Joseph, in disturbances at Princeton College, 1807; his activities in the War of 1812 as commander of a company in Florida, campaigns in New York as a colonel, criticisms of officers, a dispute with General George Izard, adoption of a system of discipline for the infantry; description of a trip in 1815 from New York to New Orleans with somewhat valuable descriptions of Louisville, Lexington, and the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, Asheville, North Carolina, Nashville, Tennessee, Baton Rouge and New Orleans, Louisiana; and a few comments on Brazil and Uruguay, which he visited in 1816; and mention of John McDonogh.

A series of letters by Elizabeth Wells (Randall) Cumming to members of her family describes the arduous trip to Utah, scenery, frontier conditions, and Indian troubles. The collection includes hints of discrepancies in Cumming's account with the U. S. Government while territorial governor. Included also are nine volumes: journal of an expedition to the Blackfoot Indians with notes and instructions, 1855; two letter books and official proceedings of a commission to hold council with Blackfoot and other Indian tribes, 1855; two letterpress copybooks, 1857-61, 1859-60, containing copies of letters to government officials, and to James Buchanan, Lewis Cass, Howell Cobb, John B. Floyd, A. S. Johnston, and Brigham Young; and four scrapbooks containing newspaper clippings and broadsides. Among the correspondents are W. W. Bibb, J. S. Black, James Buchanan, Lewis Cass, Alfred Cumming, J. B. Floyd, Albert Sidney Johnston, William Medill, B. F. Perry, Franklin Pierce, Alex. H. Stephens, G. M. Troup, and Brigham Young.

425. RICHARD J. CUNDIFF AND WILLIAM N. REESE PAPERS, 1836-72. 15 items. Franklin County, Va.

Personal letters containing comments on the panic of 1837 and on slavery.

426. ALEXANDER CUNNINGHAM PAPERS, 1740(1825-59) 1910. 5,918 items and 44 vols. Petersburg, Va., and Cunningham's Store, Person County, N. C.

Business records and some personal correspondence of four generations of the Cunningham family, consisting of Robert Cunningham (d. ca. 1788); Alexander Cunningham (d. ca. 1850); and his brother, Richard M. Cunningham; the latter's son, John Wilson Cunningham (1820-87); and Richard M. Cunningham's grandson, John Summerville Cunningham (1861-1922), merchants and planters. The early portion of this collection centers chiefly around mercantile interests of Alexander and Richard M. Cunningham in Petersburg, and the former's planting interests in Person County, North Carolina. The records also indicate that Richard M. Cunningham dealt in cotton with James and William Trahern. Included are records of the flourishing business in Petersburg with papers showing extensive transactions in a commission business of cotton and tobacco and large planting interests, including copies of contracts with overseers and tenants; and letters to John Garner, partner of Richard M. Cunningham and manager of the firm's business in Person County and in Alabama during the 1820's and possibly later. The collection contains also a few family letters in 1818, letters from Alexander Cunningham, Jr., while a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1845-46, and from another son while at Leasburg Academy, Caswell County, North Carolina; and bills for merchandise bought by John W. Cunningham, 1850-59. Papers relating to John S. Cunningham are personal, political, and agricultural. Among the volumes are copybooks, cotton storage records, daybooks, invoices, cashbooks, orders, ledgers, letter books, bills, memoranda, salt and flour accounts, and plantation books. Among the correspondents are C. B. Aycock, R. H. Battle, A. L. Brooks, Tod R. Caldwell, F. L. Fuller, J. B. Grimes, W. W. Kitchen, B. R. Lacy, C. D. McIver, S. F. Mordecai, J. M. Morehead, J. E. Pogue, F. M. Simmons, and C. A. Swanson.

There are also two letters on the same subject.

471. ROBERT MARION DEVEAUX PAPERS, 1758 (1864-82) 1894. 350 items and 1 vol. Stateburgh, S. C.

Personal and business correspondence of the Singleton, Deveau, and Moore families, prominent planters of South Carolina, including letters of J. K. Paulding, Richard Singleton, and Abraham Van Buren. The Singleton papers consist chiefly of military records, plats, and indentures of Captain Mathew Singleton of St. Mark's Parish, with a few letters from Richard Singleton to his daughters. The Deveau portion of the collection consists mainly of plantation records with a few letters from Deveau's children at school. The Moore papers are personal and legal. Included also is one volume containing accounts of the estate of V. M. Deveau, of Miss Marion S. Deveau, and plantation records for "The Ruins" and the Oakley and Pinckney plantations.

472. JEFFERSON HOWARD DE VOTIE PAPERS, 1834 (1861-64) 1871. 120 items. Columbus, Ga.

Personal correspondence of Jefferson Howard De Votie as a student at Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina, and Mercer University, Macon, Georgia, and as a medical student at the University of Louisiana, New Orleans, with comments on the faculties and military operations around New Orleans; and as a member of the medical corps of the Confederate Army; and a list of graduates of the medical department of the University of Louisiana, 1834-71. Included in his letters are a description of Confederate hospitals at Danville, Virginia; objections to superiority assumed by Virginians; and dissatisfaction with army life.

473. DIARIES, 1840-78. 2 vols. Culpeper County, Va., and Arizona Territory.

Letters and papers of Matthew Dickinson (d. ca. 1809), head of Franklin Academy, Louisburg, North Carolina, and lawyer. The items of the collection concern the personal affairs of Dickinson, who left the academy not long before his death to pursue the legal profession. They are mostly accounts and records of money borrowed and loaned. There is an interesting price list from a Raleigh book-dealer, 1806.

480. JEANNIE A. DICKSON PAPERS, 1858 (1865-86) 1905. 37 items. New Orleans, La.

Letters and papers of Jeannie A. Dickson, writer and daughter of Samuel Henry Dickson, Charleston, South Carolina, and New Orleans, Louisiana, physician and author. The bulk of the collection consists of letters and poems of Paul Hamilton Hayne, George Herbert Sass, and John R. Thompson. Hayne's letters include his opinion of Northern magazines, views on politics, literary productions of contemporary Southern writers, and the deplorable condition of Georgia as a result of the Civil War. Material connected with Sass is largely poetry, most of which was later published. Thompson's letters include comments on current literary productions and criticisms of Jeannie Dickson's work. One letter is from John Russell.

Mentioned in the collection are: Henry Dickson Bruns, John Bruns, [George] Washington Cable, James Wood Davidson, Charles E. A. Gayarré, Gervais Robinson, Wm. Gilmore Simms, Frances C. (Fisher) Tiernan's Valerie Aylmer, and the works of Richard D. Blackmore, Charles Reade, and Sir Walter Scott.

484. JAMES F. DILLARD PAPERS, 1861-65. 5 items. Washington, Ga.

Family letters of James F. Dillard, Confederate soldier, describing a trip from Georgia to Richmond, Virginia, via Charleston, South Carolina, 1861, and explaining removal of camp sites from Fredericksburg, Virginia, because of general poverty and poor soil of the area.

485. JOSEPH SHERMAN DILTZ PAPERS, 1862-86. 166 items. Urbana (Champaign County), Ohio.

Correspondence of Joseph Sherman Diltz, a private in the 66th Ohio Regiment of the Federal Army, consisting largely of letters to his wife, Mary (Milledge) Diltz, and giving much information on social, political, and economic trends of that period. The collection contains information on Federal activities in Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee, and Alabama; Battle of Missionary Ridge, 1863, Battle of Cedar Mountain, 1862, and other Civil War battles; condition of food and living quarters and morale of soldiers in Federal camps; execution of deserters; appearance of battlefields and hospitals after battles; Jefferson Davis and Colonel Chas. Candy; Copperheads; Confederate military prisons; the Ohio gubernatorial election of 1863, in which Clement L. Vallandigham was candidate; assassination of Abraham Lincoln and the false rumor of the assassination of William H. Seward; and commodity and land prices, wage rates, and crop fluctuations, notably of wheat in Iowa. Among the correspondents are Catherine, Joseph S., and Thomas Diltz.

486. JOHN BULL SMITH DIMITRY PAPERS, 1850 (1857-87) 1910. 576 items. Jackson, Miss.

Letters of John B. S. Dimitry (1835-1901), Confederate soldier, author, chief clerk in the Confederate Post Office Department, and professor of languages at Montgomery Female College, Christiansburg, Virginia; and of his relatives by marriage, the Stuart and Mayes families of Mississippi. The papers connected with Dimitry consist of one letter from his father, Alexander Dimitry; two letters from John H. Reagan, one giving a résumé of the condition of the country in 1866 and the other recommending Dimitry for a position; a letter of John B. S. Dimitry, 1865, analyzing the state of the Confederacy after the adjournment of the last Confederate Congress; and letters of Dimitry and his wife, Adelaide (Stuart) Dimitry, describing their stay in South America with accounts of the ocean voyage, Jamaica, Barranquilla, Bogotá, Colombia, a trip through the Andes, the climate, political and economic factors, educational facilities, the inhabitants of areas in which they traveled, and plans for future literary works.

Papers and correspondence bearing directly on the family of Adelaide (Stuart) Dimitry are more numerous than those directly concerned with Dimitry. Correspondence connected with the Stuart family centers around Colonel Oscar J. E. Stuart, father of Adelaide (Stuart) Dimitry; her three brothers, only one of whom survived service in the Confederate Army; and her sister, Annie Elizabeth Stuart, who married Robert Burns Mayes, a lawyer and probate judge, who was probably removed from the latter office for failure to take the "iron-clad" oath. Correspondence concerned with the three Stuart brothers relates to life and work at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, prior to 1861; lukewarm patriotism of Virginians around Lynchburg; cost of uniforms and equipment; scarcity of ammunition and other supplies; anticipated military action at Manassas in 1861; beauty of the Virginia countryside; Pratt's Hospital near Lynchburg; military action in Virginia at Manassas, Bethel Church, Dranesville, Leesburg, all in 1861, and Fredericksburg, 1862; and references to desertion, morale, censorship, theatrical productions given by the troops, and camp life in general. Letters of Adelaide Stuart during the Civil War refer to her work in the Columbia (S. C.) branch of the Confederate Treasury. After 1865 correspondence relates to the legal practice of Colonel Oscar

J. E. Stuart, political conditions in Mississippi especially during Reconstruction, growth of the Patrons of Husbandry, financial reverses, and mathematical studies of R. B. Mayes. Included also are literary works of R. B. Mayes, generally on theological subjects. Many of the letters of the Stuart brothers are typed copies.

487. EDGAR DINSMORE PAPERS, 1864-65. 4 items. Conn.

Letters from Edgar Dinsmore, a Negro soldier in the 54th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, to Carrie Drayton, Brooklyn, New York, commenting on campaign activities, an anticipated early Union victory, and the assassination of Abraham Lincoln [Published: Richard B. Harwell (ed.), "Edgar Dinsmore Letters," Journal of Negro History, XXV (July, 1940), 363-371].

488. DISMAL SWAMP LAND COMPANY PAPERS, 1763 (1830-71) 1879. 4,328 items and 8 vols. Suffolk, Va.

Business papers of the Dismal Swamp Land Company with a list of original partners including George Washington; and the subdivision of shares during the prosperous years of the Company when sale of cypress shingles and staves yielded large profits. Records include accounts of low profits in the 1780's and in the panic of 1837, labor problems during early years, trespassers, transportation problems, and difficulties experienced by the executive agent in arranging a satisfactory time for annual meetings of stockholders. Included also are monthly accounts of work and production, contemporary copies of wills of practically all stockholders, and frequent lists of stockholders. Among later stockholders were David and Richard K. Meade, the college of William and Mary, Williamsburg, and members of many leading families of Virginia. Among the volumes are check stubs, 1840-63; accounts, letter books, and shingle records, 1795-1843; and bankbooks, 1837-53. The correspondence consists largely of letters to and from the presidents and executive agents; and a few letters from Thomas Walker, an original stockholder.

Letters of William E. Duncan, Confederate captain and adjutant quartermaster stationed at Dublin Depot, relative to obtaining and transporting military supplies.

517. ADAM L. DUNLOP AND DANIEL RIFE PAPERS, 1802-75. 378 items. Staunton (Augusta County), Va.

Personal correspondence of two families united by the marriage of Elizabeth Dunlop and Daniel Rife (often spelled Reiff), centering around settlement of the West and the Civil War. The bulk of the letters are concerned with the West, including travel to that section, hog raising and farming in Indiana, high wages in Illinois, and family affairs in Staunton and in the West, all before 1860. Among the Civil War letters, chiefly from William A. Dunlop, a Confederate soldier, are comments on the Battle of Manassas, 1861, courts-martial, desertions, various combats, Stonewall Jackson, camp life, and prisoners. Adam L. Dunlop's letters came from Madison, Missouri, after his removal to the West, while members of the Rife family wrote from various sections of the West, chiefly to Daniel Rife, who remained in Augusta County. Several of the early letters are in German.

518. LORD DUNMORE LAND GRANTS, 1773; 1774. 2 items. Fincastle County, Va.

Grants of land to Joseph Davenport and Daniel Hubbard, both of Fincastle County.

519. MRS. EDWARD DUNNING PAPERS, 1844-63. 5 items. n.p.

Pickett; records of the Durham Civic Association, 1915-18; papers of the Y. M. C. A.; papers of the Durham unit of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, Inc.; papers of the North Carolina Legislative Association of Women; an account of the growth of Durham, presumably written by George W. Watts in 1900; a pamphlet of the "Up-to-date-Club"; minute book of the Canterbury Club, 1896-98, a literary organization; and proceedings of the Central Prohibition Club, 1886-92.

523. DURHAM HOSIERY MILL COMPANY PAPERS, 1887 (1895-97) 1899. 5,424 items and 28 vols. Durham, N. C.

Letters, bills, broadsides, time books, letter books, records, inventories, check stubs, ledgers, and stock certificates of the Durham Hosiery Mill while George M. Graham served as secretary and treasurer from its organization, May 16, 1895, until 1897. Included are numerous letters dealing with machinery bought from Northern firms, letters from newly organized textile mills in the South, letters from mechanics regarding the installation and repair of machinery, and letters relative to the sale of hosiery. The records seem complete for the period of poor business extending from the organization of the mill until the passage of the Dingley Tariff Act.

524. PLATO DURHAM BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH, 1840-75. 1 item. Rutherford County, N. C.

Two typed copies of the biography of Plato Durham (1840-75), a Confederate soldier and Democratic leader during Reconstruction, prepared by his son, Plato Tracy Durham (1873-1930), at the request of W. K. Boyd in 1907, and an addendum in 1938, the first bearing on post-bellum politics in North Carolina and the latter on Durham's career as a Confederate soldier.

525. ZACHARY TAYLOR DURHAM PAPERS, 1869-76. 11 items. Savannah, Ga.

Personal correspondence of Zachary Taylor Durham with Brantley A. Denmark and Arthur Howell of Savannah, Georgia, and John Snyder of San Francisco, California, the latter giving a description of San Francisco; and a description of Texas by Durham in 1872. The correspondence reflects somewhat the difficulties faced by young men during Reconstruction.

Personal letters of Thomas P. Elliott, with descriptions of a train ride in 1834, a trip to the Middle West, and school life at Westtown School, near Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

545. THOMAS RHETT SMITH ELLIOTT PAPERS, 1785-1891. 98 items. Beaufort and Charleston, S. C.

Family correspondence of T. R. S. Elliott (b. 1819), a rice planter and operator of several plantations before and after the Civil War in the Beaufort and Charleston areas, revealing attitudes and problems of Southerners during and after the Civil War. Included also are deeds, 1785 and 1802, recording the transfer of land in South Carolina to William Skirving, and letters of Guerard and William Heyward while prisoners on Johnson's Island, Ohio.

456. CHARLES ELLIS AND GEORGE WYTHE MUNFORD PAPERS, 1802 (1820-89) 1925. 4,623 items and 17 vols. Richmond, Va.

Family, personal, and business papers of three generations of the Ellis and Munford families, connected by the marriage of George Wythe Munford and Elizabeth Throwgood Ellis in 1838. The chief personages generally lived in Richmond, and the families were connected with many other prominent families of Virginia. The papers constitute more than a cross section of Virginia history during the nineteenth century, containing information on political, literary, social, economic, and military questions.

Letters and papers of the Munford family center around William Munford (1775-1825) of the first generation, George Wythe Munford (1803-82) of the second generation, and the children of George Wythe Munford, notably Thomas Taylor Munford (1831-1918), Sallie Radford (Munford) Talbott (1841-1930), and Lucy and Fannie Ellis Munford.

The letters of William Munford (1775-1825) are concerned with some details relative to the management of his plantation in Mecklenburg County, Virginia, by an overseer, his legal practice in the early 1800's in southside Virginia, accounts of his election to the governor's council in 1805, and political questions confronting the council. Included also is a volume containing poems of William Munford, a list of books in his library, and a list of Virginia lawyers and court clerks to whom the Munford and Henning Reports of the Supreme Court of Virginia were sent. The collection also contains letters concerning possible publication by Thomas Willis White of a novel written by Ursula Anna (Munford) Byrd, sister of William Munford. Letters of friends and relatives and members of the first generation of Munfords are also included.

George Wythe Munford, named for the mentor of his father, followed in his father's footsteps and became clerk of the Virginia House of Delegates, an office which he held until the end of the Civil War, after which he attempted farming until forced by reverses to secure a clerkship in the U. S. Census Bureau. Some of the best letters in the collection from standpoints of content and expression were written by George Wythe Munford. From the area around Lynchburg, Virginia, where he went for recuperation in summer, he wrote many interesting accounts of the people and the countryside. Most interesting are the letters to his wife, written immediately after the fall of Richmond, from which city Munford fled to the western part of Virginia; among these letters are excellent descriptions of his own reactions, those of his relatives, and the uncertainty of the future. Few letters describe with more clarity and detail the work, trials, and labor system of a farmer after the Civil War than those written by Munford to his son, Thomas, from Gloucester County, Virginia, 1866-73. Munford's letters also give something of the Readjuster movement, which resulted in his removal from office as a clerk of the House of Delegates to which he had returned after farming, and of his experiences as clerk in the census office in Washington, 1880-82. Included are comments on life and people of Richmond, Gloucester County, Virginia, and Washington, D. C., Virginia legislators, and original manuscript of his The Two Parsons, published after his death.

Included also is William Munford's Miscellany, 1802-14, containing some of his literary works, a list of the books in his library, and a list of subscribers to the "Henning and Munford Reports of Cases Adjudged in the Court of Appeals." Chief of the literary works are two poems, "The Richmond Cavalcade" (1798) and its sequel, "The Richmond Feast" (1799), in Hudibrastic verse aimed at the political maneuvers of the Federalists. The volume also includes verses to some of his relatives, the New Year, and poems later published in the Richmond Enquirer. (These have been studied and analyzed by Ralph E. Purcell in a master's thesis, "William Munford: A Biographical and Critical Study," Duke University, 1941.) Another volume, a Cashbook and Miscellany, 1821-37, kept by George Wythe Munford, contains a few of his verses. In general they are written in imitation of his father's poems, the best one being "The Gander Pull or James City Games"; others are sentimental, some being written to his relatives. Included also is a volume containing an inventory of George Wythe Munford's household furniture purchased in 1834; the Ellis family Bible; and various memoranda and account books and notebooks.

The letters of Thomas Taylor Munford (1831-1918), planter in Bedford County, Virginia, brigadier general in the Confederate Army and lecturer on Confederate military history, contain comments on his farming operations, Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, the iron industry around Lynchburg, Virginia, and the Civil War, largely in retrospect. Included also are letters from Confederate officers relative to Civil War battles and campaigns, Battle of Five Forks, 1865, numerous clippings, notes, and addresses bearing on the Civil War, the Southern Historical Society, a history of the Battle of Five Forks, and notes and accounts concerning the seal of the state of Virginia.

The collection contains many letters of the thirteen other children of George Wythe Munford. Many war letters of Charles Ellis Munford (1839-62), as well as family and personal letters of his sisters during the Civil War and later, give many details of wartime household economy and general conditions during the Reconstruction period. Included also are a number of letters from two grandsons of George Wythe Munford, Allan and Ellis Talbott, written while touring Europe and studying at the Universities of Geneva and Heidelberg, 1886-89.

Letters of various friends, especially of the daughters of George Wythe Munford, are also contained in the collection. Notable among these are the high-spirited and poignant letters of Kate Corbin relative to the Civil War, the deaths of relatives in the army, and her marriage to Colonel Alexander Swift Pendleton (1840-64), several times postponed by the fortunes of war. Included also are series written during the war period by Caroline Homoselle Thornton of Rappahannock County, Virginia, Mary and Emily Voss and Pattie Vest of Williamsburg, Virginia, Belle Harrison of Brandon Plantation, Prince George County, Virginia, and Captain Edward V. Marye, all relative to living conditions, war, and the dismal years of Reconstruction.

Letters more closely connected with the Ellis family begin with those of Charles Ellis, Sr. (1772-1840), Richmond merchant and partner of John Allan, who was the foster father of Edgar Allan Poe, and of Powhatan Ellis (1790-1863), jurist, U. S. senator, and diplomat. Letters of Charles Ellis concern business affairs and personal matters, the latter consisting largely of admonitions to his son, James (1815-39), while the latter was a student at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, and of letters written from the springs of western Virginia. The collection contains seventy-two letters from Powhatan Ellis relating to his duties as minister to Mexico, personal and family affairs, and secession. Letters of Margaret (Nimmo) Ellis (1790-1877), wife of Charles Ellis, Sr., are numerous from 1840 to her death and, though generally concerned with family affairs, also contain accounts of war activities and social changes resulting from the Civil War.

Of the numerous children of Charles and Margaret (Nimmo) Ellis, the letters of Thomas Harding Ellis (1814-98), merchant and businessman, are most interesting and valuable, relating to his school days at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, 1831-32; the Southern Literary Messenger; the Richmond Fayette Light Artillery; his interest in general literary activities; his duties as private secretary to his uncle, Powhatan Ellis, in Mexico during 1836 and as first secretary of the legation, 1839-41; people and events in Richmond, 1840-60; the Civil War; twelve years of residence in Chicago, 1871-83, with detailed accounts of the growth of the city and the great fire of 1871; and clerkships in the Departments of the Interior and the Treasury, 1887-98.

Letters and papers of other children of Charles and Margaret (Nimmo) Ellis are also included. Letters of James Ellis (1815-39) in general were written from the U. S. Military Academy, and one contains a reference at the time of the death of John Allan, Poe's foster father, stating that Allan had not "spent his time in a proper way" and making some reference to Allan's second wife, which has been thoroughly obliterated. Charles Ellis, Jr. (b. 1817), left many business and personal letters, the latter consisting largely of family letters and accounts of numerous visits to the springs in western Virginia, especially Warm Springs in Bath County, with minute descriptions of activities, guests, his ailments, and the young ladies whom he escorted during his long life and many sojourns at Warm Springs, always as a bachelor. The letters of Powhatan Ellis, Jr. (1829-1906), son of Charles, Sr., major in the Confederate Army, and planter, pertain to his activities as a student at the University of Virginia, 1848-50, as an agent to look after family lands in Kentucky, as an officer in the Confederate Army, and as a planter in Gloucester County following the Civil War.

The letters of Jane Shelton (Ellis) Tucker (1820-1901) and her husband, Nathaniel Beverley Tucker (1820-90), Confederate agent, relate to their wanderings and his career as a diplomat, Confederate agent in France and Canada, residence in England and political maneuverings in Washington, residence at Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, financial worries, and their frequent changes of residence. Included also are numerous letters of their children, especially of Beverley D. Tucker, later bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of southern Virginia, and of Margaret Tucker. Numerous letters relative to farming operations of Richard S. Ellis (1825-67) in Buckingham County, Virginia, are in the collection. Among the papers are numerous letters of relatives, friends, and men of distinction.

Among the correspondents are John D. Blair, Heros Von Borcke, Alexander Brown, Agnes S. B. (Gamble) Cabell, R. H. Dabney, John W. Daniel, Powhatan Ellis, Clement A. Evans, J. B. Floyd, Henry Gannett, Carter Glass, Wade Hampton, R. M. T. Hunter, Andrew Johnson, J. W. Jones, Fitzhugh Lee, G. W. C. Lee, Stephen D. Lee, John Letcher, James Longstreet, W. Gordon McCabe, J. Y. Mason, D. H. Maury, Lucian Minor, John S. Mosby, G. W. Munford, Wm. Munford, Roger A. Pryor, Wm. Radford, Wyndham Robertson, Thomas Rutherford, Edmund Schriver, Philip Slaughter, Wm. Smith, J. B. Tabb, N. B. Tucker, Martin Van Buren, H. A. Wise, and Marcus J. Wright.

553. JOHN WAYLES EPPES PAPERS, 1807-19. 15 items. Buckingham County, Va.

Personal letters from John Wayles Eppes (1773-1823), nephew and son-in-law of Thomas Jefferson, member of Virginia House of Delegates, 1801-1803, member of U. S. Congress, 1803-11, 1813-17, and U. S. senator, 1817-19, chiefly to Francis Eppes (b. 1801), his son by his first wife, Maria (Jefferson) Eppes (1778-1804). The letters to Francis Eppes, written while he was in preparatory school near Lynchburg and at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, are typical parental letters discussing the development of character and the value of the study of history. One contains a reference to Willie Jones, North Carolina Revolutionary statesman and father of John Wayles Eppes's second wife. In the set are two letters, November, 1814, from John Wayles Eppes to Alexander James Dallas, secretary of the treasury, in which Eppes expresses his fears that national credit and confidence might be impaired by a statement that "national credit no longer existed" which Dallas had made before a congressional committee on the Bank question. Included also is a deed, 1817, from John Wayles Eppes to Thomas Jefferson Randolph.

Two daybooks and one ledger of a general merchant.

572. PHILIP RICARD FENDALL PAPERS, 1806 (1815-67). 85 items. Washington, D. C.

Personal, political, and professional correspondence of Philip Ricard Fendall (1794-1868), noted lawyer and Whig politician. Some of the letters relate to legal cases in which Fendall evidently served as counsel. One case of interest has to do with the financial status of Columbian College, Washington, D. C. A number of letters, including several from Henry Clay, bear on Whig politics. A letter from Henry Daingerfield attributes the authorship of three political tracts to John C. Calhoun. Included also is a holograph manuscript of a political pamphlet regarding Clay and Calhoun by Fendall; and a diary, 1840-41, filled with notes on conversations, usually relative to political rewards suggested for him, and a long memorandum of Fendall's agreement with the National Intelligencer and his writings for that publication. Personal letters are generally from Fendall's uncle, Richard Bland Lee, and his cousin, Richard Henry Lee (b. ca. 1820). During 1863 there are several letters from Evelyn B. Lee and Cassius F. Lee, wife and brother respectively of Richard Henry Lee, seeking Fendall's aid in releasing the latter Lee, who was then a prisoner in the Old Capitol Prison, Washington, D. C. Likewise, in 1866, there are a number of letters from Mary Custis S. Lee, wife of the Reverend William F. Lee, seeking the restoration of property which had been sold for taxes during the Civil War. Two long letters of Edward Bates in 1866 request information on the powers of Congress. Among the correspondents are Edward Bates, Mathew Carey, Charles J. Catlett, Henry Clay, G. W. P. Custis, Millard Fillmore, Horace Greeley, Reverdy Johnson, R. B. Lee, B. W. Leigh, John Tyler, and Daniel Webster.

576. OBADIAH FIELDS PAPERS, 1784 (1820-27) 1855. 19 items. Rockingham County, N. C.

577. ALEXANDER, JOSEPH, AND WILLIAM FINDLEY PAPERS, 1860-73. 124 items. Altoona, Pa.

Family letters of Alexander, Joseph, and William Findley, three brothers serving in the Federal Army. A few of the letters were written from camps near Altoona, and some, after the war, from camps in the North, but a larger proportion were written from the vicinity of Hilton Head, South Carolina. The letters include comments on conditions in the Federal Army; military campaigns; the lack of wisdom in freeing Negroes; yellow fever epidemic; the Confederate ironclad, the Fingal; failure of ministers in Missouri to take the oath of loyalty as late as October 17, 1865; destruction of Southern homes by Confederates; Negro regiments in the U. S. Army; and comments as to methods of obtaining commissions in the Federal Army.

578. WILLIAM A. J. FINNEY PAPERS, 1849 (1858-60) 1864. 63 items. Museville (Pittsylvania County), Va.

Business and Civil War correspondence of a member of a firm of slave traders, giving a detailed picture of methods of conducting and financing the slave trade, with accounts of purchases in Virginia and sales in the markets of New Orleans,

Louisiana, and Mobile and Montgomery, Alabama. Included are notices regarding the slave market in Richmond. Seven Civil War letters show that most of the Finney family were in the Confederate Army.

579. WILBUR FISK SERMON NOTES, 1823. 1 vol. Providence, R. I.

Notes taken by an unidentified person criticizing a sermon of Wilbur Fisk, a Methodist Episcopal minister.

Letters from two congressmen sending Martha Lyman Foster their photographs.

600. FRANÇOIS MARIE CHARLES FOURIER PAPERS, 1772-1837. 284 items and 5 vols. (Paris, France?)

The main body of this collection concerning Charles Fourier (1772-1837),

French Socialist, is comprised of four volumes of the Dictionnaire de Sociologie Phalansterienne: Guide des oeuvres complètes de Charles Fourier, by E. Silberling published under virtually the same title in Paris, 1911. Included also are numerous biographical sketches of the various "propagators" and disciples of Fourier's theory; corrections to be made on the proof sheets of a publication called Solidarity; photographs and funeral invitations, which may have been among Fourier's personal belongings; and a number of letters, poems, newspaper clippings, drawings, and programs concerned with the founding of various social groups, and with the establishment of a monument to Fourier.

601. ISAAC H. FOUST DAYBOOKS AND JOURNAL, 1852-61. 6 vols. Reed Creek (Randolph County), N. C.

One journal, 1853-55, and four daybooks, 1852-61, of Isaac H. Foust, a general merchant. Another daybook, 1856-59, dated "Deep River," has "Foust and Brothers" lettered on the spine, but the customers are identical in name with those in the records of Isaac H. Foust.

602. HIMER FOX ACCOUNT BOOK, 1844-61. 1 vol. Randolph County, N. C.
Accounts of Himer Fox, a sawmill operator.

603. FRANCE: MISCELLANEOUS PAPERS, 1779; 1802. 2 items. Paris, France.

The earlier document is a petition of a consul of war to the president of the Seine and Oise districts. The other is a legal agreement between Auguste Charles Brice Panjoud and Alexandre Jean François Parain.

604. A. B. FRANK DIARY, 1865. 1 vol. Setez (Lancaster County), Pennsylvania.

Diary kept by A. B. Frank, evidently a Federal soldier, from January 1 to September 17, 1865, regarding weather conditions, camp routine, and General Cadwallader Colden Washburn's coming from Memphis, Tennessee, and reviewing the cavalry.

605. ALEXANDER FRANK PAPERS, 1858-64. 13 items. Cedar Bush (Davidson County), N. C.

Correspondence of three North Carolina families, the Headricks (Hedricks), Bosses, and Franks, who settled in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, and Kansas, regarding life on the new farmlands as compared with their previous life in North Carolina. One letter from G. W. Frank describes his course of instruction at a North Carolina school, and another from Alexander Frank to his wife, Susanna, is concerned with desertions from the Confederate Army.

606. GEORGE W. FRANK PAPERS, 1846-65. 36 items. Rowan County, N. C.

Family correspondence, chiefly of George W. Frank, a private in the Confederate Army, dealing with family matters, camp life, and weather conditions; and giving occasional comments on the military maneuvers around Petersburg and Gordonsville, Virginia.

607. FRANKLIN COUNTY (GA.) MISCELLANEOUS RECORDS, 1790-1881. 750 items. Ga.

Land grants, deeds, indentures, promissory notes, notices of sales of estates, receipts, Confederate bonds, tax assessments, etc.

608. FRANKLIN COUNTY (N. C.) PUBLIC SCHOOL RECORDS, 1857-61. 29 items. N. C.

Lists of students and teachers, teachers' salaries, and material relating to dividends from the North Carolina Literary Fund.

609. FRANKLIN COUNTY (VA.) COURT RECORDS, 1760 (1780-1834) 1882. 6,600 items and 9 vols. Va.

Records of the Franklin County court consisting of answers to bills of complaints, accounts relative to settlement of estates, bills for suits, copies of deeds, complaints to county justices of the peace, depositions, promissory notes, returns of land processioned, suits over property, summonses, and warrants. Many records were filed while Stephen Smith and James Calloway were clerks of Franklin County court. Among the records are many complaints, usually for debts, made by John Hook, the despised Loyalist merchant, and many bonds to James Callahan and Jubal Early. Throughout the records the following are common names: Calloway, Chitwood, Early, Goode, Griffin, Hairston, Hancock, Harkrider, Innes, Pedigo, Quinn, Rentfro, Venable, Watson, and Webb. Among the volumes are lists of taxable land, 1794, 1796; minutes and ordinances of the town of Rocky Mount in Franklin County, 1873-82; fee books, 1789, 1791, 1794, 1806; memorandum books kept by the clerk of court, 1810-12, 1821-22. The list of taxables for 1796 shows that John Hook held about 5,000 acres of land in Franklin County. These records contain lists of many families, needed when settling estates and otherwise. Numerous descriptions of land in the county and many names are scattered throughout the records.

610. FREDERICK FRASER PAPERS, 1814-56. 6 items. Charleston, S. C.

Scattered letters of Frederick Fraser, South Carolina low-country planter, revealing the difficulties of commerce during the War of 1812. During the 1850's Fraser or a younger member of the family was associated with the firm of Fraser and Thompson in the cotton factorage business.

611. MARY (DE SAUSSURE) FRASER PAPERS AND ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1780 (1800-86). 289 items and 3 vols. Charleston, S. C.

Correspondence, business papers, and account books of three generations of the Fraser family of Charleston. Included in the collection are a few records concerning William R. Davie, prominent Federalist, governor of North Carolina, and one of the founders of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill; bills and receipts made to Mary (Fraser) Davie, second wife of Frederick William Davie, which constitute more than half the collection; and a letter to Alexander Fraser from Charles Lorimer of Shooter's Hill, Kent, England, concerning property in South Carolina. The greater part of the collection consists of correspondence of Mary (De Saussure) Fraser (1772-1853), wife of Frederick Fraser (1762-1816), including letters from her son, Frederick Grimké Fraser, in Beaufort, South Carolina, dealing with life around Beaufort, 1831-41, family affairs, farming operations, political matters, clothing and equipment for slaves, and religious revivals held by one Walker; letters from her daughter, Mary (Fraser) Daniel, while touring Europe in 1844; family letters from Edward McCrady (1833-1903), South Carolina soldier and historian; a letter from Charles Fraser, the artist, to his mother; and papers regarding William Davie's career as peace commissioner to France in 1799. Included also is an early nineteenth-century memorandum entitled "Amount Expenses of a Journey from Charleston to the Virginia Hot and Sulphur Springs and back to Charleston via Philadelphia." Among the other correspondents are Timothy Bloodworth, Sarah (Jones) Davie, and John Rust Eaton. Included also is an account book, 1850-51, of the estate of Frederick William Davie with James Adger and Company, apparently commission merchants engaged in cotton buying; and records kept by Mary F. (Fraser) Davie as administratrix of her husband's estate and accounts of household and personal expenditures. Included also are one hundred and five clippings.

612. MARY JANE FRASER NOTES, 1842. 1 vol. (Charleston, S. C.)

613. FREDERICK COUNTY (VA.) COURT PAPERS, 1791-1803. 48 items. Frederick County, Va.

These papers, evidently records of the office of the clerk of court, contain instructions to the county sheriff for the collection of debts; records of court charges, muster fines, recording fees, delinquent taxes, and the like.

614. FREEMASONS, LODGE NO. 319, PAPERS, 1794-1910. 39 items. Wilmington, N. C.

The collection contains much material regarding the Wilmington Lodge No. 319; a brief history of Masonry in North Carolina and in the United States; and biographical sketches of some of the grand masters of the lodge, including John D. Bellamy, John Lucas Cantwell, Thomas B. Carr, Richard Caswell, William A. Cumming, Louis Henry De Rosset, Alexander Heide, Rudolph E. Heide, Edward Wilson Manning, William P. Oldham, and George Patterson.

615. SAMUEL G. FRENCH PAPERS, 1848-94. 9 items. Woodbury, N. J.

Personal correspondence of Samuel G. French, a graduate of U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, 1843, who served in both the Mexican and Civil wars, and was a planter, 1856-61, near Vicksburg, Mississippi; and requisitions for army supplies during the Mexican War.

616. FRIENDS, SOCIETY OF. MONTHLY MEETING RECORDS, 1692-1736. 22 items. London, England, and Nansemond County, Va.

Records, seemingly copies, of a meeting of the Society of Friends, apparently in London, relating chiefly to the publication of Quaker books and tracts and to the sending of books to the "Foreign Plantations"; records of a congregation of Friends at Chuckatuck, Nansemond County, Virginia, 1729-36, chiefly confined to the settlement of differences between individuals and to the granting of permissions for marriage.

617. HENRY ELIAS FRIES PAPERS, 1869(1873-77)1884. 29 items. Salem (Forsyth County), N. C.

Letters from Henry E. Fries (b. 1857), interested in the early development of electricity, to his mother while he was a student at Davidson College, North Carolina. The collection gives some information on Davidson College in the middle 1870's and concerns Fries's studies, his profession, his friends, and general activities of student life.

618. JONES AND EDWIN WILEY FULLER PAPERS, 1810(1840-70)1895. 555 items. Louisburg, N. C.

Family, business, and literary correspondence of Jones Fuller (1808-70), a cotton broker of Mobile, Alabama, and Louisburg, North Carolina; and of his son, Edwin Wiley Fuller (1847-75), poet and novelist. The letters contain comments on American literature and history, politics, family affairs, secession. Reconstruction, life at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, during the Civil War, and Louisburg College, North Carolina, and the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, immediately after the Civil War. Included also are several report cards of Edwin Wiley Fuller and circulars, etc., from the University of North Carolina, as well as many revisions and criticisms of his poem, "The Angel in the Cloud." In general, the letters are from Jones Fuller to Anna Long Thomas before their marriage; from Anna Long (Thomas) Fuller in Mobile to her North Carolina relatives; business correspondence between Jones Fuller and his brother-in-law, Gabriel J. Thomas, discussing the cotton and drug businesses; from Edwin Wiley Fuller to his parents while in college; and college letters of George Gillett Thomas, first cousin and college roommate of Edwin Wiley Fuller and son of Dr. William George Thomas, post physician of Wilmington, North Carolina, to his parents. A number of letters from Dr. William George Thomas comment on conditions in Wilmington during the Civil War, the blockade runner Advance, Federal depredations after the fall of Wilmington, and the political opinions of the faculty of the University of North Carolina in 1866. Included also are letters to George Gillett Thomas from cousins at school in Louisburg and from his sisters in school at Wilmington. Among the correspondents are J. H. Claiborne, E. W. Fuller, and D. L. Swain.

619. SALLIE M. H. FULTON PAPERS, 1848-65. 42 items. Baltimore, Md.

Correspondence of a Baltimore belle, including personal letters from her young friends in Charlestown, Virginia, and in York, Pennsylvania, with comments on social life and customs. One of the York letters tells of the Confederate invasion and compliments the orderly conduct of the soldiers; another speaks of the numbers of young men leaving for the army.

620. WINSTON FULTON LEDGER, 1851-55. 1 vol. Danbury (Stokes County), N. C.

Ledger of a general merchant.

621. SAMUEL FUQUA ACCOUNT BOOK, 1835-66. 1 vol. Charlotte County, Va.

Account book of Samuel Fuqua, agent for Richard Gaines. The volume contains records of household expenses, labor, settlement of estates, etc.; and a written agreement between a Virginia planter and his slaves regarding their continued service after emancipation.

- 621a. MCDONALD FURMAN PAPERS, 1883-1903. 34 items. Privateer (Sumter District), S. C.

Family and business correspondence of McDonald Furman (1863-1904), lecturer, student of local history, and member of the South Carolina Historical Society, largely from his aunt "Ann" and from Mrs. D. Eli Dunlap, a teacher in the Presbyterian Mission School established for the Catawba Indians in York County, South Carolina. Included are political comments and references to Clemson College, South Carolina, and Richard Furman's writings. Also, among the undated material, are a biographical sketch of Richard Furman and a long genealogical chart showing the connections of the Furman family.

Included also is an unusual account book for Cornhill Plantation in Sumter District, apparently kept by John Blount Miller from its beginning in 1827 until about 1860, when it was evidently taken over by his son-in-law, Dr. John H. Furman. The book contains a note that Dr. John H. Furman (d. 1902) and Susan Miller went to Cornhill Plantation on November 20, 1859. The plantation book includes many different types of records kept by Miller: receipts; expenditures; marriages, births, and deaths of slaves; weekly rations and clothing issued to his slaves; domestic animals on the plantation; corn, cotton, and other crops produced; illnesses, deaths, and visits of members of the family; lands owned and inventories of tools; rules for governing slaves; accounts of unusual weather; and lists of keys. In the latter portion of the account book, kept by John H. Furman, there are many records of contracts with freedmen, and accounts of money and goods advanced to them.

622. JAMES GADSDEN PAPERS, 1836; 1842. 2 items. Charleston, S. C.

Correspondence of James Gadsden (1788-1858), Florida planter, member of legislative council of Florida Territory, and minister to Mexico in 1853. One letter, 1836, deals with the problems of "incendiary publications" of abolitionist societies; the other, 1842, to Paymaster General Nathan Towson, presents his claims for supplies furnished the Florida Militia.

623. JAMES S. GAINES PAPERS, 1823 (1836-76). 12 items. Sullivan County, Tenn.

Letters to James S. Gaines and his wife, Letitia Gaines, from family and business associates, with interesting comments on the sale of a slave in 1845, on a camp meeting, and on a yellow fever epidemic in Alabama in 1854.

624. ORA B. GAINES PAPERS, 1862. 2 items. Mass.

Personal letters from Ora B. Gaines, a member of Company E, 46th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteers, stationed near New Bern, North Carolina, during the winter of 1862, concerning the weather, food, and army life.

Gilmer (1790-1826), Virginia lawyer and educator, including genealogical notes; scattered references to Thomas Jefferson; unrelated historical allusions; a Cherokee-English vocabulary; and notes on a journey from Virginia to Georgia, including comments on Southern plants and animals. [Partially published: R. B. Davis (ed.), "An Early Virginia Scientist's Botanical Observations in the South," Virginia Journal of Science, III (May, 1942), 132-139.]

662. THOMAS W. GILMER NOTEBOOKS, 1817-70. 10 vols. Fredericksburg, Va.

Lecture notes given by Thomas W. Gilmer at Union Theological Seminary, Hampden-Sidney College, Prince Edward County, Virginia, 1859-69, and sermon notes from his later years as a Presbyterian minister in Virginia. One volume, originally an account book of the firm of A. and F. Minor, contains Confederate music pasted on the first pages and history notes in a handwriting similar to Gilmer's.

663. MARIA JAMES REVELEY GISBORNE DIARY, 1820. 1 vol. London, England.

Diary (photostatic copy; original in British Museum) of Mrs. Maria (James) Reveley Gisborne, May 2 to September 26, 1820, including an account of a journey from Italy and a short stay in London. The diary opens with an account of the journey from Leghorn, Italy, to London, with comments on the hardships of travel and on the Italian and French landscapes and national temperaments.

Beginning with the entry of June 11, comments revolve around Maria (James) Reveley Gisborne's social acquaintances, generally prominent literary figures. Included are references to the William Godwin family, their relations with Percy Bysshe Shelley, and their opinion of his attitude and works; a description of Samuel Taylor Coleridge and a report of his remarks on Washington Allston's return to America as a result of his wife's prejudice against England; allusions to Coleridge's wish to translate Goethe's Faust, his interest in the works of Pedro Calderón de la Barca, and his attitude toward Shelley and William Godwin; an account of John Keats's illness at the home of Leigh Hunt, and of the preparation by Hunt of an article defending Shelley against the attacks of William Gifford, editor of the Quarterly Review; and references to William Godwin's opinions of Lord Byron's works, of Sir Joshua Reynolds and other artists, of William Wordsworth's works, and of Mathilda, a novel by an unidentified feminine friend of Maria (James) Reveley Gisborne. Included also is an account given by Arnaud Descolles, traveling companion of the Gisbornes, of the shipwreck and death of the family of one Colonel Egerton; and a portion of the journal kept by John Gisborne at Leghorn, Italy, from October to November 6, 1827, including a description of the actual scene of Shelley's "Ode to a Skylark."

664. JOSEPH GLASS PAPERS, 1804-24. 9 items. Frederick County, Va.

Family, professional, and business correspondence of Joseph Glass, Presbyterian minister of Virginia, including a letter written by a relative in 1818 commenting on a journey from Virginia to Kentucky made by her with her family of twelve children, by wagon.

668. LOUIS MALESHERBES GOLDSBOROUGH PAPERS, 1827-77. 446 items and 1 vol. Washington, D. C.

Family and official correspondence of Louis M. Goldsborough (1805-77), superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, and rear admiral in the U. S. Navy. The personal correspondence contains two letters of William Wirt, whose daughter, Elizabeth Gamble Wirt, married Goldsborough. In 1831 there are letters of courtship from Goldsborough to his future wife. The remainder of the personal correspondence, with the exception of a few letters from Catherine Wirt relative to the death of William Wirt and two long diary-like letters, 1835, relaying gossip of families of Richmond, Virginia, is between Goldsborough and his wife relative generally to family matters. Several of Goldsborough's letters were written from Mexican waters, and one in particular gives a vivid and full description of the Battle of Tuxpan in 1847. A later letter, 1860, contains navy gossip and a description of Paraguay. Goldsborough's letters during the Civil War period refer to the Mason-Slidell affair, Federal gunboats on the James River, the Confederate ironclad Merrimac, and Secretary of War E. M. Stanton's interference with the armies of Generals George B. McClellan and Irvin McDowell to the supposed disadvantage of Federal war efforts. Letters from Goldsborough, while he was in command of the European Squadron, 1865-69, contain a description of Castle Miramar in Trieste, Austria, and the Empress Carlotta, who lived there at the time. Among other personal letters are several from members of the Robinson family, relatives of Elizabeth Gamble (Wirt) Goldsborough, and some of great interest from one Cynthia Jane describing war conditions in Williamsburg and Norfolk, Virginia.

The bulk of the collection consists of routine correspondence in connection with Goldsborough's naval career, including copies of calculations from the Bureau of Ordnance, sailing instructions, reports of itineraries of vessels, lists of foods, reports of engineers, copies of directions signed by Secretary of the Navy Gideon Welles, and letters of introduction. Official papers are most numerous while Goldsborough commanded the European Squadron. Included also is a large hand-drawn map, 1877, of the Castle Hayne Vineyard Company Plantation of New Hanover County, North Carolina, showing many details including swamps, streams, and abandoned rice fields. One letter book, 1859-61, contains the official correspondence of Goldsborough as captain of the U. S. Frigate Congress.

669. GOOD TEMPLARS PAPERS, 1876-79. 16 items. Granville County, N. C.

672. [JAMES H. GORDON] ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1864-83. 2 vols. Port Gibson, Miss.

673. JOHN BROWN GORDON PAPERS, 1889. 2 items. Atlanta, Ga.

Letters of John Brown Gordon (1832-1904), major general in the Confederate Army and U. S. senator, 1873-80, 1891-97, to Charles Colcock Jones, Jr., concerning the Confederate Survivors' Association and the centennial of Washington's inauguration.

674. JOHN C. GORHAM DIARY, 1815-53. 1 vol. (Palmyra, N. C.)

Sporadic entries in the diary of John C. Gorham, concerning farm products and timber shipped on the Tuscarora, a local trading schooner.

675. CHARLES L. GOULD PAPERS, 1862-63. 3 items. Brattleboro, Vt.

Correspondence between Charles L. Gould, a Federal soldier, and his family in Vermont. Included also is a bit of verse, possibly original.

676. ROBERT N. GOURDIN PAPERS, 1789 (1838-1904) 1926. 198 items. Charleston, S. C.

Family correspondence of the Gourdin family and business correspondence and papers of the mercantile firm Gourdin, Matthieson and Company, operated by Gourdin, his brother Henry Gourdin, and Frederic C. Matthieson. The collection concerns the siege of Charleston during the Civil War; runaway slaves in 1861; the situation at Fort Sumter in 1861; railroads; Reconstruction; and St. Michael's, St. Philip's, and other Charleston churches. Included also are letters from John C. Calhoun, written while in Washington, D. C., containing comments on partisan matters and the Benton-Foote feud.

677. GRACE CHURCH LIST OF TUNES, 1855. 1 vol. Charleston, S. C.

List of tunes sung at the church.

678. ROBERT S. GRACY PAPERS, 1828-48. 8 items. Iredell County, N. C., and Mt. Meigs, Ala.

Personal letters of Robert S. Gracy, a lawyer and probably a relative of James K. Polk, mentioning slave prices in 1833 and concerning settlements of family estates.

679. WILLIAM GRAHAM PAPERS, 1783 (1800-80) 1885. 1,113 items and 12 vols. Lexington, Va.

Personal, family, and business letters and notes of various members of the Graham family of Virginia, prominent Presbyterians, including letters by Reverend William Graham (1746-99), founder of Liberty Hall Academy (later Washington College), Lexington, Virginia, pertaining to Ohio land deals; letters of Edward Graham and his family, chiefly personal; papers relative to the patent on Dr. William A. Graham's fire extinguisher; a woman's diary, dealing for the most part with relatives and friends in the Confederate Army; and genealogical records, account books, sermons, and Civil War diaries of Dr. Archibald Graham, Alexander Graham, and Edward Graham. Other members referred to are Dr. John Graham and Reverend Beverly Tucker Lacy. One volume contains records of tuition charges and books bought by students of Washington College from 1774 to 1803.

680. WILLIAM ALEXANDER GRAHAM PAPERS, 1846-96. 8 items. Hillsboro, N. C.

Included in the collection are letters to William A. Graham (1804-75), North Carolina governor, 1844-48, U. S. senator, 1840-43, secretary of the navy, 1850-52, and Confederate senator, 1864-65, requesting commissions for soldiers in the Mexican War, 1846-57, including a detailed letter referring to a projected railroad in North Carolina, 1847; a letter from his son, John W. Graham, in the Confederate Army at Petersburg, Virginia, 1864; a letter from E. Kikell Jenkins, requesting an appointment as assistant surgeon in the U. S. Navy; and a letter on legal business from John W. Graham to Dr. A. B. Hawkins, of Raleigh, North Carolina, 1896.

681. ULYSSES SIMPSON GRANT PAPERS, 1873. 2 items. Washington, D. C.

Letters from Ulysses Simpson Grant (1822-85), general in the U. S. Army and president of the United States, 1869-77, recommending office seekers.

682. WILLIAM CLARK GRASTY AND JOHN F. RISON PAPERS, 1788 (1800-69) 1876. 8,000 items and 118 vols. Danville, Va.

Business records of three generations of merchants of Green Hill, Stony Hill, Mount Airy, and Danville, all in Pittsylvania County, Virginia, centering around the Grasty and Rison families. With the exception of ledgers and daybooks, there is little information concerning the senior partner, Samuel Pannill of Green Hill, in the firm of Grasty and Pannill, save that he felt he had been treated unfairly by Philip L. Grasty. Most of the unbound material in the early part of the collection concerns the activities of Philip L. Grasty (d. 1827) at Stony Hill, where he carried on a diversified type of merchandising largely based on the barter system. In 1806 Grasty moved his store to Mount Airy; from then until 1827 the papers reveal the type of drugs, hardware, books, and dry goods in general demand; the barter system so common at the time; and the diversified type of business, including, in addition to his general store, the operation of a tavern, a plantation, a blacksmith shop, a simplified type of banking, and the keeping of a post office. There are also countless orders on Grasty for goods to be delivered to the bearer, often a slave, and many receipts, mortgages, and notes covering a wide area around Pittsylvania County.

The remainder of the material concerns William Clark Grasty (b. ca. 1800), a nephew of Philip L. Grasty. By 1818 William Clark Grasty had purchased a store at Mt. Airy, where he carried on virtually the same type of business that his uncle had done, adding to his duties the purchase of tobacco and services as school commissioner for educating the poor and as justice of the peace. Included are records of Grasty's purchases from wholesale houses during 1838, in Baltimore, Maryland, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and New York City; and of his change to wholesale houses nearer home after the troubles following the panic of 1837; and a letter book during the 1840's recording Grasty's difficulties as a result of the panic. Records of the Mt. Airy store from 1839 to the early 1850's reveal information on clerk hire, cash and credit sales, terms for wholesale purchases, and volume of business.

Probably in the 1850's, Grasty moved his business operations to Danville, ultimately joining John F. Rison in a general mercantile, forwarding, and commission business. The records of the firm reveal greater profits, interesting contrasts in the amount of store rent, clerk hire, and other expenses of operation, large volume of tobacco handled in the 1850's, and storage and sale of tobacco during the Civil War period. After 1865 the records reveal a great volume of trade in Peruvian guano and commercial fertilizers, and less ability on the part of Grasty and Rison to pay bills.

Among the business correspondence are letters from such firms and commission houses as Haxall and Crenshaw Flour Mills and J. W. Cardwell and Company, manufacturers of farm machinery, both of Richmond, Virginia; Thomas M. and Edwin M. Holt, early cotton mill operators at Haw River, North Carolina; Kettlewell Manipulated Guano Company and John L. Reese of the Soluble Pacific Guano Company, both of Baltimore; and Allison and Addison, producers of commercial fertilizers in Richmond. Included also are numerous letters from such planters as Isaac C. Carrington of Amelia County, Alexander Bruce of Halifax, and Samuel C. Shelton of Patrick County, Virginia. Many letters request that Grasty and Rison do errands of some type for the writers, especially in the collection of hire for slaves. There are also letters of William H. Wooding and one Claiborne, relatives by marriage of William Clark Grasty and at times associates with him in business.

Of the comparatively small proportion of personal letters, those of John S. Grasty, a Presbyterian minister, are most valuable. His letters, 1849-67, to his brother, William Clark Grasty, come successively from Yanceyville and Madison, North Carolina; Fincastle in Botetourt County, Virginia; and Shelbyville, Kentucky, dealing with farming lands in the vicinity of Yanceyville, the collection of money for the hire of slaves, accounts of Union sympathies among the Dutch of Botetourt County, and destruction of life and property in local fighting around Fincastle.

The volumes constitute very complete records of the business, including account books, daybooks, fee books, invoices, ledgers, memorandum books, records of sales, shopwork and tobacco purchases, inventories, and letterpress copy-books.

683. JAMES T. GRAVES ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1848-71. 2 vols. Stantonsburg, N. C.

684. JOHN BRECKENRIDGE GRAYSON PAPERS, 1847-53. 9 items. (Gaines' Mill, Va.)

Papers of John B. Grayson, veteran of the Mexican War, including checks and receipts of disbursements for supplies during the Mexican War, and a letter, 1853, concerning the purchase of a farm.

685. DUFF GREEN PAPERS AND RECORDS, 1817 (1822-75) 1894. 1,127 items and 156 vols. Falmouth, Va.

Business records of Duff Green (d. ca. 1854), merchant and manufacturer but only slightly related to the editor and industrial promoter of the same name, and of the former's son, McDuff, and of their partners and successors in a business dealing in various types of produce, including wheat, flour, textile products, general merchandise, etc. The firm at first consisted of Duff Green, and later of a younger Duff Green and Son, the son apparently being William J. Green (d. ca. 1871). At times a part of the firm, probably the section controlling a part of the textile industry, was Green and Lane. Later Green and Scott was the firm name. As Duff Green and Son, the firm manufactured cotton and exchanged merchandise for wool, raw cotton, etc. The Greens, Scotts, and Lanes were related by the marriage.

Unbound papers include business and a few personal letters. Bound volumes consist of records of the Bellemont and Eagle flour mills and other flour mills; and cotton factories, generally as branches of the Falmouth Manufacturing Company, owned and operated by the Greens, Scotts, and Lanes; general mercantile establishment with large patronage; and full accounts of the operation of Elm Cotton Factory, where Osnaburgs, sail duck, bagging, wagon tents, etc., were manufactured as early as 1842; records of the inspection of flour; and dividends accruing to the various partners. Mercantile ledgers and daybooks reveal the types of goods in demand as farm equipment: Osnaburgs, ground plaster, flour, clover seed, and sundries. Among the types of unbound volumes are daybooks; ledgers; account books; records of cotton purchased, wood hauled, cloth shipped, flour sent by boat, and wheat hauled; cashbooks; memoranda; baling books; wool-carding books; time books; records of production, cash sales, and expenses; letter books; invoices; notes and bills; and receiving and delivery books.

The records seem fairly evenly divided between flour milling, general merchandise, and textile manufacture. One letter book, 1824-32, contains copies of letters from William C. Beale relative to purchasing wheat and hauling it, sale of flour, Richmond flour mills and flour mills in Fredericksburg and Falmouth, shipments of products, and references to Duff Green. A letterpress copybook, 1867-70, contains copies of orders for spindles and iron cards; and another, 1867, contains records of shipments of cotton goods to Baltimore by Green and Scott. Some volumes indicate ownership by George J. Lightner and by John M. O'Bannon; both, however, seem to have had business connections with Duff Green. The records reflect also the gradual emergence of Fredericksburg as a business center and the consequent decline of Falmouth.

Included also is a letter of Hampton's father, Wade Hampton (1752-1835), relative to an Indian expedition.

731. JOHN FRANCIS HAMTRAMCK PAPERS, 1795 (1802-48) 1849. 1,541 items. Shepherdstown, Va. (now W. Va.)

Family and business correspondence of John Francis Hamtramck (1798-1858), graduate of U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, U. S. Indian agent for the Osage Indians, colonel in the Mexican War, and planter. The collection may be divided as follows: letters of Hamtramck's father, Colonel John Francis Hamtramck (also spelled Hamtranck); papers of Walter Selby, Shepherdstown merchant and father of Hamtramck's second and third wives; a few letters to and from Mary Williamson, evidently Hamtramck's first wife, written while she was in school at St. Joseph's Academy, near Emmittsburg, Maryland; a letter from Mary R. Hamtramck to her father, John F. Hamtramck, while attending school at the Ladies' Academy of the Visitation, Georgetown, D. C., in 1834; letters of William Clark to Indian agents; family and business letters of Jesse Burgess Thomas; and papers relating to the Mexican War. The last group constitutes over half the collection and contains many letters of prominent men. Among the correspondents are W. G. Belknap, A. A. Chôteau, J. F. H. Claiborne, William Clark, C. Cushing, F. A. Dickins, J. A. Early, J. H. Eaton, G. Izard, Irvin McDowell, T. G. McKenney, W. L. Marcy, Wm. Smith, J. B. Thomas, and John C. Wool.

732. AMMON G. HANCOCK PAPERS, 1846-55. 345 items. Lynchburg, Va.

Business papers of Ammon G. Hancock (d. 1888), tobacco dealer. The letters to Hancock are generally from tobacco manufacturers and exporters of Richmond, with accounts of the Richmond tobacco market and orders for tobacco. Included also are similar letters from dealers and manufacturers in New York City, Petersburg, Virginia, New Orleans, Louisiana; and orders from the long-established English firm of John K. Gilliat and Company of London.

Accounts of a dealer in general merchandise.

739. WILLIAM JOSEPH HARDEE PAPERS, 1863-71. 3 items. Selma, Ala.

Correspondence and papers of William Joseph Hardee (1815-73), graduate of U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, officer in the Mexican War, and Confederate brigadier general. Included are a letter, 1863, written from Tullahoma, Tennessee, to Lieutenant Colonel George W. Brent, giving a full account of the Confederate maneuvers after the campaign in Kentucky; a receipt given Major Norman B. Smith for a mule; and a business letter, 1871, to John L. Bridgers, of Tarboro, North Carolina.

740. EDWARD HARDEN PAPERS, 1772 (1803-84) 1930. 2,013 items and 12 vols. Athens, Ga.

Political, family, and business papers of Edward Harden (1784-1849), planter and politician; of his second wife, Mary Ann Elizabeth (Randolph) Harden (1794-1874); of their son, Edward Randolph Harden (1815-84), telegraph operator and lawyer; of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth Greenhill Harden (1811-87); and of Edward Randolph Harden's children. The papers of Edward Harden cover a variety of subjects, including a diary with information concerning the operation of "Silk Hope," a rice plantation, near Savannah, with inventory of equipment and work done during 1827; lists of slaves; references to "Mulberry Grove" and "Oak Grove" plantations; courtship letters to Mary Ann Elizabeth Randolph, who became his second wife in 1810; letters to his wife concerning farm work to be done in his absence; letters of Peter Randolph, father-in-law of Harden; letters to his wife while in the Georgia legislature in 1825; and letters and papers of Harden relative to his duties as counsel for the Cherokee Indians, U. S. marshal in Georgia, 1843, collector of the port of Savannah, 1844, and Indian Commissioner in Washington, 1846-47. Especially valuable are the letters of Harden written from Washington during 1846-47 concerning Washington society, office seekers, bureaucracy, James K. Polk and Sarah (Childress) Polk, Dolly (Payne) Todd Madison, and Washington society and gossip in general. Included also are numerous letters from Howell Cobb concerning his efforts to obtain political offices for Harden; land grants; commissions; passports; hotel bills; and letters of introduction relative to a tour of Europe made by Harden and his family in 1819; legal papers consisting chiefly of depositions, letters, and notes pertaining to Harden's law practice; letters relative to the course of study and tuition fees of Harden's daughter, Mary, while at the Latouche School in Savannah; letters connected with the activities of the Georgia Historical Society; and information regarding Thomas Spalding of Sapelo Island, and Howell Cobb, a close friend of Harden. Throughout Harden's papers there are numerous deeds, letters of dismissal, and other papers pertaining to the Mars Hill Baptist Church; references to various individuals in Athens, Georgia, to which place Harden removed in 1830 to conduct a law school. Included also are many receipts; a few account books and diaries; and a long account, by Harden, of his appointment to and removal from the collectorship of the port of Savannah.

In the early years of the collection Mary Ann Elizabeth (Randolph) Harden's letters are to her husband; later to her daughter, Mary Elizabeth Greenhill Harden, while the latter attended school in Savannah; to her son, Edward Randolph Harden, while he attended the University of Georgia, Athens, in 1829-30.

From the death of Edward Harden until 1860, the bulk of his widow's papers are concerned with efforts to get land warrants for her husband's services in the War of 1812, and from 1865 until her death, with efforts to obtain a pension on the same grounds.

Letters of Edward Randolph Harden begin in 1854 with his arrival in Nebraska in the capacity of judge of the first court in the territory of Nebraska; these letters continue until 1856 and give many interesting facts concerned with conditions in Nebraska at that time. There are other letters of young Harden and of his daughter, Anna, and other children to Mary Ann Elizabeth (Randolph) Harden during 1859-60 and during and after the Civil War, all reflecting general poverty of the family and conditions of the time. Edward Randolph Harden, as an officer of the Georgia state troops, wrote often on the activities of the army; and, as a civilian, he reveals in his letters much of prices and living conditions. Harden's letters after the Civil War give accounts of his removal from the vicinity of Rome to Cuthbert and later to Quitman, all in Georgia; and his desultory practice of law supplemented by storekeeping and, in 1870, by work as a census enumerator. The collection also contains numerous letters of the Jackson family, relatives of the Hardens, during the Civil War and later.

Mary Elizabeth Greenhill Harden received many of the letters in the collection, including a proposal of marriage from John Howard Payne, author of "Home! Sweet Home!" whom she had met when the former visited Georgia in the interest of the Cherokee Indians. According to tradition her father refused to allow the match. The collection contains other proposals, all of which she refused.

Throughout the collection are frequent letters from Henrietta Jane (Harden) Wayne, daughter of Edward Harden by his first marriage and wife of James Moore Wayne's nephew. Henrietta J. (Harden) Wayne lived in Savannah; and her letters, spanning a long period, give many details of life and people there, including mention of James Moore Wayne (1790-1867).

Among the correspondents are J. M. Berrien, B. H. Brewster, J. E. Brown, Howell Cobb, W. C. Dawson, W. A. Haralson, B. H. Hill, Amos Kendall, J. H. Lumpkin, J. H. Payne, Richard Rush, T. J. Rusk, Thomas Spalding, William H. Stiles, I. K. Telft, G. M. Troup, J. M. Wayne, and Lewis Williams.

754. CHARLES J. HARRIS PAPERS, 1850 (1854-70) 1913. 368 items. Macon, Ga.

Personal correspondence of Charles J. Harris (1834-92), lawyer, Georgia legislator, and colonel in the Confederate Army, and of his wife, Mary C. (Wiley) Harris. The earlier portion of the collection consists of Mary C. (Wiley) Harris's bills, school reports, and letters while she was a student at a school conducted by the Misses Gill in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. One letter, 1885, from Miss Gill comments on the literature of the period.

755. DAVID BULLOCK HARRIS PAPERS, 1789 (1829-94). 4,924 items and 8 vols. Frederickshall (Louisa County), Va.

Business and personal correspondence of David B. Harris (1814-64), tobacco exporter and Confederate general; and of his father, wife, and children. David B. Harris's father, Frederick Harris, while in the Virginia House of Delegates, wrote letters to his wife and later to David B. Harris. Otherwise the papers reflect the career of David B. Harris, many being concerned with the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, while Harris was a student, 1829-33. Included also are many letters relating to Harris's tobacco business in Virginia and Kentucky; and to the Civil War, with military papers and maps. There are also many letters to Harris's widow, usually from her children; many receipts and account books relating to the tobacco business; prices current; statements of J. K. Gilliat and Company, tobacco importers in London; and letters of N. W. Harris, brother of David B., concerning the tobacco business; letters from William T. Barrett, brother-in-law and partner of Harris in Kentucky; and letters concerning Harris's successful venture in trading with Brazil, exchanging flour for coffee. Among the correspondents are P. G. T. Beauregard, D. H. Mahan, and Sylvanus Thayer.

756. E. M. HARRIS PAPERS, 1862-64. 9 items. Cartersville, Ga.

760. JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS PAPERS, 1870-1908. 12 items. Atlanta, Ga.

Letters of Joel Chandler Harris (1848-1908), author and humorist, to Georgia (Harrison) Starke and Nora-Belle Starke, sister and niece respectively of James P. Harrison, editor of the Monroe Advertiser of Forsyth, Georgia, and onetime employer of Harris. The letters give accounts of the vicissitudes of Harris's career as a newspaperman and contain occasional comment on his own literary works and those of his contemporaries. In one letter he mentions that his verses "To Nora Belle" have been pronounced "very fine" by Paul Hayne. Several earlier letters, of an introspective cast, give the author's own account of his character and personality. Included also is a letter of application, probably to Stilson Hutchins of the Washington (Ga.) Post, and a note to Miss Jeannette Gilder concerning his "Plough-Hands' Song." [Partially published: Julia C. Harris, Life and Letters of Joel Chandler Harris (New York, 1918).]

Family and business correspondence of Thomas W. Harriss (1795-1870), a tobacco planter, including letters to members of the family in Tennessee and Mississippi, and correspondence, 1870-91, of Harriss's son, Thomas. Included in the collection are an inventory of the property of Elias Harriss; accounts giving prices of cotton, tobacco, and various small commodities; and letters concerning the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, commission merchants in North Carolina and Virginia, treatment of slaves in Mississippi, the Panacea Springs in Halifax County, North Carolina, Andrew Jackson, erection of the "Philanthropic Hall" at the University of North Carolina in 1837, the Warrenton Temperance Association in 1842, a dinner honoring John C. Calhoun in 1842, Randolph-Macon College, Boydton, Virginia, and Dr. Charles F. Deems (1854?), the Pioneer Agricultural Club in Halifax County, North Carolina, in 1882, and Harriss's nomination for house of commons in the North Carolina legislature. Among the correspondents are Lawrence O'B. Branch, I. Harriss, Thomas W. Harriss, William H. Harriss, and Edmund Ruffin.

773. ALBERT BUSHNELL HART PAPERS, 1890-1924. 103 items. Cambridge, Mass.

Correspondence, clippings, and pamphlets of Albert Bushnell Hart (1854-1943), professor and historian of Harvard University. The collection may be divided into three distinct parts: letters and pamphlets, 1890-92, concerned with the writing and publishing of Fugitive Slaves (Cambridge, 1891), written by Marion Gleason McDougall under the direction of Hart, with financial assistance from Anna Boynton Thompson; letters and clippings concerned with the inaccuracies of a speech delivered by Julian S. Carr of Durham, North Carolina, at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, June 3, 1916; and correspondence, 1919-24, concerned with an academic debate between Hart and Lyon Gardiner Tyler of the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, on the founding of the United States and on various aspects of the Civil War. Among the pamphlets and clippings are Dr. Lyon G. Tyler's pamphlet, Virginia First; circulars advertising the book Fugitive Slaves; an American History Leaflet of November, 1893, edited by Hart and concerned with "Ordinances of Secession"; "The African Riddle," an article by Hart printed in the Saturday Evening Post, October 28, 1905; and articles on the size of the Confederate Army. Among the correspondents are Henry Nichols Blake, Ginn and Company, Albert Bushnell Hart, Marion Gleason McDougall, Mildred Lewis Rutherford, Anna Boynton Thompson, and Lyon Gardiner Tyler.

786. ARTHUR PERONNEAU HAYNE PAPERS, 1845; 1859. 2 items. Charleston, S. C.

One letter from Arthur P. Hayne (1790-1867), soldier, lawyer, and U. S. senator, 1858-59, to Robert J. Walker contains some information on the presidential campaign of 1844; the other, from Mitchell King, gives the qualifications of a good English grammar.

787. PAUL HAMILTON HAYNE PAPERS, 1815 (1848-90) 1927. 4:579 items and 31 vols. Charleston, S. C., and "Copse Hill," Columbia County, Ga.

Correspondence, papers, notes, clippings, and works of Paul Hamilton Hayne (1830-86), Southern poet and editor of Russell's Magazine; of his wife, Mary Middleton (Michel) Hayne; and of his son, William Hamilton Hayne (1856-1929). During Hayne's early years, many letters and copies of letters are from him to his wife, to Richard Henry Stoddard, to John Esten Cooke, and to many others. Hayne's letters cover a variety of subjects including, before the Civil War, comments on abolition in Boston, a trip to Boston in 1854, literature in the South, lecture tours, Bostonians and Southerners, plans for Russell's Magazine, secession, Bayard Taylor, Theodore Parker, W. G. Simms, E. B. Browning, Henry Timrod, T. B. Aldrich, J. R. Thompson, D. F. Jamison, and various other events and people, the latter often confined to literary figures. During the war period his letters mention the attack on Charleston, the Federal blockade, possibility of recognition of the Confederate States of America by France and England, Northern and Southern military leaders, Negro uprisings, and Southern periodicals. From 1865 until his death, Hayne's letters cover a variety of subjects, although in general they deal with literary criticism, publishers, and authors, including practically every Southern writer of any importance at the time, Northern writers, and English authors. There are also letters from many of these authors to Hayne with criticism of various literary works. Hayne's letters contain frequent uncomplimentary references to Walt Whitman and William Dean Howells, evidences of Hayne's friendship with John G. Whittier, references to Alfred, Lord Tennyson, A. T. Bledsoe, Charles Reade, Charles Dickens, and a host of others. Along political lines there is mention of the Freedmen's Bureau, greenback currency, Reconstruction, Negroes, "Yankeeisation" of the South, general political and economic conditions during the Reconstruction period, Southern indifference to literature, and letters of encouragement to younger writers. The correspondence furnishes a vast store of information on the activity of Southern literary figures, their poverty, the newspapers and periodicals of the North and South, and a growing affiliation between Southern writers and Northern publishers, especially in Hayne's case. There are also comments on trips to the North made by Hayne after 1865. Ten of Hayne's diaries, 1864-85, consist largely of notations of letters received and answered; and four scrapbooks, and numerous clippings, often contain literary comment. Included also are many of Hayne's literary works, chiefly those already published.

Among the first papers of the collection are family letters from Hayne's father, also Paul Hamilton Hayne, an officer in the U. S. Navy, and letters concerning the early death of Hayne's father. During the same period there are letters to Robert Y. Hayne relative to family affairs, tariff, Nullification, the Palmetto Flag, John C. Calhoun, and the generally disturbed period of the early 1830's and 1850's. Included also are many letters from various literary figures to Mary Middleton (Michel) Hayne after the death of her husband, and likewise copies of her letters to literary figures, generally with reference to Hayne's career. Nineteen diaries and literary notebooks, and numerous clippings of Hayne's son, William Hamilton Hayne, include titles of and payments received for articles and poems of the son, comments on business relations with publishers, newspaper notices of his literary works, criticisms of readings and plays, numerous references to his father, domestic side lights, and notes on life in Charleston, South Carolina.

Among the more frequent correspondents are the following: Isaac W. Avery, Charlotte F. Bates, P. G. T. Beauregard, J. B. Bense, R. D. Blackmore, E. W. Bok, G. H. Booker, W. H. Browne, H. Butterworth, G. H. Calvert, E. B. Carpenter, E. B. Cheesborough, T. S. Collier, Wilkie Collins, D. M. Craik, R. H. Dana, 809. EDWARD BRODNAX HICKS AND DAVID S. HICKS PAPERS, 1800 (1836-94) 1913. 3,503 items and 13 vols. Lawrenceville (Brunswick County), Va.

Business, personal, and legal correspondence of Edward B. Hicks (d. 1858), lawyer and planter, and of his son, David S. Hicks, lawyer, planter, and land agent. Papers of Edward B. Hicks include jockey club dues, records connected with his duties as sheriff in 1821 and possibly later, and with Hick's position as superintendent of schools in Brunswick County in 1847. Included also is an extensive series of letters and papers relating to the operation, in partnership with John W. Paup, of a plantation at Red River, Arkansas, in 1837 and later. Letters also show that Hicks engaged in the business of selling slaves at New Orleans, Louisiana, during 1852. Other interesting letters are from Lewis Taylor on the War of 1812 and another, in 1817, relative to disturbances at Princeton College, Princeton, New Jersey, caused by refusal of professors to accept state bank notes.

Centering around David S. Hicks after 1858, the papers are largely legal documents, notes, and correspondence concerned with his law practice and the administration of the estate of Edward B. Hicks. The most continuous series among these legal papers is a set of letters from Legh R. Page, a Richmond attorney. Papers also pertain to the efforts of Hicks and one Turnbull to sell lands in Brunswick County to Northerners. Included also are records of Hicks's activities as judge of Brunswick County, as dealer in Texas lands, and as an organizer of the Atlantic and Danville Railroad. One letter, June 30, 1866, from D. J. Claiborne, Jr., concerns Southern Negro congressmen. Fifteen letters from General Thomas Ewing are concerned with the Atlantic and Danville Railroad. The volumes, generally mercantile records, evidently fell into the collection as a result of Hicks's legal practice and duties as sheriff.

Family and personal correspondence of Joel Edgar Hill, mail clerk and school-teacher, generally from his father, brothers, sisters, and women friends. Most interesting are the letters of Hill's father during 1877 while Joel Hill lived in Washington, D. C., suggesting that he see Z. B. Vance or Matt W. Ransom about a government position. Included also are many letters of Jesse Walling, of Washington, with comments on Julia Marlowe and Joseph Jefferson. The letters of Hill's brother, W. Lee Hill, reflect the career of the latter in medical school in Baltimore, Maryland, and as a physician in Cranberry, Lexington, and Stokes County, all in North Carolina.

819. N. HILL PAPERS, 1862-63. 3 items. York County, S. C.

Personal letters from N. Hill, Confederate soldier in the South Carolina Volunteers, to his wife; and a letter from Fannie Nicholson, a student at Greensboro Female College, North Carolina.

820. HENRY WASHINGTON HILLIARD PAPERS, 1843-89. 6 items. Atlanta, Ga.

Correspondence of Henry W. Hilliard (1808-92), chargé d'affaires to Belgium, concerning personal matters, responses to autograph collectors, and his efforts to obtain a copy of The Bench and Bar of Mississippi. The letter of 1868, addressed to Chief Justice S. P. Chase, refers to hearings on the proposed trial of Jefferson Davis, and mentions the visit of Chase's daughter, Kate (Chase) Sprague, and son-in-law, Governor William Sprague of Rhode Island, to Augusta, Georgia.

821. JOSEPH HILLIARD ACCOUNT BOOK, 1827-42. 1 vol. n.p.

832. WILLIAM BROWN HODGSON PAPERS, 1826-57. 17 items. Savannah, Ga.

Correspondence of William B. Hodgson (1801-71), author, linguist, and diplomat. The bulk of the correspondence was written from Algiers to Peter Force, J. Q. Adams, and John McLean by Hodgson during 1826-28, while chargé d'affaires at Algiers, and is concerned with relations between Algeria, England, and France, with emphasis on tactlessness of French and English consuls, and description of the country. Other letters to Hodgson deal with accounts of tribes in the Sahara Desert, the discovery of fossils near Savannah, a cholera epidemic among slaves in 1849, and accounts of Hodgson's travels in Italy during 1850-51. Ten of the letters are photostatic copies.

833. JOHN W. HODNETT PAPERS, 1861-63. 6 items. (Meriwether County) Ga.

Letters of John W. Hodnett, Confederate soldier, to his brother, sister, and father, with comments on the hardships of war and the various battles and campaigns in which he was engaged.

Accounts of the estate of Joseph Hoff.

835. THOMAS P. HOGE PAPERS, 1863-64. 3 items. Halifax County, Va.

A letter from Thomas P. Hoge concerning his efforts to have his plantation overseer exempted from military service in 1863; a family letter from his sons, Whit and Moses, Confederate privates, 1863; and a letter from his wife, Mary C. Hoge, revealing her anxiety for the safety of her sons, 1864.

836. GAVIN HOGG PAPERS, 1810-1901. 252 items. Raleigh, N. C.

Personal, family, business, and political correspondence of Gavin Hogg (1788-1835), lawyer, officer in 1st North Carolina Regiment, 1812-14, and one of the founders of St. Mary's College, Raleigh, North Carolina; of his son, Thomas Devereux Hogg (1823-1904), physician and philanthropist; of William Theophilus Dortch (1824-89), lawyer, Confederate senator, member of North Carolina legislature, and director of the Western North Carolina Railroad; and of various relatives of these individuals.

During the early years the materials consist of Gavin Hogg's oath of allegiance, his license to practice law, and legal papers including accounts, deeds, promissory notes, information bearing on John S. Wheeler's guardianship of Eliza A. Clifton, advertisement of the sale of land, and drafts on John S. Bryan.

From 1820 to 1832 the papers, with the exception of a few items relative to Gavin Hogg's legal practice, consist of personal and business correspondence between Gavin Hogg and his uncle, John Hogg (1765-1826), merchant of Wilmington and Fayetteville, North Carolina, and cashier of the Bank of the Cape Fear, concerning personal finances and sale of slaves by John Hogg to Gavin Hogg; included also are lists of Gavin Hogg's property; occasional mention of General W. W. Jones, of Hillsboro, North Carolina; a few letters from Gavin Hogg to James C. Johnston, of "Hayes," Edenton, North Carolina; legal papers; and numerous letters of Samuel Dickins to Thomas P. Devereux and Gavin Hogg relative to lands in Tennessee. There is one letter, 1832, from Mary Hogg in London to her nephew, Gavin Hogg.

After 1835 the correspondence revolves around Thomas Devereux Hogg, son of Gavin Hogg, and concerns the former's education at Isaac Webb's preparatory school at Middletown, Connecticut, and at the College of New Jersey at Princeton. Included are catalogues of the Webb School and a circular from Princeton. Thomas D. Hogg married Janet Bryan, and some of the letters are to members of the Bryan family. Included also are the following: a certificate and a letter concerning the death in Scotland of Margaret Hogg, who was a great aunt of Thomas Devereux Hogg; occasional letters to Mrs. Lydia Lindsay (d. 1845), wife of W. R. Lindsay of Greensboro, North Carolina; a notice from the patrol to assemble in Raleigh in 1851; letters from Thomas Devereux Hogg while in Europe during 1859, and his passport; electoral tickets for the state of Virginia for the Confederate presidential election of 1861; and a letter of Hogg to his daughter, November 28, 1865, containing comments on politics with the inference that "Mr. Winston" and "Mr. Rayner" were trying to get Federal positions.

After 1865 the correspondence, though sparse, generally centers around the legal practice of W. T. Dortch, father of Isaac Foote Dortch, who married Lucy Hogg, daughter of Thomas Devereux Hogg.

Included also is a letter from Miss Ellen Mordecai, May 14, 1878, and one or two addressed to Samuel Fox Mordecai, material which evidently came into the collection by the marriage of Gavin Hogg Dortch (d. 1943) and Margaret Lane Turk, daughter of William A. and Mary Willis (Mordecai) Turk.

Among the undated items are the following: part of a letter from Walter Hines Page; a pamphlet entitled Resolutions and Address to the Wake County Working-Men's Association; an essay by Thomas D. Hogg on railroads leading from the United States to Mexico; a snapshot of the old Dortch home in Nash County, North Carolina; a list of births and deaths of several members of the Hogg, Taylor, and Webb families; and the fragment of a letter from Drury Lacy.

Among the correspondents are C. B. Aycock, W. T. Dortch, T. M. Drown, James Iredell, Drury Lacy, B. F. Moore, W. H. Page, D. L. Swain, and Z. B. Vance.

848. GEORGE FREDERICK HOLMES PAPERS, 1772 (1846-1931). 3,072 items and 65 vols. Charlottesville, Va.

Correspondence, notes, diaries, and literary works of George Frederick Holmes (1820-97), scholar, educator, author; and correspondence of William Howard Perkinson (1861-98), educator and son-in-law of Holmes; and of Perkinson's wife, Isabelle (Holmes) Perkinson (d. 1924); of their daughter, Isabelle (Perkinson) Williamson (1893-1930); and of Joseph Henry Herndon Holmes (1794-1831) and Mary Ann (Pemberton) Holmes (1790-ca. 1862), father and mother of George Frederick Holmes.

The papers of Joseph Henry Herndon Holmes, barrister of Demerara, British Guiana, consist of treatises on contracts and exchange of money, fragments of poetry, poems, his will, and pictures. Among the papers of Mary Ann (Pemberton) Holmes are the following: a brief record of her life in Demerara with interesting comments on the people and the country, family history and genealogy, personal letters, epitaphs, and verses of Stephen Pemberton written while attending Oriel College, Oxford, England.

The papers of George Frederick Holmes, the most important of the collection, are chiefly concerned with family affairs, including financial troubles, and accounts from his wife, Eliza Lavalette (Floyd) Holmes, of the unsatisfactory performance of Negro servants; accounts of Holmes's connection with educational institutions, notably Richmond College, Virginia, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, the University of Mississippi, Oxford, and the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. The correspondence throws considerable light on dissensions in the Board of Visitors at the College of William and Mary in 1848. The collection consists of Holmes's correspondence with leading literary figures and educators of the South; notes and works on almost every phase of philology, grammar, history, political science, and economics; notes for lectures; articles and manuscripts for books and periodicals; lists of students; examination questions; and dairies which cover a great part of the period from 1856 to 1891. Among Holmes's papers no single piece contains such valuable records as a letter book covering the period from 1834 to 1874 and containing contemporary copies of letters, in Holmes's hand, of many notable figures, among whom are E. E. Bellinger, Auguste Comte, J. D. B. DeBow, Thos. R. Dew, R. T. W. Duke, Wm. H. Ellett, Geo. Fitzhugh, John B. Floyd, Wm. Harper, R. P. Howison, R. W. Hughes, D. F. Jamison, Wm. S. Lewis, Francis Lieber, P. N. Lynch, Jno. McClintock, Cornelius Mathews, W. S. Martin, B. B. Minor, W. G. Minor, T. V. Moore, J. D. Munford, Edw. Nicholson, Wm. Ogilby, Cotesworth Pinckney, J. D. Pope, Wm. C. Preston, Jas. Ryder, W. G. Simms, R. W. Singleton, A. G. Summer, Jno. R. Thompson, Jas. H. Thornwell, Samuel Tyler, and D. K. Whitaker.

Papers of William Howard Perkinson are confined to a few records of his work as professor of Latin and Greek at the University of Virginia, a few business papers, and records of the administration of the estate of George Frederick Holmes. Some of Perkinson's letters to his wife give glimpses of the management of the University and of his work. M. Schele De Vere and W. Gordon McCabe, as well as a number of scholars in England, were among Perkinson's correspondents.

The remainder of the collection, falling largely in the years 1909-30, centers around Isabelle (Holmes) Perkinson and her daughter, Isabelle Perkinson, who later married Lee Hoomes Williamson. Included are many letters to Isabelle (Holmes) Perkinson from former students who had patronized her boarding-house in Charlottesville; letters from her daughter while the latter attended the Georgetown Visitation Convent, Georgetown, D. C.; while on a tour of Europe during 1909 and 1910; while on a round of visits in Virginia and in the Panama Canal Zone; while working in the Navy Department in Washington, 1913-17; and after her marriage in 1917, while in Rancagua, Chile, and Puerto Rico with her husband, who was an engineer. Many letters of this period are to and from Isabelle (Perkinson) Williamson and her husband. Letters of Isabelle (Holmes) Perkinson to her daughter in 1909 and 1910 give many interesting comments on life in Charlottesville and on Edwin A. Alderman. Among the papers of the former are many notes and bills indicative of harassed finances. Included in the collection also are numerous letters and papers relative to the European War, 1914-18, food cards, and letters from soldiers and war workers. Of particular interest are the letters of Mary Peyton, who was with a field hospital unit in France. Many letters contain comments on the early moving pictures; and generally reflect the giddy life of the 1920's and foreshadow the depression of 1929. Among the many letters are two from Ellen Glasgow.

849. ISAAC EDWARD HOLMES PAPERS, 1841-59. 9 items. Charleston, S. C.

859. JOHN BELL HOOD PAPERS, 1864; n. d. 2 items. Nashville, Tenn.

A letter, 1864, from John Bell Hood (1831-79), lieutenant general in the Confederate Army, to General Joseph Wheeler asking his co-operation in a charge about to be made, and an undated report to Secretary of War James A. Seddon concerning an engagement at Franklin, Tennessee.

860. JOHN HOOK PAPERS, 1752 (1790-1823) 1889. 5,250 items and 102 vols. Halesford (Franklin County), Va.

Letters, papers, and mercantile records of John Hook (1745-1808), wealthy Scottish merchant and Tory; of the mercantile firm of Hook's son-in-law, Bowker Preston and Smithson H. Davis at Goose Creek, Bedford County, Virginia; and of a similar firm of Asa, Smithson H., and Alexander G. Holland and John D. Booth at Halesford and Germantown, both in Franklin County, the Holland family apparently being connected with the Hook family by marriage.

The records of John Hook are comprised of daybooks, ledgers, letter books, and memoranda of the mercantile firm of Ross and Hook at New London, Campbell County, Virginia, 1771-84, branch stores at Bedford Court House and Falling River in Bedford County, and of John Hook's mercantile establishment in Halesford from 1784 to 1808. These records reflect the nature of goods in common use, the volume of trade, the large trade in iron, the manufacture of plantation tools at Hook's blacksmith shop, and the operation of his distillery. Concerning the mercantile operations are various memoranda and notes kept by Hook relative to debts due him, places of abode of the debtors, and the type of security for the debts, schedule of court days in the various counties of Virginia, inventories of goods, and letters relative to the operation of his business. Many of the records reveal information on the operation of Hook's valuable plantations, two in Franklin County and one in Montgomery County; much concerning the purchase, prizing, and shipment of tobacco, usually on the barter basis; and information on large-scale purchase of Revolutionary land warrants with long lists of land owned by Hook.

A great proportion of Hook's papers relate to sequestration proceedings brought against him by David Ross, his partner in business from 1771 until after the Revolution. Concerning the suit are numerous depositions, explanations, histories of the operation of the firm, letters, inventories, lists of questions to be asked of his lawyers (Edmund Randolph and Philip Norborne Nicholas) and witnesses, copies of letters and documents, and petitions to the Court for various concessions. About the suit of sequestration are many papers and letters relative to Hook's efforts to recover from Congressman George Hancock a slave whom his enemies claimed to have been a free Negro kidnapped and held in slavery. Included are long lists of slaves, many papers concerning Hook's determination to serve as administrator of the estate of an Englishman, Jeffrey Gresley, who had owed Hook a large sum, many papers concerning the suit of sequestration after Hook's death, the administration of Hook's estate, and numerous depositions and other papers relative to the disposition of the estate of Henry Hook, son of John Hook.

Included also are microfilm copies of a few papers concerning Hook's troubles with the Bedford County Committee of Safety, and two letter books. The papers connected with the Committee of Safety consist of a summons, a rough draft of Hook's reply, his discharge from jail, his oath of allegiance, and others of a similar nature, all bearing on an accusation that Hook had disseminated pamphlets antagonistic to the American cause. The letter books, 1763-1784, are especially valuable, containing much information on mercantile pursuits in colonial Virginia, Hook's partnerships, analyses of trade opportunities at various locations, information on several Scottish merchants prominent in colonial Virginia and their connections in Scotland. Included also is much information concerning David Ross and his connections with Hook before the Hook-Ross suit was started. Among the letters there is information on Hook's family life, his wife, his children, his father and his father's family in Scotland, and his brothers in Jamaica.

Records centering around Bowker Preston and Smithson H. Davis pertain to the operation of mercantile establishments at Goose Creek and Falling River in Bedford County from 1813 until about 1830, with letters between the partners concerning goods purchased in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, New York City, and Richmond and Lynchburg, Virginia; the purchase, prizing, and sale of tobacco; disastrous effects of the panic of 1819; inventories of goods, including one in 1819 with the titles of many books and different types and styles of merchandise in common use; ledgers, daybooks, and other mercantile records; and personal letters to Preston after the dissolution of the firm.

Records pertaining to the Holland family are, with the exception of a constable's records, kept by Asa Holland while an officer of Franklin County, confined to ledgers, account books, and daybooks for the mercantile firms of Asa and Smithson H. Holland and John D. Booth.

Included also are manuscript arithmetic books kept by Robert Hook, Peter D. Holland, and John Hook, Jr., and numerous volumes containing accounts of the Ross-Hook lawsuit. Scattered through the papers and memoranda are various recipes for the cure of rheumatism, an affliction of both Hook and Preston. Among the correspondence are a few perfunctory letters from James Innes, H. H. Leavitt, B. W. Leigh, P. N. Nicholas, and Edmund Randolph. Included also are numerous documents signed by W. W. Hening and copies of Hook's letters and legal documents concerning the Ross-Hook suit.

861. JOHN HOOMES PAPERS, (1780-1800) 1810. 97 items. Bowling Green (Caroline County), Va.

Records and accounts of the brig Mars and correspondence of John Hoomes (d. 1805), Virginia tobacco merchant, with London merchants to whom he sold tobacco and from whom he bought dry goods; and letters dealing with Hoomes's purchase of horses from England. The collection relates to the price and quality of Virginia tobacco, general conditions of the market, difficulties of transportation, relations between English and American merchants, effects of European war on the markets, and the interest of Virginians in horse breeding during the eighteenth century.

862. JOHN WALTER HOOPER PAPERS, 1850-72. 7 items. Baltimore, Md.

A letter of condolence from John W. Hooper to his sister after the death of her daughter; and personal letters to his wife, written while he was on a trip to Dorchester County, Maryland.

863. WILLIAM HOOPER PAPERS, 1848-90. 27 items. Chapel Hill, N. C.

Letters of William Hooper's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edward Jones Hooper, and of members of collateral lines of the family, dealing with strictly personal matters. William Hooper (1792-1876) served as professor of ancient languages at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1817-22, 1827-38, and as president of Wake Forest College, North Carolina, 1846-48.

864. WILLIAM HOOPER PAPERS, 1867. 3 items. Wilson, N. C.

Letters from William Hooper, who with his brothers, J. D. and Thomas C. Hooper, and R. F. Hunt, comprised the faculty of the Wilson Female Seminary, to Maria J. Beattie, a graduate of Edgeworth Seminary, Greensboro, North Carolina, concerning her qualifications for teaching in the Wilson Female Seminary.

Register of guests and grocery accounts of a small, unidentified inn.

903. JAMES IREDELL PAPERS, 1767 (1771-1830) 1856. 122 items. Edenton, N. C.

Family, political, legal, and personal correspondence of James Iredell (1751-99), statesman and jurist; of his wife, Hannah (Johnston) Iredell; and of their son, James Iredell (1788-1853), governor of North Carolina, 1827, U. S. senator, 1828-31, and attorney.

Much of the correspondence centering around the elder Iredell is from friends and relatives in England and Ireland. Letters from his cousin Margaret McCartney, of Bristol, England, to Iredell during the 1770's give accounts of her travels in Ireland and England; of the people whom she met; of Isaac Weld, the famous traveler and a friend of Iredell; of news and gossip of Bristol friends and a reference to Sir Nathaniel Duckenfield. One letter, 1767, to George McCartney, is from Laurence Sterne relative to his literary work. The remaining correspondence from England consists of letters from Henry Eustace McCulloh, a relative of Iredell and a large landholder in North Carolina. McCulloh's letters contain comments on many events and personages in North Carolina, including the sale of lands, activities of the legislature, "Colonel Harvey, Mr. Hewes, and Mr. Frohock," sentiment in North Carolina during and after the Revolution, and the "Mecklenburg affair." McCulloh wrote, October 2, 1775, in answer to Iredell's letter of July, 1775, that he, McCulloh, had heard of the "Mecklenburg affair long before I read your letter." The chief content of McCulloh's letters bears on his efforts to obtain titles to his land in North Carolina and the unfair character of the Confiscation Act. Other letters to Iredell with contemporary copies of his letters are concerned with John Rutledge, election of 1796, personal relations with the Mease family of Philadelphia, the schooling of Iredell's children, and politics in Virginia. The correspondence contains little relative to Iredell's duties as associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Correspondence centering around Iredell's son, also named James, contains legal correspondence and papers, references to his schooling at Princeton College, Princeton, New Jersey, congratulations upon his election to the governorship of North Carolina, requests for aid in obtaining appointments to the U. S. Military and Naval academies, defalcation of a Federal employee of Elizabeth City, public lands, Andrew Jackson's political standing in North Carolina, and a description of Picot's school for young ladies in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where Iredell wished to send his daughter. Included also are a few letters to the elder Iredell's wife, Hannah (Johnston) Iredell, notably those of one P. Lowther, describing the people and customs around Yorktown, Virginia, and the Page family at Rosewell. There are also a few letters from the children of the younger Iredell. Among the correspondents are John Branch, J. C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Oliver Ellsworth, R. Y. Hayne, Jas. Iredell, Chas. Lee, Henry Lee, H. E. McCulloh, Jno. Marshall, A. Nielson, T. Pickering, Z. Taylor, and J. Tyler.

904. JARED IRWIN PAPERS, 1797. 3 items. Washington County, Ga.

Letters to Jared Irwin (1785-1818), governor of Georgia, 1796-97. One letter, from Captain Webb, justifies his action in attempting to protect the Indians, and another, from John M. Berrien, advises the appointment of a justice to the inferior court following the resignation of Joseph Habersham.

905. RALPH IZARD PAPERS, 1775; 1821. 2 items. Charleston, S. C.

One letter from Ralph Izard (1742-1804), delegate to the Continental Congress, 1782-83, and U. S. senator from South Carolina, 1789-95, describes the condition of the colonies in 1775 and the activities of Governor James Wright. The other letter is from George Izard, son of Ralph, to James Gibson, explaining the reason for delaying payment of a debt.

906. ANDREW JACKSON PAPERS, 1796 (1814-43). 40 items. Nashville, Tenn.

Letters from Andrew Jackson (1767-1845), general in the U. S. Army and president of the United States, 1829-37, chiefly on military and Indian affairs. There are discussions of an engagement with the British at Mobile, 1814; raids of the Creek and Seminole Indians; affairs of the military department of the South when Jackson was in command, 1816; and construction of a military road from Nashville to New Orleans, 1816. Several letters to General T. S. Jesup concern action in the Seminole Wars, 1835-42. There are also political letters during and after Jackson's presidency. Especially interesting is a photostatic copy of a letter to John Rhea which throws light on the Rhea-Jackson relations and the break with John C. Calhoun.

907. ASA JACKSON SURVEY RECORDS, 1833-56. 3 vols. Leesburg, Va.

Records of land surveyed by Asa Jackson in and around Loudoun County, Virginia.

908. ASA H. JACKSON ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1844-72. 4 vols. Athens, Ga.

Accounts dealing with Asa H. Jackson's business as a dry goods merchant of Athens, and one volume of commissary accounts for the 44th Georgia Regiment, 1864.

909. EBENEZER JACKSON LETTER BOOK, 1801-20. 2 vols. Savannah, Ga.

Correspondence of Ebenezer Jackson, apparently secretary of the Tennessee Land Company, concerning the bush lands of Georgia ceded by the Indians; stock in the Tennessee Land Company, 1816; the climate of Savannah; the prospect of a compromise between Congress and claimants of Georgia lands, 1813; speculation in sea-island cotton; cotton and rice prices; and the War of 1812. Among the correspondents and persons mentioned are Benjamin Abbott, John

M. Berrien, Samuel Dexter, Jos. Habersham, Benjamin Ivey (?), Amasa Jackson, Charles Jackson, Michael Jackson, Sarah Jackson, Simon Jackson, John Law, Horatio Marbury, and Josiah Tattnall.

910. JAMES JACKSON PAPERS, 1782-99. 11 items. Savannah, Ga.

Personal, legal, and military correspondence of James Jackson (1757-1806), governor of Georgia and U. S. senator. A number of letters are concerned with supplies for the militia, the duty of preventing landing in Georgia of Negroes from the West Indies, and trouble with Indians. Others pertain to legal cases, including one letter from Jackson to Joseph Clay protesting the filing of a judgment against the former. Jackson, in one letter, comments on William Few's supposed activities in fomenting a movement to exclude lawyers from Richmond County. Included also are two letters from Jackson to Edward Langworthy relative to materials for a history of Georgia and with comments on David Ramsay's history of South Carolina and the part played by Georgia in the Revolutionary War. Among the correspondents are Thomas Hamilton, Jas. Jackson, and John Wreath.

911. THOMAS JONATHAN JACKSON PAPERS, 1855 (1861-65) 1906. 2,570 items. Lexington, Va.

Personal and military papers of "Stonewall" Jackson (1824-63), general in the Confederate Army. The bulk of the collection is for the period 1861-65 and consists of commissary papers, vouchers of Jackson's command, requests from soldiers for furloughs, description of movements around Staunton, Virginia, in 1862, and directions for the care of Jackson's papers. Among the more personal items, 1855-1906, are a letter, 1855, from Jackson to his aunt (Clementine Neal); a letter, 1861, from Jackson to Colonel James Walkinsham Allen, requesting permission to allow the Jefferson County soldiers to march to Shepherdstown to vote; a letter to General P. G. T. Beauregard regarding captured property; a letter, 1862, to S. Bassett French concerning religious denominations opposed to war; and references to enemy movements around Harpers Ferry, and appointments of men to office. Among the other persons mentioned are Judge Armistead Burwell, Mary Anna (Morrison) Jackson, and Mrs. Robert T. Meade.

912. THOMAS P. JACKSON ACCOUNT BOOK, 1820-26. 1 vol. Traveller's Rest, S. C.

Accounts of Thomas P. Jackson, apparently a merchant and blacksmith, dealing also in whiskey.

913. JAEGER [?] DIARY, 1885-94. 1 vol. Rustburg, Va.

915. DAVID FLAVEL JAMISON PAPERS, 1859-62. 5 items. Barnwell District, S. C.

Correspondence of David F. Jamison (1810-64), planter, author, and South Carolina politician, referring to the purchase of a plantation, secession in Georgia, and conditions during the Civil War.

916. RICHARD E. JAKUES PAPERS, 1863-65. 55 items. Charleston, S. C.

Correspondence between Richard E. Jaques, Confederate private, and his fiancée, Miss L. A. Syme, with interesting side lights on camp life, bombardment of Charleston, January 22, 1864, blockade runners, and lack of home necessities and luxuries among the Confederate women.

917. ISAAC A. JARRATT AND TYRE GLEN PAPERS, 1807 (1830-90) 1918. 2,068 items and 6 vols. Huntsville, N. C.

Correspondence and papers of Isaac A. Jarratt, soldier in the War of 1812, landholder, merchant, and distiller; and a few letters of the Clingman, Puryear, Pickett, Kerr, Poindexter, and Hunt families. The collection concerns Mary Jarratt's attending St. Mary's College in Raleigh, North Carolina; Augustus Jarratt's attending the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and conditions there preceding the Civil War; the Creek War of 1836; a survey of Wilson, North Carolina, 1851; frontier conditions in Texas; the Civil War, including troop movements, conditions in the Confederate Army, lists of absentees, official orders for enrolling new age groups, conscription lists, casualty lists, payments to widows, and home conditions; freed slaves; the fate of the South; conditions in California; whiskey taxes; conditions in Missouri in 1870; a Texas counterfeit affair in which A. B. Clingman was unjustly suspected; and the Jarratt family's business affairs. There are many letters from Frank Cash and Thomas Vestal. Four volumes include plantation and mercantile records and accounts of the estate of William Randolph, for which Jarratt was administrator.

Included also by reason of his having been a business partner of Jarratt, 1830-35, are the papers of Tyre Glen (d. 1875), slave trader, general merchant, planter, and postmaster. They contain, in addition to copious information on slave trading in the 1830's and 1840's, references to Glen's Union sympathies and claims for horses confiscated by the U. S. Army; farming; exemptions from the Confederate Army; a mutilated circular concerning regulations of the Confederate Navy School at Richmond, Virginia; Richmond (Va.) Female Institute, and Basil Manly, Jr.; St. Mary's College at Raleigh, North Carolina; and the Baptist Church in North Carolina. Two volumes include accounts of slaves, mercantile interests, and general expenses.

918. THOMAS JORDAN JARVIS PAPERS, 1879; 1891. 2 items. Greenville, N. C.

Letters from Thomas Jordan Jarvis (1836-1915), Confederate captain, North Carolina governor, 1879-85, minister to Brazil, 1885-89, and U. S. senator, replying to biographers who sought information on his career.

Business and family papers of George W. Johnson, postmaster, justice of the peace, general merchant, and farmer; of his brother and business partner, James M. Johnson; of George W. Johnson's son, Francis Marion Johnson; and of other members of the family. The collection contains letters to George W. Johnson from friends in Tennessee relative to agricultural and economic conditions there, 1838-44; letters between George W. and James M. Johnson while one or the other bought goods in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, before the Civil War; bills, accounts, receipts, orders, promissory notes, and letters of a business nature, including occasional reference to another brother of George W. Johnson, Hiram, who had a financial interest in the mercantile establishment; numerous letters from George W. Johnson and his wife, Martha Johnson, as well as friends, including one at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, to Francis Marion Johnson while the latter was a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1855-58; letters, 1858-61, from another brother of George W. Johnson, J. H. Johnson, who was operating a store at East Bend in Yadkin County, North Carolina, as well as references to the debt of Olin High School, North Carolina, notices of meetings of "Mocksville Lodge No. 134," letters to Martha Johnson from her daughter, Jennie, while a student at Greensboro Female College, North Carolina, 1857-59, prices of foods and general commodities, letters from Eagle Mills, Buffalo Paper Mills, and W. Turner's cotton mill at Turnersburg, North Carolina, and bills of lading for various commodities.

Material during the Civil War period is limited to a few letters in 1863 from W. G. Johnson (younger brother of George W. Johnson) near Kinston, North Carolina; tax in kind returns and a petition from Francis Marion Johnson asking for military exemption on the basis of operating a grist mill. Postwar material consists largely of mercantile records of the Farmington store showing that goods were purchased from wholesale firms in New York City, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Richmond and Lynchburg, Virginia; Baltimore, Maryland; and Winston-Salem, Charlotte, Wilmington, and Salisbury, North Carolina.

Volumes consist of small notebooks, recording goods bought by George W. Johnson; daybooks; ledgers; numerous postal records; blacksmith accounts; itinerary of a journey made by George W. Johnson, S. Taylor, and D. N. Reynolds through North Carolina and Tennessee in 1836; minutes of the Farmington Lodge No. 46 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows; and the Davie County Division of the Sons of Temperance. Included also are a few business letters from Nathaniel Boyden and Son, and a letter to Francis M. Johnson from a friend in Norfolk, Virginia, describing a typhoid epidemic in 1855.

969. HENRY C. KEARNEY PAPERS, 1827 (1868-90) 1923. 36 items. Franklinton, N. C.

Business correspondence of Henry C. Kearney, evidently a planter and minor businessman, concerning prices and containing a number of excise tax receipts for tobacco and brandy.

870. JOSEPH KEIDING PAPERS, 1834. 2 items. New Albany, Ind.

Personal letters of a schoolteacher.

971. LAWRENCE MASSILLON KEITT PAPERS, 1855-64. 145 items. Orangeburg District, S. C.

Correspondence of Lawrence M. Keitt (1824-64), lawyer, member of U. S. Congress, 1852-61, and Confederate officer. The earlier letters are chiefly from Keitt to Susanna Sparks prior to their marriage; although personal, they contain some comment on politics, the American party, and Washington, D. C., society. The Civil War letters refer to politics, battles, campaigns, military strategy, and deserters and mutiny among the troops in January, 1864. Keitt was in command of the forces on Sullivan's Island, South Carolina, 1862-64. The last items are letters of condolence on Keitt's death in the Battle of Cold Harbor, June, 1864.

972. JOHN McINTOSH KELL PAPERS, 1841 (1842-65) 1889. 109 items and 3 vols. Darien, Ga.

Family correspondence of John M. Kell (1823-1900), U. S. naval officer, executive officer of C. S. S. Sumter and Alabama, and captain of the Confederate ironclad Richmond, consisting altogether of letters from Kell to his mother, Marjory Spalding (Baillie) Kell; to his wife, Julia Blanche (Munroe) Kell; and a few to his sisters. Beginning with Kell's first absence from home after his receiving a midshipman's warrant in 1841, his letters cover the period of his service in the U. S. Navy and in the Confederate Navy. There are some chronological gaps in the correspondence, generally not exceeding two years, but the occasional summarizing letters at the end of long cruises make the story of Kell's activities somewhat complete. The letters include names of ships on which Kell served; accounts of cruises; references to social activities on board ship and on land, especially at the Warrington Navy Yard near Pensacola, Florida; references to Commodore Matthew C. Perry and methods for obtaining a treaty with Japan; a description of the funeral of Commodore Alexander James Dallas in the bay of Callao, Peru, and near-by Bonavista; the countryside in the vicinity of Cape Town, South Africa; descriptions of Montevideo, Uruguay, accounts of customs there and references to President Carlos Antonio Lopez of Paraguay in 1858; and many comments regarding naval duties and officers.

After 1860 Kell's letters are concerned with his resignation from the U. S. Navy and his duties with the Confederate Navy. Included are references to the Warrington Navy Yard and its seizure by the state of Florida; Kell's prospective command of the C. S. S. Everglade; condition of the C. S. S. Savannah when he took command temporarily in 1861; running the blockade on C. S. S. Sumter from July 2, 1861, until June 17, 1862, and abandonment of the Sumter at Gibraltar as unfit for further service; his subsequent duties on board the C. S. S. Alabama under Captain Raphael Semmes and a graphic description of the capture of the Alabama's fifty-sixth prize near Cape Town, South Africa; a brief stay at Nassau, N. P., in the Bahama Islands; and several letters describing his duties as commander of the ironclad Richmond under Rear Admiral Raphael Semmes of the James River Squadron from January to March, 1865.

Among the personal and family matters, Kell's letters contain numerous references to agricultural conditions in Georgia; Sapelo Island off the coast of Georgia; his cousin Thomas Spalding and Spalding's son, Randolph, who married Kell's sister, Evy; his children; and his mother. Included also are an album, 1853-55, and scrapbooks, 1863, 1904, of Julia Blanche (Munroe) Kell. [Partially published: John McIntosh Kell, Recollections of a Naval Life, Washington, 1900.]

973. LAURA C. KEMP PAPERS, 1859-67. 62 items. Winchester, Va.

983. JOHN G. KEYTON PAPERS, 1861-64. 21 items. Rockingham County, Va.

Letters from John G. Keyton, a private in the Confederate Army, one letter containing comments on extreme hardships in 1864.

984. MICHAEL KIDWILER PAPERS, 1814-46. 32 items. Jefferson County, Va.

Receipts, bills, and other business papers of Michael Kidwiler (d. ca. 1834), a farmer; of his sons, Charles and Jacob Kidwiler; of his administrator, Richard Duffield; and of a justice of the peace, Joseph MacMurrin.

985. JOHN RICHARDSON KILBY PAPERS, 1755 (1840-90) 1919. 33,262 items. Suffolk, Va.

Legal and miscellaneous papers of John Richardson Kilby (1819-78) and of his son, Wilbur John Kilby (1850-1907), lawyers; and of members of the Riddick family. The great bulk of the papers is concerned with legal activities of the two Kilbys, including, during the 1840's, the case of Harriett Whitehead, whose mind had been impaired by the murder of all her family in the Nat Turner Insurrection, 1831. The legal papers are generally concerned with administration of estates, collection of bills, and adjustments of property. Included also are many letters and other records centering around local politics for Nansemond County, especially during the career of Wilbur John Kilby; references to free Negroes, one item listing school taxes assessed on free Negroes of St. Bride's, Portsmouth, and Elizabeth City parishes for 1845, and the will of Thomas Tarrt bequeathing freedom to his slaves (the will was contested in 1856); references to work of the American Colonization Society including attempts, in the 1850's, to arouse interest among free Negroes in the American Colonization Society, and one letter of a former slave, Randolph Kilby, who had been resettled in Liberia, giving in detail activities and conditions of Kilby's former slaves then in Liberia; and information relative to Richard H. Riddick, agent of the Albemarle Swamp Land Company and merchant at Pantego, North Carolina; letters of Riddick's wife, Missouri Riddick; and letters of a Confederate soldier to Anna Riddick relative to action around Fredericksburg and Shepherdstown, and a description of Midway Hospital at Charlottesville, all in Virginia. Other information includes scattered correspondence concerning activities of the Whigs during the 1850's; references to activities of the Methodist Episcopal Church before the Civil War; an account of the cholera epidemic in Suffolk during 1849; two letters from a merchant of St. Louis, Missouri, describing effects of the panic of 1857 and the Pikes Peak gold rush of 1859; a letter describing deplorable conditions in Charleston, South Carolina, with swaggering and plundering Negro soldiers on every corner; and a series of letters in 1891 and 1899 relative to the Negro Reformatory Association of Virginia.

1014. ELIE A. F. LAVALLETTE PAPERS, 1820 (1830-60) 1928. 558 items and 10 vols. Va. and Md.

Family and official correspondence and papers of Elie A. F. Lavallette (ca. 1790-1862), rear admiral of the U. S. Navy. Largely confined to official papers, the collection contains a brief biography of Lavallette; correspondence, 1846-47, bearing on Lavallette's administration as civil and military governor of Mazatlán, Mexico, which city he had captured; papers bearing on the capture of an American seaman in 1851 by Selim, king of the island of Johanna, while Lavallette served in the patrol of the African coast to suppress slave trade; many routine reports from subordinates to Lavallette and correspondence with the Portuguese concerning customs duties while the Mediterranean fleet's headquarters were at Porto Praya in the Cape Verde Islands; and information on the "Jaffa Affair," in which several American citizens were murdered at Jaffa, Syria, by five Turks. Included also are letters of Lavallette to his wife, Mary Lavallette, and from his son, Stephen Decatur Lavallette, generally in the period, 1826-48; papers on navigation by hydraulic methods; and a table of lighthouses on the island of Sicily, July 11, 1859. The ten volumes include a combination logbook and diary while on a South American cruise, 1820-22; two journals, 1833-35, containing weather observations, punishments administered to miscreant sailors, records of the sick, and amounts of supplies on board; four letter books, including letters of Lavallette to George Bancroft, A. B. Warford, and Lewis Warrington in 1846, chiefly regarding friction between Lavallette and Warford, engineer at the Memphis Navy Yard; letters to Francisco de Leon, Francisco Vidal, and other members of the Mazatlán Junta; to William B. Shubrick and Thomas ap Catesby Jones, 1847-48; routine letters from Lavallette to Samuel Barrow, William A. Graham, John P. Kennedy, William B. Shubrick, Daniel Webster, and various naval officers; a general order book; and a logbook of the frigate Congress. Among the correspondents are J. C. Dobbin, W. H. Gardener, Jas. Glynn, Francis H. Gregory, Isaac Hull, E. A. F. Lavallette, Robt. H. Leese, Uriah P. Levy, J. M. McIntosh, S. P. Quackenbush, Jos. J. Roberts (president of Liberia), Vicente Rocafuerte, Isaac G. 1015. WILLIAM LAW PAPERS, 1761 (1802-70) 1890. 1,811 items and 18 vols. Darlington, S. C.

Personal and business correspondence and papers of William Law (1792-1868), planter, merchant, and leader of the local militia; and of the DuBose family; and of Cyrus Bacot, with whom Law was connected by marriage. As captain of the Black Creek Militia, 1813-20, Law's papers include muster rolls, accounts of courts-martial, lists of absentees with their excuses, and numerous orders. Laws' plantation records are confined to frequent lists of slaves, accounts of cotton planted and produced, and weights of hogs killed. The bulk of the papers is concerned with Law's activities as a merchant in partnership with Daniel DuBose, including records of large amounts of cotton sold to Charleston commission merchants, of turpentine and bricks sold, and papers, bills, receipts, account books, daybooks, cashbooks, and ledgers. Included also are an account book of lumber sold by Law and Cyrus Bacot, and letters and papers showing Law's activities in the temperance movement and the Presbyterian Church. Personal letters, largely confined to the period after 1839, fall into three categories: letters of sympathy at the death of Law's wife in 1839; frequent letters from members of the Cooper and DuBose families; and letters from Law's brother, James Robert Law, who was often involved in financial difficulties. Letters from James Robert Law are concerned with planting operations in Sumter District, South Carolina, and, beginning with 1848, in Madison County, Florida.

Included also are a description of the Alabama River and its fertile lowlands by William I. DuBose written from Fort Claiborne, Monroe County, Mississippi, in 1815; accounts of a trip to Red Sulphur Springs as well as other springs in Virginia in 1835; a long account by James R. Law relative to a marl bed on his Sumter plantation, and Civil War letters from William Law's son revealing numerous incidents of camp life.

1016. ROBERT LAWSON PAPERS, 1776 (1781-87) 1825. 40 items. Richmond, Va.

Correspondence and papers of Robert Lawson (d. 1805), brigadier general of the Virginia Militia during the American Revolution. The material chiefly concerns army movements and military promotions, with a few letters on family affairs. There are also an account book containing a record of money granted Lawson for raising troops, and later letters indicating that Lawson had moved to Kentucky, having also considered South Carolina. Included also are a letter of America (Lawson) Lewis to Lafayette in 1825 sending him some of her father's papers for brief examinations, and routine letters of Thomas Jefferson while governor of Virginia. Among the correspondents are Jno. Beckley, S. Hardy, Thomas Jefferson, B. Lawson, R. Lawson, Richard Henry Lee, A. L. Lewis, J. P. G. Muhlenburg, T. Nelson, Frederick Wilhelm von Steuben, G. Weason, and O. H. Williams.

1021. ABNER JOHNSON AND FREDERICK P. LEAVENWORTH PAPERS AND MEMORANDUM BOOKS, 1822-1915. 1,411 items and 12 vols. Petersburg, Va.

Sermons and religious correspondence and memorandum books of Abner Johnson Leavenworth (1803-69), Presbyterian minister and educator, and of his son, Frederick. The collection contains material on the Leavenworth family genealogy, history, religious and missionary work, and sermons; a tuition ledger for Van Buren (Ark.) Female Seminary, 1860-62; and an autograph album, 1822. Included also are letters of the Civil War and Reconstruction periods and a journal describing the siege and fall of Petersburg as seen by a citizen of the town. Half the collection consists of sermons, although, during the ante-bellum years, there are many letters from theological students in Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New York. The volumes are autograph albums, memoranda, tuition ledgers, and genealogical notes of both Abner Johnson and Frederick P. Leavenworth. Among the correspondents are Calvin Colton, Harrison Gray Otis Dwight, Jeremiah Evarts, Samuel Lee, Benjamin Palmer, and Noah Porter.

1022. W. ROBERT LECKIE PAPERS, 1768 (1800-69) 1906. 1,742 items and 18 vols. Washington, D. C., and Palmer's Springs (Mecklenburg County), Va.

Business papers, 1768-1840, of W. Robert Leckie (d. 1839), military engineer; and plantation records of William Hendrick (d. ca. 1859), planter of Mecklenburg County, Virginia, and son-in-law of Leckie. The papers of W. Robert Leckie, who was educated in Scotland, are concerned with the construction of public buildings, canals, arsenals, aqueducts, fortifications, masonry of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, and surveying and building of walls in the District of Columbia. Included also are the records of a lawsuit between Leckie and James Couty; papers relative to experiments in the production of lime, cement, and bricks; nine letters from Isaac Roberdeau revealing practices of engineers of the period; and a 91-page report of the commissioners appointed by the president for planning the defense of the United States. This report, though undated, was probably made shortly after the War of 1812 and includes extensive details relative to the problems of defense, including topography, waterways, roadways, population, distances, and probable expenses of constructing forts. Some of Leckie's papers reflect his efforts to obtain contracts for the construction of such buildings as the Augusta Arsenal. Among the volumes also are the following: memorandum book of John Leckie, associated with his father; accounts, 1828-29, of engineering contracts and cement stone quarries at Shepherdstown, Virginia, Seneca (Md.?), Baltimore, Maryland, and a point near the Monocacy River; and a memorandum book containing data for surveying water lines, leveling streets, and building aqueducts in Georgetown and Washington, D. C.

The papers of Hendrick and those of his wife, after his death, constitute a long record of the sales of plantation products and the purchase of supplies from commission merchants in Petersburg, Virginia, and the operation of a series of corn and grain farms. Hendrick's children wrote letters from Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey, Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, and various academies which they attended. Among the volumes are children's writing books, plantation account books, a memorandum book, and accounts of a mercantile firm. The Leckie and Hendrick papers overlap, the collection containing also some records of Hendrick's forbears.

Letters to an unidentified physician from a Confederate soldier, describing conditions in army camps.

1024. PHILIP LUDWELL LEE LEDGER, 1743-83. 1 vol. Westmoreland County, Va.

1025. ROBERT EDWARD LEE PAPERS, 1749 (1850-66) 1904. 158 items and 4 vols. Arlington, Va.

Family and military correspondence of Robert E. Lee (1807-70), Confederate commander-in-chief; and of his descendants; and a few letters of Francis Lightfoot Lee, Richard Henry Lee, Henry Lee, and Mary Ann Randolph (Custis) Lee. The letters deal with many phases of Robert E. Lee's life from his marriage in 1832 until his death, including family and personal affairs, especially in his letters to a cousin, Mrs. Anna M. Fitzhugh; settlement of the Custis estate; and improvements at Arlington. During the Civil War the correspondence consists of official and family letters, the former containing much information on military activities. The postwar letters reveal details of domestic arrangements following the family's removal to Lexington, Virginia.

One volume contains 295 telegrams (collected and arranged by C. C. Jones, Jr., and published: D. S. Freeman, Lee's Dispatches, New York, 1915) sent by Lee from the field to Jefferson Davis and the Confederate War Department, many having been endorsed by James A. Seddon. These dispatches relate to troop movements, reports of the intelligence service, skirmishes, enemy activities, transportation of prisoners and wounded men, and other details of military operations. Included also are two scrapbooks of "Memorials to Lee" and a small notebook in R. E. Lee's hand, 1857-60, containing accounts of meat purchased for the Arlington household.

1034. THOMAS LENOIR PAPERS, 1771 (1779-1882) 1912. 1455 items and 10 vols. Caldwell County, N. C.

Business and family letters of Colonel Thomas Lenoir (1780-1861), of his father, General William Lenoir (1751-1839), and especially of Colonel Thomas Lenoir's eight children. The earlier papers include legal documents, a stud book, and family letters. Those of John Norwood (1727-1802) contain comments during the late 1790's on the spread and reception of deism in North Carolina and on the political situation in France and England; and one letter of Lewis Williams is concerned with Joseph Seawell Jones's A Defense of the Revolutionary History of the State of North Carolina . . . (Boston and Raleigh, 1834).

The majority of the collection, connected directly with Colonel Thomas Lenoir, consists of family papers concerning chiefly the settlement of the William Lenoir estate; the activities of the former's brother, William Ballard Lenoir (1781-1855) in Lenoir, Roane County, Tennessee; and the former's sons, Rufus Theodore and Walter Waightstill Lenoir, who were students at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. The most valuable letters are those concerning the livestock farming operations of Thomas Isaac Lenoir in Haywood County, North Carolina, before the Civil War.

There are but few Civil War letters. During the postwar period there are letters of Walter Waightstill Lenoir from Crab Orchard, probably in Haywood County, and Shulls Mills, Watauga County, North Carolina, containing references to North Carolina politics, including the role of W. W. Holden and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in North Carolina politics in 1866. There are also occasional treatises on diseases of cattle. Included also in this collection are letters of the Gwynn family and of the Pickens family of South Carolina, both related to the Lenoirs by marriage; of Rufus Theodore Lenoir and his sons at the University of North Carolina; of Julia A. Oertel, wife of a Protestant Episcopal minister and artist who came from Bavaria, Germany, and settled in Caldwell County, North Carolina; of Rufus T. Lenoir, Jr., as a student at Davis Military School, Winston, North Carolina, in 1893; and of Sarah Joyce Lenoir.

The volumes contain mercantile records; personal diary of Walter Waightstill Lenoir (1823-90), started while a student at the University of North Carolina, and concerned also with the death of his wife and with his career as an attorney; and lists of notes payable. There are also unbound pages from account books, receipts for dues paid the Protestant Episcopal Church, surveyor's field notes and plats made in 1885, legal papers of various types, French notes, deeds, warrants, and records of hearings before justices of the peace. Among the correspondents are W. J. Bingham, Calvin J. Cowles, Charles F. Deems, S. F. Patterson, and Lewis Williams.

1036. JOHN LETCHER PAPERS, 1850-97. 17 items. Lexington, Va.

Correspondence of John Letcher (1813-84), Virginia lawyer, editor, member of U. S. Congress, 1851-59, and governor of Virginia, 1860-64, dealing with naval appointments, the National Democratic Convention of 1856, constitutional reform in Virginia in 1850, and appointments to office, exemptions from Confederate military service, and impressment of slave labor for building fortifications around Richmond.

1037. BURWELL BOYKIN LEWIS PAPERS, 1843-94. 585 items. Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Family correspondence of Burwell Boykin Lewis (1838-85) and of his wife's family, the Garlands. Although the correspondence pertains mainly to family affairs, there are references to the Civil War, Reconstruction, railroad frauds in Alabama, the administration of the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Louise Lewis's stay in Paris, 1890-92, as an art student, and the development of the coal and iron industry in Alabama. Approximately one third of the letters, between Lewis and his wife, are personal in nature. Among the correspondents are Landon Cabell Garland, Burwell Boykin Lewis, Louise Lewis, and Lucinda Rose (Garland) Lewis.

1038. DIXON HALL LEWIS PAPERS, 1838. 2 items. Montgomery, Ala.

Letters of Dixon H. Lewis (1802-48), member of U. S. Congress, 1828-40, and U. S. senator, 1840-48, to David Hubbard of Alabama, asking for copies of speeches of Daniel Webster and urging Hubbard to tell the people to what extent members of Congress were bound to banks as stockholders or debtors.

1039. GEORGE W. LEWIS PAPERS, 1862. 4 items. Winchester, Va.

Photostatic copies of papers regarding the Louisiana Purchase, written partially in French.

1062. MATTHEW N. LOVE PAPERS, 1827 (1860-65) 1868. 121 items. Henderson County, N. C.

Family correspondence of Matthew N. Love, successively lieutenant, captain, major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel in the 25th North Carolina Volunteers of the Confederate Army; and of his four brothers, John Wesley, George W., S. Ervin, and Robert C. Love, all soldiers in the Confederate Army. A few papers prior to 1861 consist of such items as a commission to Matthew N. Love as captain of the Clear Creek Company in the 8th Regiment of North Carolina Militia in 1853, two certificates of Love as a teacher in the public schools, several letters from friends, and a few letters from relatives in South Carolina and Tennessee, including comments on the Whig party. One letter from Matthew N. Love in 1868 describes farming operations in the vicinity of Dardanelle, Arkansas, where he was cultivating cotton.

The bulk of the collection consists of letters written by the Love brothers while serving in the Confederate Army. Apparently the five brothers survived the Civil War. The letters were written from eastern South Carolina, eastern North Carolina, and the vicinity of Richmond, Virginia. The letters of John Wesley Love, evidently a lieutenant in 1863, and those of Matthew N. Love are well written. The correspondence contains comments relative to skirmishes, hard-fought battles, picket duty, food, methods of preparing food, deserters, terrain of the fighting, length of periods of service in the army, health of Henderson County boys in the Regiment, religious services in camp, and prices of general commodities. One letter from the sheriff of Henderson County to Matthew N. Love, June 14, 1861, orders that all free Negroes of Love's company be brought to the county seat in order to have their "free papers" arranged. Among the war correspondence are letters from a cousin guarding a bridge in East Tennessee from "tories" so plentiful in that area; and well-written letters from a girl cousin in Mississippi telling of war and war conditions in that state, especially after the fall of Vicksburg. Included also are a few copies of poems and songs, one poem having been composed in camp by a soldier upon parting with his friends "perhaps forever."

1063. ANNE LOVELL PAPERS, (1833-35) 1850. 7 items. Orangeburg, S. C.

Family letters of Anne Lovell (d. ca. 1835), an aunt of the wife of Langdon Cheves (1776-1857), member of U. S. Congress, 1810, with fragments of information about Cheves and his plantations near Savannah, Georgia, and Pendleton, South Carolina; and mention of a serious cholera epidemic in 1834. One letter, in 1850, is to one of the children of Cheves.

Correspondence of William Lowndes (1782-1822), South Carolina legislator, 1806-10, and member of U. S. Congress, 1811-22; and of his brother, Thomas Lowndes (1776-1843), South Carolina legislator, 1796-1800, and member of U. S. Congress, 1801-1805. The letters are chiefly personal and include a description of William Lowndes's death at sea. Among the correspondents are John Connel, Robert Wilson Gibbes, and Thomas and William Lowndes.

1065. EDWARD LUCAS PAPERS, 1821-68. 138 items. Charlestown, Va. (now W. Va.)

Legal, business, and personal correspondence of Edward Lucas (1780-1858), lawyer, merchant, and politician, a member of the Virginia House of Delegates, 1819-22, 1830, 1831, and of U. S. Congress, 1833-37. Included are letters from and to William Lucas (1800-77), member of Virginia House of Delegates, 1838-39, and of U. S. Congress, 1839-41, 1843-45, and delegate to Virginia constitutional convention, 1850-51. Largely of value for political comments, the letters contain references to the removal of the Indians from Alabama in 1833, John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson, Nullification, removal of bank deposits, and routine political letters concerning requests for positions, pensions, public lands, and general accounts of congressional activity. Included also are letters of Daniel D. Lucas, son of William Lucas, written while a student at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, 1850, with comments on his studies and professors.

1066. GEORGE LUMPKIN PAPERS, 1848; 1853. 2 items. Hermon, N. Y.

Personal letters from George Lumpkin to his sister, with a discussion of religion, crops, economic conditions, and some mention of his brother.

1067. THOMAS AND MARY BINGHAM LYNCH PAPERS, 1794 (1830-85) 1895. 581 items. Orange County, N. C.

Personal correspondence of the families of Thomas Lynch and of his wife, Mary (Bingham) Lynch. Included is material relative to Thomas Lynch, Presbyterian minister of the Orange Presbytery, 1794-1869; to his son, W. B. Lynch, who conducted an academy at High Point, North Carolina; and to Major Robert Bingham, head of Bingham School at Mebanesville, North Carolina.

1068. JAMES LYONS PAPERS, 1841-76. 4 items. Richmond, Va.

Correspondence of James Lyons (b. 1801), Virginia legislator and Confederate congressman, concerning an appointment for the former superintendent of the insane hospital at Williamsburg, Virginia, and delegates to the Southern Commercial Convention of 1858; and commenting on proposed legislation to expedite court action.

1069. APOLINARIO MABINI MANIFESTO, 1916. 1 vol. Manila, P. I.

1083. NO ENTRY.

1084. MARSHALL MacDONALD PAPERS, 1798 (1860-93) 1926. 3,838 items. Washington, D. C.

The MacDonald and McCormick family papers may be divided into five groups: scattered family and military correspondence, 1819-30, of A. W. MacDonald, Indian fighter, son of Colonel Angus MacDonald, who fled to Virginia after the Battle of Culloden, and grandfather of Marshall MacDonald; family letters, 1831-65, of the Reverend Robert T. Berry and the Griggs family of Charlestown, Virginia, and of Mary McCormick, later Marshall MacDonald's wife, and of her family; papers of Marshall MacDonald (1835-95), containing some Civil War letters; invoices, requisitions, and receipts of Marshall MacDonald while ordnance officer in the Confederate Army at Vicksburg; and letters and papers of the Reconstruction period. The bulk of material in the 1880's and the 1890's is concerned with fish culture and MacDonald's work as U. S. Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries; and the letters of Mary (McCormick) MacDonald, dealing with the organization and work of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Diary of a young girl, commenting on her friends and activities and including copies of poems.

1086. JOHN McDONOGH PAPERS, 1802 (1813-38) 1851. 100 items. Baltimore, Md., and New Orleans, La.

1093. ALLEN McFARLANE PAPERS, 1860-67. 11 items. Chesterfield District S. C.

Papers relating to the purchase of slaves, 1860, by Allen McFarlane, a South Carolina planter and president of the Cheraw and Coalfields Railroad Company; contracts between McFarlane and certain freedmen, 1866-67; a letter, May, 1862, addressed to the Cheraw Presbyterian Church, asking for the bells of that church for a Confederate foundry; and a requisition for slaves, February, 1865, for the defenses of South Carolina.

1094. CHARLES MACGILL PAPERS, 1793 (1830-78) 1906. 1,032 items. Hagerstown, Md.

Personal, business, political, and professional correspondence of Charles Macgill, Maryland surgeon and Confederate sympathizer, and of his family. Prior to the Civil War, the correspondence contains references to Macgill's political affiliations as a Van Buren elector in 1836; and numerous letters from Francis Thomas (1799-1876), member of the Maryland legislature and governor of Maryland, 1841-43, relative to politics and to the marital scandal in which Thomas was involved. Included also are documents bearing Thomas's signature commissioning Macgill as lieutenant colonel and later as colonel of the Maryland militia; several letters to Charles Macgill from his brother, James, stationed on the U.S.S. Potomac, relative to naval activities at Vera Cruz in 1847; and letters and circulars of the 1850's relative to Macgill's standing in his profession and his position as a member of the standing committee of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland.

The correspondence, following Macgill's imprisonment, October 1, 1861, first at Fort Lafayette, New York, and later at Fort Warren, Boston, Massachusetts, for his Confederate sympathies, bears on the divided sympathies of Maryland as a border state. Included are the letters of Charles Macgill and of his wife containing comments on his impatience and his treatment while imprisoned (until November, 1862); imprisonment of his son, James, at different times; wilful neglect of Confederate wounded, depredations against persons and property of Confederate sympathizers by Unionists; nursing sick and wounded Confederates by his wife, daughters, and nieces; high prices; agricultural activities; local gossip; and persons required to take the oath of allegiance, and indignities suffered by them upon refusal. Included also are letters from Francis Thomas relative to Macgill's refusal to take the oath of allegiance.

Warned not to return to Hagerstown in 1865, the family moved to Richmond, Virginia, and Macgill entered into partnership with George Proctor Kane (1820-78) in the Roanoke Tobacco Company of Danville, Virginia. Numerous letters and papers concerned with the venture, 1866-69, throw light on tobacco prices, machinery for its manufacture, possibility of combining scrap tobacco with bone dust for fertilizer, and numerous business transactions of the firm. Papers during the 1870's are concerned with the trial of Macgill by the Richmond Academy of Medicine for a minor breach of professional ethics. After 1877 the collection contains recommendations from political figures for General James Macgill, son of Dr. Charles Macgill, to aid the former in obtaining the office of commissioner to mark the graves of Confederate soldiers.

1095. JAMES McHENRY PAPERS, 1797-99. 51 items. New York City.

Typed copies of letters to James McHenry (1753-1816), secretary of war under George Washington, from William Vans Murray, minister to the Netherlands, dealing with relations between the United States and France; from Washington, dealing with appointments; and from Alexander Hamilton, dealing with Western lands.

The collection includes letters from his sons, Thomas A. and Franklin McNeill, commenting on their Civil War activities, including life at Fort Fisher, North Carolina, rations, and moral conditions among the soldiers; letters from Franklin McNeill while at Davidson College, North Carolina; letters from J. W. Malloy, a student at Davidson College in 1861, giving detailed observations on professors and college life; and correspondence of Hector H. McNeill with his colleagues, dealing with religious problems and the Presbyterian Church for the period 1835-61.

1111. NEILL McNEILL PAPERS, 1793 (1850-65) 1899. 146 items. Robeson County, N. C.

Letters and papers of Neill McNeill, first lieutenant of the 43d Regiment of North Carolina Militia, chairman of the board of common schools, and a justice of the peace. The correspondence concerns settlements in Alabama in 1847, Civil War activities around Richmond, Virginia, and agricultural conditions in Kemper County, Mississippi. Of especial interest are the papers, 1847-55, of McNeill, giving information on pupils, subjects taught, and teachers' salaries. Included also are incomplete weather reports for Robeson County for 1856-62, wills, indentures, property executions, and miscellaneous court records.

1112. ROBERT W. McNEILLY PAPERS, 1851-83. 11 items. Cleveland County, N. C.

Family correspondence, a deed, a marriage license, and an amnesty oath of Robert W. McNeilly. Among the correspondents are Peter Buff and W. L. Saunders.

1113. ALEXANDER GALLATIN McNUTT PAPERS, 1836-48. 4 items. Vicksburg, Miss.

Papers of Alexander G. McNutt (1802-46), lawyer and Mississippi senator and governor, including a letter on Mississippi land, a circular to probate courts, and political clippings concerning his opposition to the payment of the state debt.

1114. NATHANIEL MACON PAPERS, 1819-33. 5 items. Warren County, N. C.

Papers of Nathaniel Macon (1758-1837), Revolutionary figure and member of U. S. Congress, referring to his efforts to get material on the history of North Carolina, to the purchase of a horse, and to the death of John Randolph of Roanoke. Included also are copies of three letters to Judge Charles Tait regarding national politics in 1815. [These copies are published: Wm. K. Boyd (ed.), "Letters of Nathaniel Macon to Judge Charles Tait," Trinity College Historical Society Papers, Ser. VIII (1908-1909), pp. 3-5.]

1115. JOHN D. McPHERSON PAPERS, 1865-72. 5 items. Washington, D. C.

Professional correspondence of John D. McPherson, Washington lawyer, concerning cases likely to be heard by the U. S. Supreme Court. One client requests compensation for Negroes lost during the Civil War, and another asks for a pardon and for restoration of his vessel, the Trent, formerly in the service of the Confederate States of America.

1116. JOHN McQUEEN PAPERS, 1850-59. 6 items. Bennettsville, S. C.

Routine political correspondence of John McQueen (1804-67), member of U. S. Congress, 1849-60, and of the Confederate Congress, chiefly on appointments and recommendations for jobs.

1117. J. N. W. McRAE PAPERS, 1853; 1861. 2 items. Whiteville, N. C.

A personal letter, 1853, from Mary Ann G. McRae, and a letter, 1861, from a student at "Brook Hill Institute," commenting briefly on local reaction to the disturbed national situation.

1118. ANDREW GORDON MAGRATH PAPERS, 1870-89. 3 items. Charleston, S. C.

1120. JOHN BANKHEAD MAGRUDER REPORT, 1862. 1 vol. Richmond, Va.

Report of General John B. Magruder (1810-71) on his part in the Seven Days' Battles around Richmond in June, 1862.

1121. JOHN BOWIE MAGRUDER PAPERS, 1856-65. 16 items. Albemarle County, Va.

Letters from John Bowie Magruder (1839-63), as a student at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, 1856-59, and as a Confederate soldier, 1861-63, and letters written by his family and relatives after his death in the Battle of Gettysburg, July 3, 1863. The small collection is especially rich in Civil War material, with its description of modes of travel and inconveniences of camp life. An eighteen-page letter written from camp near Fredericksburg, Virginia, December 4, 1862, contains much information on "Yankee" depredations near Culpeper, Virginia, the second Battle of Manassas, 1862, camp life, and Magruder's personal affairs. A letter from a cousin to Magruder's family informs them of his death; and other family letters describe Sheridan's raids and the frantic efforts of the Magruders to hide foodstuffs, cattle, and personal valuables from the invaders.

1145. JAMES MURRAY MASON PAPERS, 1835-65. 10 items. Winchester, Va.

Personal and business correspondence of James M. Mason (1798-1871), member of U. S. Congress and Confederate commissioner to England and France. Eight of the letters, relative to social engagements and containing comments on the Civil War, are concerned with Mason's connection with A. J. Beresford-Hope in England. Other letters pertain to business matters.

1146. THOMSON FRANCIS MASON PAPERS, (1778-1844) 1886. 152 items. Alexandria, Va.

Letters and papers of Thomson Francis Mason (d. 1838), and of his father, Thomson Francis Mason (d. ca. 1820), and of the former's wife, Elizabeth (Price) Mason, and their children. The collection falls into four categories: papers showing the purchase of supplies from John Davis for Revolutionary soldiers from 1778 until 1781, evidently from the papers of Thomson F. Mason, the elder (d. ca. 1820); letters and papers of Thomson F. Mason (d. 1838) relative to the settlement of his father's estate, legal matters, sale of land during the 1820's and 1830's, and in 1837 an interesting lease of Mason's farm to Bailey Tyler with provision for "due rotation for the fallow crop" as well as the use of clover and plaster; letters of Elizabeth (Price) Mason to her children, especially Francis while at Princeton College, Princeton, New Jersey, and of friends and lawyers to her on business matters involving lawsuits over property; and, after 1850, letters to Francis Mason from his friends and sisters. The letters and papers centering around Elizabeth (Price) Mason are especially valuable, containing many references to family affairs, farming operations, and the Loudoun County estate owned by her husband and Richard H. Henderson, with comments on the difficulties of travel between her home, "Culross," near Alexandria, Virginia, and "Eagle's Rest," in Loudoun County, Virginia. Included also are letters from James Barbour, John J. Crittenden, John K. Griffin, and Eleanor Parke (Custis) Lewis. One letter from Carry Mason, daughter of Elizabeth (Price) Mason, contains an interesting reference to the superior character and ability of Robert E. Lee.

1162. ALEXANDER BEAUFORT MEEK PAPERS, 1839 (1841-65) 1875. 41 items and 5 vols. Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Correspondence, literary works, and diaries of Alexander Beaufort (apparently christened Alexander Black) Meek (1814-65), newspaper editor and author; and of his brother, Samuel Mills Meek (b. 1830). The correspondence is largely confined to a few letters, 1848-50, of Julia A. Mildred Harris with poems submitted to Meek for publication, including "Erin," "The Swiftness of Time," "Sacred to the Memory of Mrs. Amelisse Eslava," "New Year's Address for 1850," "Revenge," and "The World-Sick Man." Literary works of A. B. Meek include several poems, all apparently unpublished: "The Dream of the Dying Prophet"; "Air—Star-Spangled Banner"; "Proem! Prelude"; "The Pilgrims of Mt. Vernon"; and fragments of manuscripts. Included also are the holograph manuscripts of "To Egeria" and "The Nuptial Fête," published in Songs and Poems of the South (Mobile, 1857); and a lecture delivered before the Tuscaloosa Lyceum, "The Red Men of Alabama." There are also printed poems, largely carriers' addresses, and one holograph manuscript in two volumes of a published work, Red Eagle (New York, 1855, and Montgomery, 1914).

Of greater importance are two volumes of a boyish diary kept by A. B. Meek in 1834 and 1836. The first volume, though largely devoted to descriptions of feminine charms, contains many items of interest, including a short autobiographical sketch; many descriptions of church services; references to one Dr. Harden, a former president of Jackson College, a manual labor school of Maury County, Tennessee; references to members of the Alabama legislature; comments on his study of law and his reading of current literature; many references to Pfister's Book Store in Tuscaloosa; a biographical account of John M. Robinson (d. 1829), author of The Savage, Piomingo, A Headman and Warrior (Philadelphia, 1810); accounts of the Clintonian Debating Society and the Tuscaloosa Moot Court, organized by young lawyers; occasional poems; and an interesting account of the observation of July 4, 1834. The diary kept in 1836 is devoted to the "Florida Expedition" against the Seminole Indians in 1836 with references to the steamboat trip from Tuscaloosa to Tampa Bay; a stop in Mobile and attending the theater there; Fort Pickens and its fortifications; skirmishes with the Seminoles; his first view of sea island cotton; foraging; state of agriculture in Florida in 1836; unpalatable drinking water in Florida; the troops on the expedition; and the arrival of Generals Winfield Scott and Duncan L. Clinch. Included also is a list of the officers and men of Tuscaloosa and officers of the Alabama Regiment of Volunteers.

Among the several items connected with S. M. Meek is a diary, 1851-55, recounting his travels from Tuscaloosa via Columbus, Mississippi, to the Choctaw Agency, Oktibbeha County, Mississippi, at which latter place he taught school, and including descriptions of weddings, accounts of political rallies at Starkville, Mississippi, a debating society, his reading of current literature, camp meetings, Masons, frequent mention of Dr. Burt, brother of Armistead Burt, and frequent comments regarding girls. Included also are a long political letter from James S. Hamm in 1862 with an account of one Foote, probably Henry Stuart Foote; an address of Colonel S. M. Meek on the works of Robert Burns; and a scrapbook kept in 1865 relative to national politics.

1163. CHRISTOPHER GUSTAVUS MEMMINGER PAPERS, 1861. 4 items.

1170. WILLIAM H. E. MERRITT PAPERS, 1834-89. 211 items. Lawrenceville, Va.

Family correspondence and papers of William H. E. Merritt, Virginia legislator in 1866 and plantation owner. Included are letters from his brother, H. E. Merritt, of Vicksburg, Mississippi, concerning prices of commodities and slaves and the condition of Negroes after the Civil War; and a letter, 1865, from Alexander T. B. Merritt of Richmond, Virginia, expressing his low opinion of President Jefferson Davis and his civil and military staff and criticizing the events of the time. Included in the letters are references to the intentions of a slave to buy his freedom in 1858, possible use of slaves in the Confederate Army, life in the Confederate Army, capture of Roanoke Island, North Carolina, 1862, sick soldiers on the campus of the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, in 1861, soil erosion, and the new fence law.

1171. JOHN L. MERTENS PAPERS, 1844-53. 47 items. Petersburg, Va.

Letters from John L. Mertens, tobacco manufacturer of Petersburg, to his son in New Orleans, Louisiana, containing valuable information on tobacco prices, problems of selling the manufactured product, and labor in the plant at Petersburg.

1172. JEAN MESSIER TESTAMENT, 1729. 1 vol. Paris, France.

Extracts from a biography of Jean Messier, Catholic priest, with portions of his sermons.

1173. METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH, PAPERS AND RECORDS, 1759-1938. 833 items and 242 vols. Various places.

These records, widely varied in time and character, are for the most part confined to records of the North Carolina Methodist Episcopal Conference. Some few items, although not strictly records of the Southern division of the Methodist Episcopal Church, are listed under this heading for the sake of convenience. A description of the unbound papers follows, but the bound volumes are merely listed with dates and places, since the content is fairly obvious.

Outstanding among the unbound papers are the records of the North Carolina Conference consisting of quarterly conference minutes and accompanying reports for the Buckhorn circuit in Raleigh District, 1870-1901. Other items consist of quarterly conference minutes for the Cape Fear circuit, 1865-70, numerous historical sketches relating to Methodism and Methodist churches, various addresses, licenses, certificates of ministers and elders, ministerial trials and class books, two letters and a deed of Francis Asbury, a sermon by Thomas Coke and one by Jacob

Ker, miscellaneous letters, letters relative to the Duke Endowment Superannuate Fund, Virginia Conference Minutes, 1806, and North Carolina Methodists in World War I. Included also are copies of minutes of the Wisconsin Annual Conference for 1848-49, minutes of the quarterly conferences of the Pittsylvania circuit, Virginia, 1854-56, plan of union of Southern division with the Northern division of the Methodist church (judicial council), 1838, minutes and reports of the Sunday School board of the North Carolina Conference, 1926-31, and minutes and papers of the Women's Missionary Society of Duke Memorial Church, Durham, North Carolina, 1919-33.

Most important among the bound volumes are the journals of the North Carolina Conference, 1838-1913. Other records of the North Carolina Conference consist of an account book, 1887; statistics, 1886-89, 1894-1913; report on condition of the publishing house in Nashville, Tenn, 1917; and minutes of the North Carolina Conference Relief Society, 1838-47.

Records and minutes of quarterly conferences in North Carolina, constituting the greatest bulk of this collection, are listed below by location and date: Alamance circuit, 1893-1908; Ansonville circuit, 1860-81; Bath charge, 1849-94; Camden circuit, 1877-1909; Caswell circuit, 1844-76; Chatham circuit, 1833-71; Chowan charge, 1896-97; Columbia charge, 1892-95; 1900-1903, 1908-11; Dare charge, 1892-1903; Duke Memorial Church (Durham), 1899-1935; Durham District, 1895-1934; Main Street charge (Durham), 1906-10; Elizabeth circuit (Wilmington District), 1875-1907; Fifth Street charge (Wilmington), 1893-96, 1901-1904; Gates circuit, 1872-99, 1900-11; Guilford circuit, 1861-82; Hatteras charge, 1887-1911; Hertford charge, 1874-1904; Kittrell's Church, 1898-1903; Kitty Hawk charge, 1887-91, 1896-99, 1904-11; Leasburg charge, 1883-1930; Littleton District, 1914; Milton circuit, 1894-1901; Moyock charge, 1907-10; North Gates charge, 1889-1902, 1907-10; Pantego charge, 1896-98; Pasquotank charge, 1883-87, 1891-99, 1903-1906; Perquimans charge, 1891-1918; Pittsboro circuit, 1919-38; Randolph circuit, 1875-96, 1901-15, 1919-30; Roanoke Island charge, 1888-1911; Rockingham circuit, 1845-69; South Camden charge, 1899-1902; Washington District, 1887-1911; Wilmington District, 1888-92, 1897-1900, 1903-1905; Woodsdale charge, 1902-1908; Yanceyville charge, 1891-1902. The following records of quarterly conferences are from the Western North Carolina Conference: Polkville circuit, 1892-95; 1910-18, 1923-27; Rock Spring circuit (Lincoln County), 1828-80; Double Shoals circuit (near Shelby), 1884-87. One volume consists of quarterly conference records for the Loudoun circuit in the Virginia Conference, 1850-58, and one for the Mississippi Conference (Southeast), 1835-77.

Among the records of district conferences are the following, all in the North Carolina Conference: Leasburg, 1880-92; Durham, 1882-1910; New Bern, 1893-1909; Washington, 1896-1910; Wilmington, 1866-97; Wilson, 1892-94.

1202. STEPHEN MOORE ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1767-1852. 2 vols. Mt. Tirzah (Person County), N. C.

Mercantile records of Stephen Moore, lieutenant colonel in North Carolina militia and Revolutionary officer; and perhaps of his son or grandson. Stephen Moore supposedly came to North Carolina from western New York State, settling in Person County after the Revolutionary War. These records consist of an account kept in Quebec, Canada, 1767-70, with records indicating that he catered to outfitters of ships; and a section, 1799-1813, containing records of the settlement of Moore's estate in Person County. Included also is a merchant's daybook, 1845-52, kept at Mt. Tirzah.

1203. THOMAS MOORE COMMONPLACE BOOK, 1804-46. 1 vol. Havana, Cuba.

Commonplace book kept by Thomas Moore, a Liverpool merchant, while in Havana. Included are maps of various West Indian islands, pictures of harbors, tables of measures and weights, tables of exchange, current prices of staples, insurance rates, an oath required of free men of the Russia Company in 1804, and the distances in nautical miles from London to the leading cities of the world.

1204. W. S. MOORE PAPERS, 1862; 1863. 2 items. (Bardstown, Ky.?)

Letters from W. S. Moore, a Confederate soldier stationed at Fredericksburg, Virginia, mentioning skirmishes, picket duty, Northern newspapers, and family affairs.

1205. JACOB MORDECAI PAPERS, 1784 (1812-72) 1904. 2,806 items and 5 vols. Warrenton, N. C., and Richmond, Va.

Personal correspondence and papers of Jacob Mordecai (1762-1838), educator and progenitor of a family long prominent in North Carolina and Virginia; and of his children and grandchildren. The majority of the letters are of a personal nature, but they include several important series of letters, as follows: copies of letters from Rachel (Mordecai) Lazarus (1788-1838) to Maria Edgeworth, beginning in 1816; of Ellen Mordecai (1790-1884) to her brother, Solomon Mordecai (1792-1869), while he was a medical student at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and later as a physician in Mobile, Alabama; of Ellen Mordecai, regarding her long tenure as a teacher in her father's school at Warrenton, North Carolina, and later as a governess in New York City, 1848-52; of Caroline (Mordecai) Plunkett (1794-1862) and her husband, Achilles Plunkett (d. 1824), while they conducted a school at Warrenton, North Carolina, and of her later life as a teacher in Mobile; and of Alfred Mordecai (1804-87) to members of his family while a student at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, 1819-23. The correspondence is remarkable for frequent comment on literature of the day, for information on social life and customs in general, and especially in Warrenton and Richmond, and on life in Mobile, 1823-60. Letters of Samuel Mordecai (1786-1865) refer in part to his writing of Richmond in By-Gone Days (Richmond, 1856). Included also are Jacob Mordecai's ledger containing personal and school accounts, 1811-18; Samuel Mordecai and Company's ledger, 1839-65, Petersburg, Virginia; Isabel R. Mordecai's journals, 1858-61, Charleston, South Carolina; and Samuel Fox Mordecai's Latin notebook, 1870-71, kept while at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. [Letters, once a part of this collection and from Elizabeth Beverly (Mumford) Kennon and her daughter Sally Skipwith Kennon (later the wife of Commodore Arthur Sinclair), have been published in the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, XXX, 299-302; XXXI, 185-206, 296-313; XXXII, 76-87, 159-174, 265-280, 344-350; XXXIII, 65-75, 268-282; XXXIV, 120-129, 220-231, 322-338; XXXV, 13-21, 287-292; XXXVI, 170-174, 231-238, 363-370; XXXVII, 46-51, 143-153, 261-268, 335-338; XXXVIII, 157-166, 366-371; XXXIX, 46-52; XL, 63-69, 159-165. One letter from Samuel to Ellen Mordecai partially published by Jay B. Hubbell, "Poe's Mother: With a Note on John Allan," William and Mary College Quarterly, XXI (July, 1941), 250-254.]

Autobiography of Thomas Jefferson Page (1808-1900), commander of a U. S. naval expedition to South America, 1853-60, Confederate naval commander, and plantation owner in Argentina. Page's autobiography, written in his own hand, covers the first sixty years of his life and gives an account of his family, of his early naval experiences, of his expedition to South America, of his experiences as commander of the Confederate cruiser Stonewall, and of his life in Argentina as a rancher and adviser to the Argentine Navy.

Correspondence and papers of Thomas Nelson Page (1853-1922), author, lawyer, diplomat, and civic leader. Letters prior to 1880 include personal correspondence from various members of the Page family. Letters of the 1880's refer to Page's legal practice in Richmond, Virginia, the beginning of his literary career, his marriage to Anne Seddon Bruce in 1886, and her death in 1888. Correspondence of the 1890's portrays Page's activities as a lyceum entertainer; his marriage in 1893 to Florence (Lathrop) Field, widow of Henry Field, who was a brother of Marshall Field; their removal to Washington, D. C.; and Page's firm establishment in a literary career. The latter is revealed in extensive correspondence with the Scribner firm, with various literary personages, and with Confederate veterans. Numerous letters from the architectural firm of McKim, Meade, and White deal with construction of the Page residence in Washington. Page's leadership of the alumni campaign to raise funds for rebuilding the burned Rotunda of the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, is displayed in extensive correspondence continued into the next decade, when he led in raising the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Endowment. Letters from Moses Ezekiel concern statues, especially one of Thomas Jefferson, made by him for the University. Other letters throughout the collection reflect Page's interest in civic affairs, social reform, race relations, politics, travels in Europe, and an extended vacation in Egypt.

Of the many family and personal letters, the bulk passed between T. N. Page and his mother, Elizabeth Burwell (Nelson) Page, and brother, Rosewell Page, who lived at the ancestral estate, "Oakland," in Hanover County, Virginia. T. N. Page gave financial assistance in maintaining this home, and he owned other farms near by. His farming activities are revealed in correspondence with his tenants. Other letters show that Page gave considerable financial aid in educating various relatives, while other calls for charitable contributions were numerous.

Page's political activities are reflected in letters concerning the presidential campaigns of 1912 and 1916, and during this period he financed the Hanover Progress, a Democratic newspaper published at Ashland, Virginia. In 1913 Page was appointed ambassador to Italy. The correspondence thereafter falls into three categories: personal letters to members of the family describing new experiences in diplomatic life; routine and business correspondence; carbon copies of diplomatic dispatches to the U. S. State Department and to President Woodrow Wilson. The latter cover many phases of the European War, 1914-18, Page's efforts to conciliate Italy during the Versailles Peace Conference, 1919, and other details of the negotiations.

There are some literary manuscripts, chiefly addresses and articles, but none of Page's major literary works. Numerous royalty statements from Scribner's reveal the popularity of Page's books. Two scrapbooks contain cards and envelopes from distinguished persons, and clippings about Page's lyceum work.

Page's wide connections throughout his life resulted in letters from a great many persons of prominence, including C. F. Adams, C. Adler, H. M. Alden, E. A. Alderman, M. P. Andrews, J. M. Barrie, W. M. Baskervill, G. G. Battle, P. Bigelow, W. W. Bishop, C. N. Bliss, E. W. Bok, R. Bridges, W. C. Bruce, H. D. Bruns, Jas. Bryce, C. C. Buel, E. L. Burlingame, A. E. Burnaby, R. E. Byrd, G. Manly served as secretaries; accounts of dues, 1873-74; minutes, 1873-75; a list of the subordinate Granges of North Carolina with their masters and secretaries, begun by Alonzo T. Mial as general state agent, 1875-90; and circulars, pamphlets, and broadsides giving information on prices of commodities and farm products. Among the correspondents are N. P. Jones, Oliver Hudson Kelly, John Ott, and Thomas Stanley. Records and papers pertaining to the Cottage Grange and the Grange movement in Richland County, South Carolina, include manuals of subordinate granges, 1872-73; proceedings of the third session of the State Grange, 1875; and minutes, 1874-75.

1297. MRS. LINDSAY PATTERSON PAPERS, 1795 (1810-1925) 1939. 832 items and 10 vols. Winston-Salem, N. C.

Personal and business correspondence of Lucy Bramlette (Patterson) Patterson (1865-1942), literary figure and wife of Jesse Lindsay Patterson; and of the latter's grandfather, Samuel Finley Patterson, North Carolina politician and farmer.

The early portion of the collection abounds in information on Mrs. Patterson's family and that of her husband. The former, the Graham family of Tazewell, Claiborne County, Tennessee, were apparently merchants of some means. Besides mercantile affairs, their correspondence refers to purchases of land warrants and to the panic of 1819. There are also several account books for this period. Concerning Jesse Lindsay Patterson's family there are letters and papers of the Norwood, Lenoir, and Jones families, including information on the education of several of the Jones children at Salem (N. C.) Female Academy, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut, and on farming operations around Spartanburg, South Carolina.

The bulk of the early portion of the collection centers around Samuel Finley Patterson and gives information on Revolutionary land claims, sale of Cherokee lands, Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, Patterson's activities as a member of the North Carolina legislature, life at the University of North Carolina in 1849 and 1867 and at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, in 1869, Rufus T. Patterson's cotton factory and paper factory, and his dislike of the policies of Jefferson Davis and Judah P. Benjamin.

The papers of Mrs. Lindsay Patterson include her diploma from Salem Female College, letters written while she was traveling in Mexico and Europe during the 1880's, letters from prominent persons in response to invitations to speak at Salem Female College, information on the Patterson Cup awarded annually for the best literary production in North Carolina; letters from a few North Carolina literary figures; correspondence regarding the location of the Daniel Boone Trail; papers relative to Mrs. Patterson's service with the Kolo Serbski Sestara in caring for the orphans of Serbian soldiers and a few items relating to the visit of Queen Marie of Rumania to the United States; clippings of Lucy Bramlette (Patterson) Patterson's contributions to the Progressive Farmer, Raleigh, North Carolina; and an account of "The Groves," the home of Willie Jones.

Among the correspondents are C. B. Aycock, K. P. Battle, W. J. Bingham, Edward W. Bok, Locke Craig, Josephus Daniels, Dorothea L. Dix, John Haywood, William H. Haywood, Edwin Mims, John Charles McNeill, William Norwood, S. F. Patterson, Henry J. Stockard, C. Alphonso Smith, Z. B. Vance, and Henry Van Dyke.

1306. WILLIAM NELSON PENDLETON PAPERS, 1861-62. 173 items. Lexington, Va.

Letters and papers of William Nelson Pendleton (1809-83), Protestant Episcopal minister, chiefly concerning his services in the Confederate Army as a brigadier general and chief of artillery to Robert E. Lee. Included are commissions, telegrams, lists of ordnance, orders and requests for supplies, a list of captured material, special orders, contracts for supplies, a list of quartermaster's stores, and reports of officers. Among the correspondents are R. H. Chilton, Jubal A. Early, J. Gorgas, Wade Hampton, Joseph E. Johnston, Robert E. Lee, J. Letcher, and L. P. Walker.

1307. GREEN W. PENN PAPERS, 1764 (1830-70) 1894. 180 items. Patrick County, Va.

Family and business letters concerning Western migration and lands; and Civil War correspondence of Green W. Penn, a private in the Confederate Army. The collection contains information on the early days of the peddling of manufactured tobacco.

1308. JOHN PENN PAPERS, 1776-88. 4 items. Granville County, N. C.

Copy of a letter to John Penn (1740-88), signer of the Declaration of Independence for North Carolina, from John Adams, concerning the establishment of a new government in case the colonies should declare themselves independent; a copy of Penn's will from the original in the office of the clerk of superior court of Granville County; a sketch of Penn's life by John Taylor; and a letter written to T. M. Pittman regarding John Penn from D. W. Taylor, who was descended from Penn.

1309. S. M. PENNIMAN PAPERS, 1827-30. 12 items. New York City.

Personal letters from S. M. Penniman, New York merchant, to Mary Ann Tyler Peabody and her mother and sister, commenting on his connection with the Sunday School movement in New York.

1312. ALGERNON S. AND JEREMIAH PERRY PAPERS, 1761 (1830-50) 1891. 132 items. Franklin County, N. C.

Indentures, wills, other legal documents, and a few letters of the Perry family, large landowners and slaveholders. The most significant document is the will of Jeremiah Perry, father of Algernon Perry, 1838, leaving the property to his wife and ten children.

1313. ALLEN C. PERRY PAPERS, 1839-60. 10 items. Franklinton, N. C.

Family correspondence of Allen C. Perry, probably a planter, including an explanation of the grading system of Midway Academy, North Carolina, in which his son was enrolled.

1314. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN PERRY PAPERS, 1849-67. 8 items. Greenville, S. C.

Letters from Benjamin F. Perry (1805-86), prominent South Carolina Unionist, member of U. S. Congress, 1836-44, founder and editor of the Southern Patriot, and provisional governor of South Carolina, addressed to Armistead Burt of Abbeville, South Carolina, dealing with sequestration of property in 1863; the passage of civil rights bills; and private lawsuits.

1315. EBENEZER PERRY ACCOUNT BOOK, 1842-44. 1 vol. (N. C.?)

Accounts of a general merchant.

1316. THOMAS SERGEANT PERRY PAPERS, 1859-1929. 3,000 items and 42 vols. Hancock, N. H.

Microfilm copies of the correspondence and diaries of Thomas Sergeant Perry (1845-1928), a literary critic. The collection contains abundant comment on the art, music, politics, travel, and particularly the American and European literature of Perry's day. It includes also information on Boston and Harvard University, where Perry lived and taught; on Europe, where he lived for long periods; on Keiogijuku University, Tokyo, Japan, where he taught, 1898-1901; on various literary periodicals with which he was connected either by his contributions or by his friendship with the editors; on his violent opposition to the policies of both Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson; on the diary kept by his son-in-law, Joseph C. Grew, in Berlin; and war letters of Salomon Reinach in France during the European War, 1914-19; and on the social milieu in which Perry moved.

Literary correspondence forms the bulk of the collection and reflects Perry's leadership in the movement for realism. Among the correspondents are John Fiske, Edmund W. Gosse, M. A. De Wolfe Howe, Wm. D. Howells, G. W. James, Henry James, William James, Geo. F. Moore, J. T. Morse, Jr., L. E. Opdyke, W. L. Phelps, S. Reinach, Jas. F. Rhodes, Moorfield Storey, and J. A. Symonds.

1317. VESTAL W. PERRY PAPERS, 1831 (1860-90) 1900. 1,020 items and 1 vol. High Point, N. C.

Letters and papers of Vestal W. Perry, planter, operator of a country store and whiskey distillery, and justice of the peace. The collection contains a few legal papers; papers from the U. S. Internal Revenue Office regarding whiskey taxes; notes concerning purchases of fertilizer by tobacco farmers; and some information on farm conditions and prices in Missouri, and Indiana, 1866-86. Included also is a ledger of mercantile accounts.

1318. WILSON PERRY AND JAMES DAVIS PAPERS, 1839-78. 18 items. Perquimans County, N. C.

Letters and papers concerning the operation of a gristmill by Wilson Perry and James Davis near Woodville, North Carolina. One letter, 1865, written by the Federal assistant superintendent of Negro affairs orders Davis to free some Negroes.

1319. PRESLEY CARTER PERSON PAPERS, 1767 (1829-97) 1915. 2,500 items. Louisburg, N. C.

Miscellaneous bills, deeds, accounts, and correspondence of Presley C. Person (1770-1845); of his son, Thomas A. Person, and of his family; and of Willie Mangum Person (1862-1930), nephew of Thomas A. Person. The earliest papers are largely confined to deeds and copies of wills; later papers, centering around Presley C. Person, consist generally of letters and documents pertaining to the settlement of his estate with Thomas A. Person as administrator. The bulk of the collection concerns Thomas A. Person and his family, including legal papers; numerous letters in the 1840's and 1850's to Theophilus Perry from his father, Levin Perry, written from New Orleans, Louisiana, and Harrison County, Texas; letters during 1860 from Harriet (Person) Perry, wife of Theophilus Perry, in Texas, and during the war years many letters (bulk of the war correspondence) between the two, as well as letters from Jesse H. H. Person (d. 1863) and M. P. Person, Confederate soldiers, concerning military activities and army life. Included also are business letters and family letters filled with Civil War reminiscences; school and college letters from various members of the family while at the following North Carolina schools: Raleigh Female Classical Institute, 1835; Wake Forest College, 1853; Warrenton Female College, 1860; and the University of North Carolina, 1860. Included also are a diary of Harriet Perry, 1869; a few business papers of W. P. Montgomery; business and personal letters of Willie Mangum Person, attorney and son of Joseph Arrington Person; and during the 1890's, a few family and personal letters of "Mrs. Joe Persons," famous for the preparation and sale of a patent medicine (only one letter concerns "Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy"). In 1904 a number of letters are addressed to Mrs. W. P. Montgomery from quacks and operators of sanatoriums concerning various remedies.

1320. PERUVIAN MANUSCRIPTS, 1580-1872. 23 items and 22 vols. Peru.

This collection of heterogeneous material, generally relating to the colonial period of Peru, falls roughly into three groups centering around commerce and industry, literary activity, and religious and social history. In the first group the manuscripts, though scattered, contain, for 1786-87, valuable information on the mining of mercury. In the literary material there are items of importance, though of little continuity, including the poems of Caviades, in seventeenth-century script useful for correcting errors in the somewhat garbled copies published by Ricardo Palma; the only known copy in the United States of the iconoclastic and mysterious poems by Antonio de Solís; one cuaderno of the Documentos históricos collected by Manuel de Odriozola; and three Documentos literarios from contemporary publications. Several items of the series bearing on religion and social history in general appear to be significant, among them being a long compilation of the papers of Peruvian viceroys and others, 1580-1818; an important expediente relating to witchcraft and idolatry in Peru; original papers of the Provincial Council at Lima, 1772-73, containing the core of the little-known debate within the church on the modernization of learning which Charles III attempted to foist upon the empire; and a copy of the proceso of Mariano Tupac Amaro.

Each item and volume, with some explanation, is listed below. Many of these items, formerly the property of Don Francisco Pérez de Velasco, are included in Catálogo de la Biblioteca Peruana Propiedad de Dn. Francisco Pérez de Velasco (Lima, 1918). For convenience in listing, the items are numbered, some singly and others in groups, according to content and author or compiler.

1330. WILLIAM HORACE PHILLIPS PAPERS, (1859-64) 1881. 110 items. Boydton (Mecklenburg County), Va.

Family correspondence and papers of William H. Phillips, the son of a plantation overseer, as a private in the Confederate Army. The letters give a general idea of army supplies and stores and of Phillips's movements from point to point in Virginia. The later material consists of copies of ballads and some original verse by Phillips.

1331. ADAM H. PICKEL PAPERS, 1859-66. 78 items. Mont Clare, Pa.

Personal correspondence of Adam and Sarah Pickel and of their son, Adam H. Pickel. The letters from Adam H. Pickel while a Federal soldier describe his travels and campaigns from Fort Lyon (in what is now West Virginia) and contain comment on saloons, conditions of the barracks and food, and lack of veracity in newspaper reports of Federal engagements. Adam Pickel's letters reflect the conditions in eastern Pennsylvania during the Civil War and comment on the abolitionists, Abraham Lincoln, and the Negro question. Mrs. Pickel's letters, chiefly evangelical exhortations directed to her son, give some account of the Irish laborers of Norristown and Reading, Pennsylvania.

1332. FRANCIS WILKINSON PICKENS PAPERS, 1778 (1809-86) 1900. 435 items and 1 vol. Abbeville, S. C.

1423. CHARLES H. RICE ACCOUNT BOOK AND SCRAPBOOK, 1859-61. 1 vol. Ridgeville, S. C.

A general mercantile account book of Charles H. Rice, containing also newspaper clippings. Of interest are clippings on Mother Theresa Barry of Charleston, South Carolina, and General Wade Hampton.

1424. WILLIAM RICE ACCOUNTS, 1815-25. 3 vols. Brunswick County, Va. Accounts of a general merchant.

1425. J. W. RICHARDSON AND COMPANY DAYBOOK, 1868-69. 1 vol. Fifeville, Va.

Mercantile accounts, containing also cooking recipes and household suggestions.

1426. JAMES BURCHELL RICHARDSON PAPERS, 1803 (1822-1910). 4,110 items. Sumter District, S. C.

Family letters and business papers of James B. Richardson, plantation owner and slaveholder, and of his descendants. The letters and papers contain references to the allotment of slave labor for road and railroad construction; the impressment of slaves for work on fortifications during the Civil War; political wrangles; James B. and Richard Burchell Richardson's activities in the Confederate Army; social and economic conditions on South Carolina plantations before, during, and after the Civil War; the postwar depression and poverty in the South; and tenant-farming during the postwar period.

1428. VIRGINIA AND BETTIE RICHARDSON PAPERS, 1845-72. 35 items. Charlotte Court House, Va.

Family and personal letters. One letter concerns the experiences of a clerk in a Richmond grocery store, another the precarious existence of the postwar school-teacher.

1429. WILLIAM A. B. RICHARDSON PAPERS, 1825 (1850-60) 1869. 16 items. Johnston County, N. C.

Personal letters of William A. B. Richardson and his wife, who, together, conducted a school at Wilson, North Carolina. One letter, September, 1854, comments amusingly on patent medicines and on the proposed annexation of the Hawaiian Islands; another, July, 1860, concerns the sale of turpentine at Wilmington. Included also is a printed circular, 1859, concerning the Wilson schools.

1430. RICHMOND AND DANVILLE RAILROAD RENT BOOK, 1897-1909. 1 vol. Stem, N. C.

1431. RICHMOND DOCK COMPANY PAPERS, 1818-31. 7 items. Richmond, Va.

Papers relating to the condemnation of private lands to be used by the Richmond Dock Company.

1432. JAMES A. RIDDICK PAPERS, 1857-70. 21 items. Va.

Letters written to and by James A. Riddick, lieutenant in the Confederate Army, while imprisoned on Johnson's Island, Ohio. Included also is an interesting clipping from the New York News concerning food supplies for the prisoners.

1433. RICHARD H. RIDDICK PAPERS, 1842 (1851-66) 1872. 136 items and 1 vol. Pantego (Beaufort County), N. C.

Business correspondence of Richard H. Riddick, a lumber dealer, pertaining chiefly to a runaway slave and unsuccessful attempts to recover him from Boston, Massachusetts. Included also are two copies of the Boston Commonwealth, January 31, and February 8, 1851, concerning editorial comments on the case written from an antislavery point of view; two papers, 1871, concerning the Albemarle Swamp Land Company; and a book of sundry accounts, 1859-61.

1434. HARRISON HOLT RIDDLEBERGER PAPERS, 1874 (1877-86) 1891. 557 items. Woodstock (Shenandoah County), Va.

Correspondence, manuscript speeches, newspaper clippings, and pamphlets of Harrison Holt Riddleberger (1844-90), lawyer, editor, member of the Virginia senate and House of Delegates, and U. S. senator, 1883-89. The collection includes some hundred letters from General William Mahone, and concerns Riddleberger's career; the Readjuster campaign in Virginia; the Riddleberger Debt Law; Confederate pensions; and Riddleberger's opposition to the Bayard Resolution, 1884, which reflected a pro-British attitude on the Irish question; the British Extradition Treaty, 1886; the Chamberlain-Bayard Treaty, 1886; the McCulloch Bill, and the "Three Sisters Bridge" project at Georgetown, D. C.

1436. ALFRED LANDON RIVES PAPERS, 1839 (1850-70) 1888. 1,158 items. Castle Hill (Albemarle County), Va.

Correspondence of Alfred Landon Rives (1830-1903), engineer, concerning Édouard Schwebel's activities as librarian at l' École des ponts et chaussées, Paris, France, of which Rives was a graduate; family affairs; social, economic, and political affairs in Virginia; the Peace Convention in Washington, D. C., February 4, 1861, at which William Cabell Rives was a commissioner. Papers of A. L. Rives concern his resignation as U. S. Army engineer in 1861, his work in the Confederate Army in constructing defenses near Williamsburg, Virginia, and as chief of the Confederate Engineering Bureau and his post-bellum career as railroad builder and architect in Richmond, Virginia. Among the correspondents are A. L. Rives, Francis R. Rives, Julia Page Rives, and Édouard Schwebel.

1437. FRANCIS E. RIVES PAPERS, 1843-48. 17 items. Petersburg, Va.

Letters of Francis E. Rives, representative of the Petersburg Railroad, valuable for an account of early railroading in North Carolina and Virginia. They concern the fight for the possession of the Weldon bridge over the Roanoke River, and seventeen miles of track belonging to the Portsmouth and Roanoke Railroad, the sale of which to Rives caused the dissolution of the Portsmouth and Roanoke Railroad. One letter, December, 1848, congratulates Rives on his nomination to the Virginia senate.

1438. GEORGE S. RIVES PAPERS, 1851-83. 20 items. Sparta, Ga.

Correspondence of George S. Rives, apparently a lawyer and planter, concerning court matters, cotton sales, guano purchases, the settlement of his mother's estate, and other business affairs.

1439. JOHN COOK RIVES PAPERS, 1832-66. 4 items. Washington, D. C.

Correspondence of John Cook Rives (1795-1864), journalist and publisher of the Congressional Globe, concerning subscriptions and office equipment.

1440. J. B. ROANE PAPERS, 1856-67. 4 items and 1 vol. Pittsylvania County, Va.

Letters from J. B. Roane, owner of extensive real-estate holdings, to his daughter, containing references to property and a few comments on the Civil War.

Included also is a diary of Letitia Landon Roane, 1861-65, with comments on Civil War conditions, newspaper clippings, poems, and memoranda on the cost of goods.

1441. WILLIAM HENRY ROANE PAPERS, 1838; 1839. 2 items. Richmond, Va.

Letters from William Henry Roane (1787-1845), U. S. senator and grandson of Patrick Henry. One letter recommends the appointment of B. T. Archer for a midshipman's warrant in the U. S. Navy, and the other apparently concerns Roane's departure from Richmond for Washington at the opening of Congress.

1442. JEFFREY H. ROBBINS PAPERS, 1854-69. 82 items. Randolph County, N. C.

Sermons, lecture notes, a letter, and ten photographs of Jeffrey H. Robbins (1829-69), instructor at Trinity College (ca. 1852-59), member of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, 1859-69, and Confederate chaplain, 1863-65.

1443. D. ROBERTSON ORDERLY BOOK, 1806-16. 1 vol. Columbia, S. C.

Copies of general orders issued from brigade headquarters at Columbia, to the South Carolina Militia.

1444. GEORGE ROBERTSON, JR., LETTERPRESS COPYBOOK, 1864-65. 1 vol. Savannah, Ga.

1445. JAMES ALEXANDER ROBERTSON PAPERS, 1894 (1897-1912) 1938. 475 items. Annapolis, Md.

Papers of James Alexander Robertson (1873-1939), agent of the Department of Commerce, 1917-23, professor of history at John B. Stetson University, DeLand, Florida, 1923-33, and archivist at the Hall of Records, Annapolis, Maryland, 1935-39, concerning his Philippine collection. The letters refer to Philippine history, administrative problems and policies during the early years of American occupation, and reflect the high-minded enthusiasm of many American officials. Included are letters from many Filipino leaders; a few personal letters, notes, and manuscripts of Robertson; and many letters centering around James Alfred LeRoy (1875-1909). Many letters are in Spanish, and some are in German. Among the correspondents are: José Albert, Manuel Arguelles, Manuel Artigas, David P. Barrows, Ferdinand Blumentritt, Herbert E. Bolton, Felipe G. Calderón, Fred W. Carpenter, C. R. Edwards, James A. Le Roy, T. H. Pardo de Tavera, Jas. A. Robertson, Wm. H. Taft, John R. M. Taylor, Florentino Torres, Dan R. Williams, Dean C. Worcester, and Clem J. Zulueta.

1446. WILLIAM ROBERTSON PAPERS, 1771-93. 14 items. Edinburgh, Scotland.

Letters from William Robertson (1721-93), dealing with problems of eighteenth-century printing and publication. The majority of the letters are to Andrew Strahan, the King's printer, and concern the publication of Robertson's Charles V and Historical Disquisitions.

1447. JAMES A. ROBESON PAPERS, 1854-64. 7 items. (Bladen County, N. C.)

Correspondence relative to the estate of James J. McKay, for which James A. Robeson (d. 1864) was administrator, and the transportation of McKay's freed slaves to Liberia, according to the provisions of his will.

1448. JAMES R. ROBINSON PAPERS, 1865 (1876-78) 1885. 55 items. Robersonville (Martin County), N. C.

Letters to James R. Robinson, an elder in the Primitive Baptist Church, from other elders and ministers.

1449. MANUEL ROBINSON ACCOUNT BOOK, 1860-73. 1 vol. n.p.

1450. RALPH J. ROBINSON PAPERS, 1905-1906. 54 items. Due West, S. C.

Replies to Ralph Robinson's requests for information concerning the Civil War service of graduates of Erskine College. Robinson, a student of Erskine College, was on the staff of the Erskinian, the college magazine.

1451. W. A. ROBINSON PAPERS, 1861-62. 3 items. Raleigh, N. C.

1452. JOHN N. ROBSON PAPERS, 1852 (1872-73) 1923. 1,085 items. Charleston, S. C.

Business papers and correspondence of John N. Robson, a fertilizer agent. A few of the letters refer to the Patrons of Husbandry or Grange movement around Lancaster County, South Carolina, although, as a whole, the collection is chiefly valuable for the light thrown on a credit business in selling fertilizer to cotton farmers during the 1870's. Robson's most popular brand was Soluble Pacific Guano.

1453. JAMES HENRY ROCHELLE PAPERS, (1781-1898) 1907. 964 items. Courtland (formerly Jerusalem) (Southampton County), Va.

Business and personal correspondence and papers of James Rochelle (d. 1835), clerk of the superior court of Southampton County, and of his son, James Henry Rochelle (d. 1889), naval officer and member of the Hydrographic Commission of the Amazon. Letters to the elder Rochelle are from Virginia political leaders of some note, relative largely to politics, including information on public sentiment immediately preceding the War of 1812, presidential nominees and elections, 1828 and 1836, activities of the Virginia legislature, sale and hire of slaves, privateering, war in Spain and Portugal during the Napoleonic period, agricultural conditions in the United States, commodity prices, naval activity at Fort Nelson, Virginia, March 17, 1813, the "Panama Mission," April 23, 1826, breeding of horses, business and personal affairs, and letters of John Tyler to the widow of Rochelle concerning the welfare of their children, John Tyler, Jr., and Martha Rochelle, who were married in 1838. The correspondence is largely concerned with James Henry Rochelle after 1841, when John Tyler sent Mrs. Rochelle a midshipman's warrant for her son. Letters, 1841-48, are concerned with the training period of James Henry Rochelle at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, his popularity with other officers, his service on the U. S. Frigate Constitution, and bills for his uniforms, wines, lodging, etc. Although largely routine in nature, Rochelle's letters, while in the Confederate Navy as lieutenant commander and captain, contain interesting comments on activities in and around the harbor of Charleston, South Carolina, and the wrecking of the Stono, a vessel under his command. Other letters and official dispatches refer to food supplies, inspection of vessels prior to running the blockade, desertions, precautions against yellow fever, and repairs to damaged vessels. The papers, 1865-70, are concerned with the administration of the estate of James Rochelle by William B. Shands, a nephew of James Henry Rochelle.

Beginning in 1871, the collection consists of papers relative to the functions, duties, and activities of the Hydrographic Commission of the Amazon, organized to explore and chart that part of the Amazon River lying in Peru. Rochelle, senior member of the expedition, during frequent absences of Admiral John Randolph Tucker, served as acting president. Among the records are dispatches from the Peruvian Government; lists of supplies; notes on methods of finding elevations by boiling water; changing metres to inches, Fahrenheit to centigrade, etc.; tables of Spanish measurements, altitude, locations, latitude and longitude along the Yavari River; agitations through the U. S. State Department to obtain pay from the Peruvian Government for Tucker and Rochelle; and considerable information on the history of the Rochelle family.

Among the correspondents are Richard Blow, Albert Gallatin, Thomas Gholson, Edwin Gray, William Hines, B. W. Johnston, James Johnston, Samuel Kello, Stephen R. Mallory, J. Y. Mason, Richard E. Parker, Robert Taylor, and John Tyler.

1454. ROCKBRIDGE COUNTY COURT RECORDS, 1778-1848. 27 items and 4 vols. Rockbridge County, Va.

Certificates of bond, descriptions of land, court orders, indentures, licenses for keeping inns and selling spirits, notices of hearings for obtaining depositions, registration papers of Nancy Stuart as a free Negro, and other routine records. Included also are four volumes consisting of a docket book, 1795-99, minute book, 1794-95; a memorandum book, 1797-98; and possibly a tax book for 1842.

1455. ROCKINGHAM COUNTY RECORDS, 1700 (1790-1890) 1911. 4,171 items and 104 vols. Rockingham County, Va.

Records of Rockingham County consisting of administrators' bonds, affidavits, certificates of bond, court orders, deeds, depositions, hand-drawn maps of vacant lands and plats of land claims, indentures, jurors' reports, land valuation, lists of delinquent taxes, lists of property holders, petitions to court, promissory notes, property assessments, records of births, deaths, marriages, public roads, tax returns, summonses, warrants, vouchers, and various other items. All of the volumes (in paper covers) are tax returns, except for a list of allowances for claims, 1860.

1456. SION HART ROGERS PAPERS, 1846 (1853-61) 1873. 113 items. Raleigh, N. C.

Personal and family letters of Sion H. Rogers (1825-74), member of U. S. Congress, 1853-55, Confederate officer, and attorney general of North Carolina, 1863-66, including a group of letters from former schoolmates of Jane E. Haywood, who later married Rogers; correspondence between Rogers and his wife while he was in Washington and she in Raleigh during 1854; Civil War letters from Rogers relative to camp life, guarding the James River and the eastern coast of North Carolina; and a description of an officer's course of training, June 18, 1861. Included also are lists of jurors and an undated note from Z. B. Vance.

1457. PINCKNEY ROLLINS PAPERS, 1870. 17 items. Marshall, N. C.

Letters pertaining to the duties of Pinckney Rollins as a U. S. revenue collector for the 7th North Carolina District. Most of them concern prosecution of persons who had violated the Internal Revenue laws, chiefly by illicit distilling operations.

1458. ALFRED ROMAN PAPERS, 1864-86. 39 items. New Orleans, La.

Correspondence of Alfred Roman (1824-92), lawyer, sugar planter, Confederate officer, clerk of Louisiana supreme court, and judge of the criminal court of New Orleans. The letters, written in French, are concerned with reminiscences of the Civil War and Roman's book, The Military Operations of General Beauregard . . . (New York, 1883).

1459. SARAH A. ROOTES PAPERS, 1822 (1858-70) 1884. 124 items. Hickory Fork (Gloucester County), Va.

Correspondence of Sarah Rootes, consisting largely of letters from her brother, Thomas Reade Rootes (1835-67), Confederate soldier in Company C, 4th Regiment, Texas Cavalry. The letters concern the settlement of estates, 1822-61; the part Texas played in the Civil War; Civil War prisons, especially those in Santa Fé and New Orleans, where Rootes was imprisoned, and one in Elmira, New York, where his half brother, Henry Lamartine Hagy, was imprisoned; conditions in Houston, Texas, during Reconstruction; migration to Texas; postwar living, business, and crop conditions in Texas; cholera plagues and yellow fever epidemics in Houston, 1867; the Civil War and Reconstruction in Virginia; postwar business conditions in Richmond, Virginia. Among the correspondents are B. F. Cook, Henry Lamartine Hagy, and Thomas Reade Rootes.

1460. THOMAS READE ROOTES PAPERS, 1807. 3 items. Fredericksburg, Va.

Papers of Thomas Reade Rootes (1763-1824), lawyer and member of the Virginia House of Delegates in 1793, consisting of a claim of Rootes against Thomas Long of Liverpool; a deed for tracts of land in Harrison and Greenbrier counties, Virginia (now West Virginia); and a legal memorandum.

1461. ANDREW K. ROSE PAPERS AND DIARIES, 1862 (1863-65) 1894. 122 items and 2 vols. Cleveland and Dover, Ohio.

Family letters and diaries, 1864-65, written by Andrew K. Rose (b. 1843), sergeant in the 124th Ohio Infantry, Federal Army, who participated in the campaigns in East Tennessee, 1863, and in the siege of Atlanta, 1864. The letters represent the viewpoint of the common soldier, although they are invariably cheerful in tone. The diaries record his movements; the condition of the weather; money, clothes, and rations drawn; and routine camp life.

1462. WILLIAM ROSS PAPERS, 1738 (1787-1833) 1875. 265 items and 3 vols. Washington, N. C.

Family and business correspondence of William Ross, merchant of Washington, North Carolina, and of his father-in-law, John Simpson, a Scottish merchant, who came to Washington in the early 1780's. Simpson's letters during 1786 contain derogatory remarks on North Carolinians. In addition to business letters of William Ross, there is one letter book, 1811-29, containing business correspondence exclusively. There are also two account books which have been used as scrapbooks; and letters between William Ross and his children, Margaret and John S., while in school at Warrenton and Falls of Tar River, both in North Carolina. Included also is a daybook, 1797-98, kept by John Simpson.

1463. WILLIAM ROSSELLE PAPERS, 1862-65. 5 items. Nashville, Tenn.

A letter to William Rosselle from Jas. D. B. DeBow concerning a private dispute, and four passes through U. S. military lines around Memphis, Tennessee, to Rosselle, "Reporter for the House of Representatives."

1464. DANTE GABRIEL AND WILLIAM MICHAEL ROSSETTI PAPERS, 1848 (1869-86) 1881. 163 items. London, England.

Unpublished poems, first drafts, literary notes, fragments, proof sheets, etc., of Dante Gabriel Rossetti (1828-82), Victorian poet and painter. Included also are two personal letters which concern chiefly Rossetti's dealings with his publishers.

Letters from William Michael Rossetti (1829-1919), brother of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and himself a significant English literary figure, to Charles Aldrich, Anne Burrows Gilchrist, and Herbert H. Gilchrist, pertaining to literature and art. Several of them discuss Walt Whitman and his influence in England. [Published: Paull F. Baum (ed.), Dante Gabriel Rossetti, an Analytical List of Manuscripts in the Duke University Library, with Hitherto Unpublished Verse and Prose (Durham, N. C., 1931); and Clarence Gohdes and Paull F. Baum (eds.), Letters of William Michael Rossetti concerning Whitman, Blake, and Shelley, to Anne Gilchrist and Her Son, Herbert Gilchrist; with Appendices Containing a Letter to President Cleveland and an Uncollected Whitman Circular (Durham, N. C., 1934).]

Daily accounts of goods sold by a general merchant.

1466. SAMUEL R. RUCKER PAPERS, 1842-55. 14 items. Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Letters from Robert Rucker, a student at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, 1849-51, to his father, containing comments on professors, subjects studied, and life of the students. One letter, 1850, gives an interesting account of the differences in value of money in various states.

1467. THOMAS RUFFIN PAPERS, 1822 (1861-64) 1869. 21 items. Alamance County, N. C.

Family letters to Thomas Ruffin (1787-1870), chief justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, 1833-52, 1858, chiefly from his daughters. One letter, 1864, comments on Confederate tax collecting and the scarcity of food; another, written by Ruffin to one of his sons, strongly advises the latter not to become connected with the Ku-Klux Klan.

1468. DANIEL RUGGLES PAPERS AND TELEGRAMS, 1847-65. 142 items and 1 vol. Fredericksburg, Va.

Military correspondence of Daniel Ruggles (1810-97), captain in U. S. Army and major general in the Confederate Army, consisting of telegrams concerned with troop movements in Louisiana and Mississippi and the evacuation of troops from Fort Pillow, Tennessee; and reports from officers of the day at Camp Benjamin, Louisiana, giving picket lists and conditions of supplies, equipment, hospitals, sick, and wounded. Included also are letters from civilian officials of Mississippi relative to defenses and counterfeit money; several letters in 1847 relative to the Mexican War; and a letter from Louis Caulli, a French naturalist, asking aid of Ruggles. Included also is the diary of his sister, Lucy Ruggles, 1845-48, containing detailed accounts of a journey in 1845, by boat, railroad, and stagecoach from Charleston, South Carolina, to Wytheville, Virginia, with comments on the backwardness of North Carolina; gossip about people in Wytheville; and her work there as a teacher.

Among the correspondents are Samuel Bard, P. G. T. Beauregard, Braxton Bragg, John C. Breckenridge, James R. Chalmers, Samuel Jones, W. L. Lanier, W. W. Loring, Thos. H. Rosser, W. B. Shelby, Carter L. Stephenson, and Earl Van Dorn.

1469. JAMES RUMSEY PAPERS, (1787-1891) 1930. 115 items. Shepherdstown, Va. (now W. Va.)

Personal papers of James Rumsey (1743-92), inventor; and correspondence of his descendants, relating to attempts to establish his invention of the steamboat over the claims of John Fitch. Included also are the Rumsey family tree; the manuscript of an article by Alexander Robinson Boteler, who devoted much time to Rumsey's claims; and various newspaper clippings.

1470. BOYD RUSSELL AND COMPANY LETTER BOOK, 1825-32. 1 vol. Lawrenceville, Va.

1471. R. Y. RUSSELL PAPERS, 1821-55. 12 items. York County, S. C.

Letters concerning camp meetings and educational institutions of the Independent Presbyterian Church of South Carolina, of which R. Y. Russell was a minister; calls from various churches to Russell to become pastor; and an offer of a position at Jackson College, Columbia, Tennessee. The letters show the religious feeling of the 1820's and 1830's.

1472. JOHN RUTHERFOORD PAPERS AND LETTER BOOKS, 1754 (1781-1865) 1891. 611 items and 2 vols. Richmond, Va.

Family, business, personal, and political correspondence of John Rutherfoord (1792-1866), lawyer, merchant, and governor of Virginia, 1841-42; and of his son, John Coles Rutherfoord (1825-1866), lawyer, planter, and member of the House of Delegates. Properly speaking, the Rutherfoord correspondence begins in 1818. Before that date there are two small sets of papers centering around Isaac Holmes and James Webb but apparently not a part of the Rutherfoord correspondence. The papers connected with Holmes, Assistant Quartermaster at Petersburg, Virginia, concern provisions for Revolutionary soldiers and are generally from Richard Claiborne. Those centering around Webb, apparently a lawyer of Smithfield, Virginia, having connections with John Marshall, Spencer Roane, and John Wickham, consist of legal correspondence and papers.

Correspondence of John Rutherfoord, who married Emily Coles, a member of a prominent Virginia family, reflects not only Rutherfoord's career but also some phases of the careers of Tucker Coles, Isaac A. Coles, Edward Coles, Andrew Stevenson, and William Cabell Rives, all of whom were related to Emily (Coles) Rutherfoord. Letters of the Coles brothers during the 1820's and 1830's generally contain family news and references to business matters, and requests for Rutherfoord, their brother-in-law, to attend to some business errand in Richmond. Both Tucker and Edward Coles wrote from Albemarle County, Virginia, with news of people and events in that area, until Edward Coles's removal from Virginia because of his hatred of slavery. Letters of Isaac A. Coles, containing much about business and family matters, were at first written from Norfolk, Virginia, but after a gap in his correspondence, he wrote from "Enniscorthy," his estate in Albemarle County, Virginia. Included also are many letters of Hodijah Meade, brother-in-law of the elder Rutherfoord, written from the former's plantation in Amelia County, Virginia, and pertaining to personal, family, agricultural, and business affairs; and family letters from Jane (Rutherfoord) Meade. A letter of Andrew Stevenson, U. S. minister to England, March 24, 1837, describes his and his wife's experiences in diplomatic circles in London, and several copies of Stevenson's letters and papers bear on the settlement of the case of the U. S. S. Caroline, burned in 1837 by Canadian troops. Included also are letters from Emily (Coles) Rutherfoord's cousin, William Cabell Rives, while minister to France in 1832, relative to instability of the French Government, his longing for Virginia, and his conviction that slavery should be abolished. Other letters of Rives at later dates concern family matters and national politics.

In the political correspondence of John Rutherfoord, a number of letters from John Tyler and copies of Rutherfoord's replies bear on national politics from 1827 to 1831, including Andrew Jackson and his policies, Henry Clay, political intrigue, "sectional cupidity," and European affairs, generally revealing concern on Tyler's part for the welfare of the country. In correspondence to his son in 1855, the elder Rutherfoord commented somewhat fully on the American party or Know-Nothings in Goochland County, Virginia, where, he stated, they were better organized than in any other county of the state. Letters of C. G. Memminger to the elder Rutherfoord during 1860 relate to national politics, secession, and possibility of war. During the war John Rutherfoord received a number of letters from friends asking that errands be done, especially in the matter of looking out for very young boys who had joined the Confederate Army. Papers and correspondence also show that Rutherfoord served on a committee to assess damages made by the Confederate Government in erecting defenses in Richmond; in one typed copy of a letter to a cousin in London, John Rutherfoord protested that the Prince of Wales had not been mistreated in Richmond in 1860; and discussed the election of Abraham Lincoln and national politics in general, including his hatred of abolitionists. One letter to Rutherford from Sir William Henry Gregory, a member of the British Parliament with sympathies for the Confederate Government, is written under an assumed name and is concerned with possibilities of recognition of the Confederate Government by England and with means of communicating with Rutherford's nephew, who was attending a German university in 1861 [published: Nannie M. Tilley (ed.), "England and the Confederacy," American Historical Review, XLIV (Oct., 1838), 56-60]. A letter, March 5, 1861, from John Brockenbrough describes the Washington Peace Convention of 1861 with comments on the Crittenden compromise plan.

Other matters touched on in the elder Rutherford's correspondence consist of bank stocks, legal practice, mercantile affairs in Richmond, and artists employed by the Rutherford family, among whom were Martin, Harley, (Thomas) Sully, and (Gennario) Perisco, the latter being given to charging "a digging price," according to Rutherford on October 24, 1855. Included also are communications from John Marshall apparently connected with his service in the Virginia constitutional convention of 1829.

John Rutherford's letter book, 1825-37, and his letterpress copybook, 1853-63, contain letters recommending George Wythe Munford for clerk of the House of Delegates; the collection of debts; personal and political matters to W. C. Rives, Sr.; detailed accounts of the family to his cousin, A. H. Rutherford, of London; accounts of his duties as captain and later colonel in the Richmond Fayette Light Artillery; letters to John Marshall; one to Robert Mayo explaining why he did not recommend him to the President for the position of librarian of Congress; business matters; and a letter to Winfield Scott regarding his rank in the U. S. Army. Very few items connected with John Rutherford, in the letter books or elsewhere, can be dismissed as inconsequential.

Although not so valuable, the part of the collection centering around John Coles Rutherford and beginning about 1840 is larger, consisting of letters from a group of college friends who, with Rutherford, attended Washington College, Lexington, Virginia, and the University of Virginia, Charlottesville; letters relative to preparations for a European tour made by John Coles Rutherford and Charles Morris in 1851; and letters to John Coles Rutherford concerning Virginia politics during the 1850's. Noteworthy among the letters of college mates are those of William M. Cooke relative to his legal practice in St. Louis and Hannibal, Missouri, the slavery question, growth of St. Louis, California immigrants, the sale of supplies to these immigrants; hunting grouse on the prairies; and the American party in Missouri in 1855. Letters of John D. Osborne and William Cabell Rives, Jr., contain descriptions of their travels in Europe, conditions in Paris, France, and travels in the North. Letters of John Rutherford to his son, John Coles Rutherford, after the latter settled at "Rock Castle," his plantation in Goochland County, Virginia, as a planter and lawyer, relative to family affairs, Virginia politics, events and gossip in Richmond, and Peruvian guano and its high price.

The collection contains numerous references to the springs of Western Virginia. There are references to the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, including a letter of Henry Augustine Washington asking for a recommendation to the Board of Visitors, who wished to employ a professor believing in principles of "free trade" for the chair of political economy and international law in 1848; a plea from Richard Randolph as an agent appointed by the faculty to secure pecuniary aid for the college; and a request for a letter of recommendation for Lucian Minor, an applicant for the professorship of law in 1855. With reference to John R. Thompson and the Southern Literary Messenger, there is in a letter from Thompson a statement that he had visited South Carolina in 1851 in an unsuccessful attempt to enlarge the patronage of his journal; a reference in 1855 to Thompson as enveloped in a "European beard" when attending an alumni dinner at the University of Virginia; and a letter, December 17, 1855, from Benjamin Anderson stating that the presiding justices of the Goochland County Court had contributed one day's salary to the support of the Messenger. A letter of William P. Munford, son of William Munford, October 3, 1845, gives many details of his father's translation of Homer's Iliad and his own plans for having it published.

Among the correspondents are John Brockenbrough, Richard Claiborne, Edward Coles, Isaac A. Coles, Wm. M. Cooke, Staige Davis, John Floyd, William B. Giles, James L. Kemper, John H. McCue, John Marshall, Hodijah Meade, C. G. Memminger, Alex. H. Porterfield, George W. Randolph, W. C. Rives, Jr., W. C. Rives, Sr., John Rutherford, Thomas Rutherford, Richard Singleton, Andrew Stevenson, John W. Stevenson, R. B. Taney, Daniel Teasdale, John Tyler, Abraham Van Buren, John Wickham, and Henry A. Wise.

1473. JOHN G. RUTHERFORD PAPERS, 1922. 3 items. Richmond, Va.

1474. HARRIOTT HORRY RUTLEDGE PAPERS, 1841. 6 items. Charleston, S. C.

Letters from Harriott Horry Rutledge (1832-1912), author, as a nine-year-old child, to her mother, Rebecca Motte (Lowndes) Rutledge, referring to her studies, local gossip in Charleston, and Madame (Ann Manson) Talvande (d. 1850), proprietress of a boarding school in Legaré Street. Harriott Horry Rutledge later married St. Julien Ravenel.

1475. JOHN RUTLEDGE, JR., PAPERS, 1760 (1788-98) 1862. 117 items and 2 vols. Charleston, S. C.

Correspondence and papers of John Rutledge, Jr., (1766-1819), South Carolina legislator, member of U. S. Congress, 1795-1803, brigadier general in the South Carolina Militia, and son of John Rutledge, Sr., distinguished Revolutionary statesman. The collection centers around the life and career of John Rutledge, Jr., and concerns family and business matters; the tour of Europe made by him, 1787-89; Thomas Jefferson's interest in the adoption of the U. S. Constitution by North Carolina; political conditions in Sweden; and the marriage of John Rutledge, Jr., to Sarah Motte Smith, and the education of their children. Included also are two letters from members of the family, one relating to the Mexican War and the other to the Civil War, and a letter relative to the purchase of land. There are also two business letters of States Rutledge; several business letters of John Rutledge, Jr., to Petit de Villers, a commission merchant of Savannah, Georgia; two letters of John Rutledge, Sr., one to Jonathan Bryan concerning the purchase of land and the other to the delegates of South Carolina in the Continental Congress, September 5, 1779, relative to the war in South Carolina; and a contract of Edward Rutledge to hire certain Negroes belonging to Charles Cotesworth Pinckney. Other letters of Edward and John Rutledge, Sr., to John Rutledge, Jr., concerning family finances constitute a considerable proportion of the collection. Among the correspondents are Charles Cadogan, Charles Drayton, Thomas Jefferson, one Countess de Litta of Milan, Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, Edward Rutledge, Elizabeth (Grimké) Rutledge, John Rutledge, Sr., Benjamin Tallmadge, and Oliver Wolcott.

Included also are two journals of the travels of John Rutledge, Jr., in Europe, 1787-88, containing not only much material of the guidebook type, the most unusual being a set of travel directions prepared for him by Thomas Jefferson in Paris [published and analyzed: Elizabeth Cometti, "Mr. Jefferson Prepares an Itinerary," Journal of Southern History, XII (Feb. 1946), 89-106], but information of a more valuable nature. Young Rutledge carried letters of introduction from George Washington, and, when he left France, from Thomas Jefferson, thus meeting such people as Madame du Barry, Marie Antoinette, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot, the latter being a sister of General (Thomas) Gage. He occasionally met Tom Paine, but, despite a letter of introduction from George Washington, was unable to see François Jean de Chastellux, the failure being attributed to the latter's extreme poverty. Rutledge, a close observer, noted signs of the coming French Revolution; described meetings of the British Parliament; contrasted at length the French and English, including methods of getting into Paris and London society; noted much about methods of farming in Italy; and described Italian cities and inns, and traveling conveniences in France. The journals are written with eighteenth-century frankness on personal matters and contain considerable gossip about important figures.

1476. JAMES A. SADLER ACCOUNT BOOK, 1848-54. 1 vol. (Forsyth County, N. C.)

Accounts of James A. Sadler, apparently a blacksmith and whiskey dealer.

1477. ST. DAVID'S SOCIETY PAPERS, (1777-1811) 1854. 7 items. Cheraw, S. C.

1480. ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH MINUTES, 1783-1860. 1 vol. Charleston, S. C.
Extracts from minute books.

1481. JOHN SALISBURY LEDGER, 1809-13. 1 vol. Plymouth, N. C.

1482. SAN FRANCISCO TOWN JOURNAL, 1847-48. 1 vol. San Francisco, Calif.

1483. J. P. N. SANDERS NOTES, 1856. 1 vol. Emory (Washington County), Va.

1484. JAMES R. SANDERS PAPERS, 1847-61. 4 items. Penfield, Ga.

Correspondence of James R. Sanders, apparently a lawyer, concerning the treatment of a sick or an injured slave, and legal business.

1485. RICHARD W. SANDERS AND JOHN W. GREENE PAPERS AND NOTEBOOKS, 1808 (1820-64) 1876. 225 items and 7 vols. Wytheville, Va.

Personal, family, and business letters, some of which deal with social life in Wytheville; others are from a relative in Missouri, praising that state; and a few give accounts of the War of 1812, the Mexican War, and the Civil War. There are seven notebooks or account books relating to the Sanders-Green Pig Iron Furnace and its connections with the Confederate Government during the Civil War.

1486. VINCENT SANFORD PAPERS, 1854 (1857-59) 1865. 50 items. Greensboro, Ga.

Official and family correspondence of Vincent Sanford, clerk of the Inferior Court of Greene County, Georgia. The official correspondence requests information concerning certain individuals of Greene County and shows efforts of land sharks and attorneys to get information which would enable them to obtain bounty lands due to men who had served in the War of 1812. In the correspondence of a private nature are bills; receipts; letters of a Baptist minister who preached and taught school in the vicinity of Sparta, Georgia, in 1854; and an interesting account of the region around Flemingsburg, Kentucky, by Sanford's niece, Elizabeth M. Walker, in 1858.

1487. F. B. SATTERTHWAITE PAPERS, 1848 (1856-73) 1879. 290 items. Washington, N. C.

Legal and business correspondence of F. B. Satterthwaite, attorney-at-law. Much of the material concerns a lawsuit over the settlement of claims to an estate which Satterthwaite and Asa Biggs had purchased in Madison County, Ala.

1488. RICHARD B. SAUNDERS ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1836—(ca. 1900). 9 vols. Chapel Hill, N. C.

General mercantile accounts, 1836-61; accounts of Crabtree Plantation, 1868-76; and accounts of a fertilizer agency (ca. 1880-1900).

1489. ROMULUS MITCHELL SAUNDERS, PAPERS 1833 (1846-48) 1866. 64 items. Raleigh, N. C.

Correspondence of Romulus M. Saunders (1791-1867), lawyer, North Carolina legislator and attorney general, member of U. S. Congress, and minister to Spain, 1846-49. The letters relate to negotiations for the purchase of Cuba, his quarrel with his secretary, Thomas Cante Reynolds, a few public questions, and family matters.

1490. WILLIAM LAURENCE SAUNDERS PAPERS, 1776-1869. 3 vols. (Raleigh, N. C.)

The papers of William Laurence Saunders (1835-91), lawyer, colonel in the Confederate Army, editor, historian, and North Carolina secretary of state, 1879-91, consist of a manuscript copy of Volume XXIII of North Carolina Colonial Records; accounts of personal expenditures, 1856-60, while in Salisbury, North Carolina; and a letterpress copybook containing nine copies of business letters, 1869, written at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

1491. MINOT JUDSON SAVAGE PAPERS, 1883-92. 3 items. Boston, Mass.

Letters to Minot J. Savage, Unitarian minister and author. One letter, 1883, from Herbert Spencer concerns a group in England interested in the development of a rational religion; one, 1892, from Lyman Abbott gives Savage permission to make use of one of his (Abbott's) letters; the third letter, 1884, is from Phillips Brooks.

1492. SAVANNAH (GA.) PORT PAPERS, 1820-70. 4,758 items and 2 vols. Savannah, Ga.

Official papers of the port of Savannah, pertaining to customs, import and export trade, and shipping. The collection includes ship clearance papers, cargo lists, crew lists, crew bonds, U. S. Treasury Department letters, customs papers, British consular papers, salary receipts for port officials, warehouse papers, and papers concerning construction and maintenance of lighthouses. Included also is a letter book, 1817-26, of A. S. Bullock, collector of the port of Savannah, giving many references to economic conditions; and a volume listing the persons who entered the port of Savannah, 1817-18.

1493. PHINEAS MESSENGER SAVERY PAPERS, 1828 (1840-70) 1907. 250 items.
Liberty (Clay County), Mo.

Family, business, and Civil War correspondence of Phineas M. Savery (1830-1906), lawyer and major in the Confederate Army. Included is an unpublished notebook of Savery's war record containing a list of men who served under him; a Masonic obituary notice of his death; letters to Lydia Ann (Hughes) Mitchell, mother of Savery's wife, during the early years of the collection; and letters to and from his wife, Amanda Gertrude (Mitchell) Savery, reflecting hardships occasioned by factional strife in a border state during the Civil War period.

1494. HELEN I. SAWYER PAPERS, 1863 (1864-69) 1877. 94 items. Edenton, N. C.

Personal and family letters of Helen I. Sawyer, containing desultory remarks on the Civil War, loss of Negroes by her father in 1864, family news, local gossip, accounts of her conversion to Roman Catholicism and her subsequent marriage to Reverend B. H. Daugherty. The letters are generally addressed to Sallie Cameron, of Hillsboro, North Carolina.

Letters from D. Lewis Saxon while a student at Erskine College, Due West, South Carolina, and a few family letters from a relative in Wetumpka, Alabama.

1496. D. MINOR SCALES DIARY, 1861-63. 1 vol. (Savannah, Ga.)

1497. GEORGE C. SCHEETZ PAPERS, 1862. 3 items. Northumberland, Va.

Letters from George C. Scheetz, a private in the Federal Army, describing camp life, rations, his journey through Harrisburg and Washington, his impressions of Washington and northern Virginia, and a forced march in pursuit of Confederate forces near Harpers Ferry.

1498. MARY ELIZA (FLEMING) SCHOOLER PAPERS, 1810 (1852-75) 1910. 1,081 items. Hanover County, Va.

Personal correspondence, chiefly of the Flemings, a wealthy Virginia family of educators, physicians, and soldiers. Included are school and college letters written from the viewpoints of students and teachers, with references to Hanover Academy, Taylorsville, Hanover County, Virginia; Concord Academy, Caroline County, Virginia, 1847-49; Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, 1851; Worthan's Academy, Richmond, Virginia; the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, with interesting comments on Professors A. T. Bledsoe, B. L. Gildersleeve, and John B. Minor; and Edge Hill Academy, Caroline County, with which Samuel Schooler, Mary Eliza (Fleming) Schooler's husband, was at one time connected. There are also Civil War letters filled with details of hardships at home and containing excellent descriptions of the battles of Fredericksburg, 1862, Sharpsburg, 1862, and Richmond, 1864; and letters showing living conditions and financial distress of the Reconstruction period. The later letters are those of the Schooler descendants. The collection throws much light on domestic, educational, and social conditions in Virginia, especially for the period 1840-75. Some of the letters contain interesting comments on John Esten Cooke, Nathaniel Hawthorne, and other literary figures.

Diary of Albert S. Schrirer while surgeon in charge of the U. S. Naval Hospital at Norfolk, Virginia, from July 15 to November 7, 1867, containing lists of employees, accounts of repairs, copies of letters received, and a general record of his activities.

1500. DAVID A. SCOTT ACCOUNT BOOK, 1856-63. 1 vol. (Fremont, N. C.)
Accounts of David A. Scott as administrator of the estate of Benajah Scott.
1501. IRBY H. SCOTT PAPERS, 1845 (1861-65) 1873. 136 items. Putnam County, Ga.

Letters and papers of Irby H. Scott, chiefly valuable for the excellent letters of his son, Irby Goodwin Scott, while in the Confederate Army. Prior to 1861, the collection is of little value, containing letters bearing on family affairs, papers connected with the elder Scott's services as administrator of the estates of Giles and John Tompkins, and a letter, November 26, 1857, relative to the harboring of runaway slaves in the home of Mrs. Giles Tompkins, apparently near Eatonton, Georgia. After 1865, the collection contains little other than material concerned with business matters, one paper being a contract, August 9, 1865, with seventeen freedmen for labor on the farm of Irby H. Scott.

Letters of Irby Goodwin Scott (d. 1865?), private and later a lieutenant of the 12th Georgia Regiment composed of Putnam County boys, cover the war years from June 21, 1861, until February 25, 1865. Young Scott, fairly well educated, recorded his movements, which were numerous; his opinions of officers; his dislike of grumblers; his yearnings for home; love of the army; and detailed accounts of camp life, describing the construction of the quarters, the food, and methods of cooking. He also wrote angrily of his captain who published a letter in the home paper, The Countryman, relative to the brave fighting of the boys in Eatonton (in Putnam County) in the 12th Georgia Regiment, but ignoring the brave fighting of the country boys of Putnam County. He also ridiculed Virginia papers for claiming all credit for certain fighting. Included also are a few letters relative to army life from Nicholas Ewing Scott, who joined his brother's regiment in January, 1863, fighting bravely until he was killed May 10, 1864; and a few letters from Benjamin Harvey Hill concerning legal affairs.

Personal and family correspondence, speeches, and papers of William L. Scott (1828-72), schoolteacher, captain in the Confederate Army, Whig, Unionist, and Republican politician. The family correspondence consists of letters between Scott and his wife, Ella (Penn) Scott, before and after their marriage, letters to his family while he was a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and letters of Scott's brother, Levi M. Scott, Confederate receiver for the sequestration of Federal property during the Civil War. William L. Scott's letters reflect much of the atmosphere and conditions at the University of North Carolina while he was a student there, during part of that time serving as editor of the University Magazine. Other letters from Scott to his wife contain many comments on political affairs and his legal practice as well as on personal affairs. Among the letters also are comments on railroad frauds (which he investigated in 1870); accounts of his unsuccessful campaign for Congress against James M. Leach in 1870; a draft of an appeal to Negro voters dated June 6, 1870; descriptions of Ku-Klux Klan activities; excitement over elections; organization and development of the Whig, the American, and the Republican parties in North Carolina; very interesting and valuable letters from Scott while a member of the North Carolina legislature in 1856; and many letters concerning Scott's numerous quarrels with fellow officers in the Confederate Army and his ultimate resignation from the army. Included also are numerous speeches and literary works of William L. Scott. Among the correspondents are K. P. Battle, W. H. Battle, R. P. Dick, J. R. McLean, R. M. Pearson, John Pool, L. M. Scott, D. L. Swain, A. W. Tourgée, and Jonathan Worth.

1503. WINFIELD SCOTT PAPERS, 1836; 1846. 2 items. Dinwiddie County, Va.

Letters from Winfield Scott (1786-1866) to Governor William Schley, relative to the Creek War in Georgia, 1835-42; and to Armistead Burt on awards for officers who served at Fort Brown, Texas, 1846.

1504. JAMES WALL SCULLY PAPERS, (1861-67) 1910. 49 items. Pa.

Correspondence and papers of James Wall Scully (1838-1918), surveyor and Federal soldier, stationed in Nashville, Tennessee, during the years covered by this correspondence. The letters concern his services as clerk to Captain Alvan Cullem Gillem under General George Henry Thomas in Kentucky; the battles of Mill Springs, Kentucky, 1862, and Shiloh, Tennessee, 1862; the siege of Corinth, Mississippi, 1862; living conditions of the times; the Germans of Pennsylvania; and the attitude of Southern women, especially those in Nashville, Tennessee, toward Federal soldiers. Included also are army commissions signed by J. M. Dickinson, Andrew Johnson, J. M. Schofield, and William H. Taft.

1505. SEAMEN'S PAPERS, 1798-1804. 11 items. Various places.

Manifests of masters of trading vessels, generally sailing from the port of Baltimore, Maryland, including John Cooper, George Foster, John H. Hill, R. Hudgins, I. B. Pearson, Thomas Taylor, and William White. Included also are coasting permits and orders to arrest the crew of one of the vessels.

1506. JAMES ALEXANDER SEDDON PAPERS, 1863-65. 10 items. Richmond, Va.

Letters dealing with routine office matters of James A. Seddon (1815-80), Confederate secretary of war, pertaining to coastal defenses, promotions, etc.

1507. B. M. SELBY PAPERS, 1849-65. 9 items. Wilson, N. C.

Papers of B. M. Selby and P. W. Brown, mercantile firm of Wilson, pertaining to the sale of slaves, purchase of goods brought into Wilmington through the blockade, and sale of goods, chiefly cotton and tobacco. Included also is a pardon from Andrew Johnson, 1865, issued to Selby for participation in the Civil War.

1508. PAUL J. SEMMES PAPERS, 1861. 2 items. Columbus, Ga.

Papers of Paul J. Semmes (d. 1863), brigadier general in the Confederate Army, consisting of his acceptance of a commission and a morning report.

1509. THOMAS JENKINS SEMMES PAPERS, 1835 (1860-64) 1866. 34 items. (New Orleans, La.)

Letters to Thomas Jenkins Semmes (1824-99), lawyer, member of the Confederate senate, 1862-65, and later a member of the law faculty of Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana, 1873-79; letters to Mrs. Semmes; and letters from Semmes, concerning the conduct of the Civil War, Confederate legislation, and business of the Confederate Government. Among the correspondents are P. G. T. Beauregard, Braxton Bragg, Jefferson Davis, Christopher G. Memminger, John Slidell, and Alex. H. Stephens.

1510. JAMES BEVERLY SENER PAPERS, 1878. 2 items. Fredericksburg, Va.

Letters concerning the appointment of James Beverly Sener (b. 1831), editor of the Fredericksburg Ledger, to the position of chief justice of the Wyoming Territory, 1878-84.

1511. A. T. SHACKLEFORD PAPERS, 1862. 3 items. Thomaston (Upson County), Ga.

Business letters addressed to A. T. Shackelford, clerk of the superior court of Upson County, Georgia, including one from a doctor with comments on the scarcity of smallpox vaccine serum and the great demand for it.

1512. DAVID SHAVER SERMONS AND NOTES, 1838-95. 51 items. Atlanta, Ga.

Sermons, study notes, and one letter of David Shaver (1820-ca. 1902), Baptist minister and editor of the Christian Index.

1513. DANIEL SHAW PAPERS, 1818 (1826-51) 1855. 27 items. Hyde County, N. C.

Business and personal letters to Daniel Shaw, a native of England, who was naturalized in 1826 and became a successful merchant of Lake Landing, North Carolina. The business letters are from wholesale firms and commission merchants concerning the sale of corn, and from ship companies giving passenger rates to Southampton, England.

1514. JOHN BUNYAN SHEARER ACCOUNT BOOK, 1858-89. 1 vol. Chapel Hill, N. C.

Accounts of household expenses of John Bunyan Shearer (1832-1919), president of Southwestern University, Memphis, Tennessee, 1870-88, and of Davidson College, North Carolina, 1889-1909.

1515. RICHARD E. SHEARIN DAYBOOK, 1855-66. 1 vol. (Warren County, N. C.)

1516. HUGH W. SHEFFEY PAPERS, 1843-49. 4 items. Staunton, Va.

Business correspondence of Hugh Sheffey (1815-89), Virginia lawyer, publicist, and churchman.

1517. PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY AND MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT (GODWIN) SHELLEY JOURNAL AND NOTES, 1814-57. 4 vols. England.

Typed copy of journals and letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley and Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley, formerly in the Ashley Library of T. J. Wise, but now in the British Museum.

The journal, containing notes of Professor Edward Dowden, opens with an account by Percy B. Shelley (1792-1822) of his flight with Mary Wollstonecraft Godwin (1797-1851) and her half sister, Claire (Clara Mary Jane) Clairmont (1798-1879), from England to the Continent. Interspersed with letters to or from friends, almost daily entries either by Shelley or Mary follow, referring, among other things, to the state of the weather, daily activities, titles of books read, financial affairs of Harriet (Westbrook) Shelley and the Godwin family; Shelley's own financial situation as it related to his father; the births and eventually the deaths of two of the children of Shelley and Mary; Claire Clairmont and Byron; literary works of Shelley; descriptions of French, Swiss, and Italian landscapes; political, social, and economic conditions in England and Scotland as shown by the letters of Fannie Imlay; Southern France and the character of the French as described by Charles Clairmont; deaths of Harriet W. Shelley and of Fannie Imlay; Mary Shelley's Frankenstein and its reception by the public; birth of Claire Clairmont's daughter, Allegra, and the mother's controversy with Byron over the child's custody; the Gisborne family and Henry Reveley's experiments in engineering; acquaintance of the Shelleys with Prince Alexander Mavrocordato; publishing difficulties of Shelley; activities and literary efforts of Byron, William Godwin, Thomas Jefferson Hogg, Leigh Hunt, Thomas Love Peacock, and Edward Trelawny; and of the death and burial of Edward E. Williams and Shelley as recounted by Trelawny.

Following Shelley's death and his wife's removal to England with young Percy F. Shelley, the daily entries become meager and letters by and to Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley predominate, with information on the settlement of the Shelley estate and the state of poverty in which Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley, Claire Clairmont, and young Percy Shelley lived until the death of Sir Timothy Shelley; Sir Timothy's opinion of Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley and her own analyses of herself and the loneliness of her life; efforts of Claire Clairmont to support herself as a governess in Russia, France, and Italy, her opinion of Byron and of his attitude toward their illegitimate daughter and toward Shelley; Byron's and Trelawny's activities in the Greek War for Independence, 1821-29, and Byron's death; Frances Wright, including references to Robert Dale Owen and the Nashoba, Tennessee, and New Harmony, Indiana, socialistic projects in the United States through letters of Frances Wright to Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley; Lord Dillon's "Eccelino" and his death; the old age and death of William Godwin; the schooling of young Percy Shelley at Harrow; the death of Sir Timothy Shelley; the publication of Trelawny's autobiography; biographies of Byron by Thomas Moore and Thomas Medwin; and projected works on Shelley by his widow, and Trelawny, and on William Godwin by Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin) Shelley.

1518. J. B. SHELOR PAPERS, 1860-91. 10 items. Pulaski County, Va.

Family correspondence of J. B. Shelor, Confederate soldier, and letters concerning his postwar candidacy for justice of the peace.

1519. SHENANDOAH COUNTY (VA.) DEEDS, WILL, AND ACCOUNT BOOK, 1794-1850. 5 items and 3 vols. Shenandoah County, Va.

Four deeds, 1794-1842, for land on Mill Creek in Shenandoah County sold by Jacob Longenecker, John Frederick Kirkhove, and Jacob Zirkel, the latter selling to Jacob Tisinger; and the will of Magdalene Tisinger. Included also are three volumes as follows: a list of taxables and taxable property including tithables, horses, and vehicles for 1829-30, 1836; and unidentified and undated accounts.

Legal correspondence of James E. Shepherd (1847-1910), Confederate telegraph operator under Brigadier General Samuel Jones in West Virginia and later at headquarters of General J. C. Breckenridge; lawyer in partnership with Thomas Sparrow in Washington, North Carolina, 1871-75; member of the constitutional convention of 1875; judge of Beaufort County superior court, 1882-93; chief justice of North Carolina supreme court, 1893-97; and Raleigh lawyer.

Included in the correspondence are several letters of recommendation for Dr. Joseph J. Phillips, an applicant for a position at St. Luke's Hospital, New York City; among the letters of recommendation are three from A. C. Avery, J. B. Cheshire, and Bennett Smedes. There are also letters urging Shepherd to accept the nomination for the chief justice of North Carolina. The remainder of the collection pertains to legal matters largely involving cases bearing on a building and loan association and a lumber firm of eastern North Carolina. Included also is a commonplace book evidently kept by Shepherd while a student in Richmond, Virginia. Among the correspondents are F. H. Busbee, Angus W. McLean, and Henry A. Page.

1521. JAMES SHEPPARD PAPERS, (1830-79) 1889. 1,538 items. Hanover County, Va.

Personal and business correspondence and business papers of James Sheppard (ca. 1816-70), who owned large plantations in Jefferson County, Arkansas, Copiah County, Mississippi, and Hanover County, Virginia. Included are letters from New Orleans merchants and from plantation overseers with statements on prices, conditions of cotton, amounts of profit or loss of the planters, and quality and quantity of goods bought by the farmers; letters showing the relations between the New Orleans cotton market and the situation in England and Europe generally; discussions of slave problems on the farm, and social and economic conditions in Arkansas, Mississippi, and Virginia prior to the Civil War; numerous prices current; medical accounts of Dr. Joseph Sheppard; accounts of the Arkansas and Mississippi plantations; tax returns, 1859, showing James Sheppard's large land- and slave-holdings in Arkansas; and claims filed against the Federal Government for large amounts of property destroyed during the Civil War. The material after James Sheppard's death consists chiefly of family letters written from Richmond, Virginia.

1522. SAMUEL P. SHERRILL ACCOUNT BOOK, 1845-47. 1 vol. Quallatown (Haywood County), N. C.

Accounts of a general merchant.

1523. DANIEL SHINE PAPERS, 1793 (1809-31). 42 items. Louisburg, N. C.

Personal and family letters to Daniel Shine, Methodist Episcopal minister of Franklin County, North Carolina. Many of the letters depict the religious feelings of the period among the evangelical group, conversion of sinners, camp meetings, and other religious matters.

1524. THOMAS J. SHINN PAPERS, 1837-93. 8 items. Georgeville (Cabarrus County), N. C.

The collection includes an amnesty oath and a political pardon to Thomas J. Shinn; and letters from Shinn, a student at Trinity College, Randolph County, North Carolina, concerning college life, "Society" politics in campus elections, rumors of the possible dismissal of Dr. John Franklin Crowell, president of Trinity College, and a description of the electric light system and tobacco factories of Winston, North Carolina, in 1892.

1525. J. W. SHIPP TESTIMONY, 1867-82. 1 vol. Spartanburg, S. C.

A detailed account of the dismissal of J. W. Shipp from the faculty of Wofford College, including an explanatory letter to his father, the Reverend A. M. Shipp.

1526. WILLIAM DAVID SHIRER PAPERS, 1860-93. 10 items. Berkeley County, S. C.

1527. ISAAC SHOEMAKER DIARY, 1864. 1 vol. Warrenton, Miss.

Diary of Isaac Shoemaker, a Northerner who operated a cotton plantation in Mississippi, reflecting the trials of a plantation manager after slaves had been freed, and containing information on agriculture.

1528. BETTIE SHOTWELL PAPERS, 1840 (1864-94). 39 items. Abram's Plain (Granville County), N. C.

Personal correspondence of Bettie Shotwell, including letters from her brother, J. A. Shotwell, a Confederate soldier, and from Sarah A. Skinner of Princeton, Massachusetts. The letters from Sarah A. Skinner afford a glimpse of the rapid spread of the temperance movement.

1529. DANIEL EDGAR SICKLES PAPERS, 1866. 14 items. New York City.

Telegrams to Daniel E. Sickles (1825-1914), general in the U. S. Army, later military governor of North and South Carolina, dealing with the reconstruction of courts and other military and civil matters.

1530. JOHN SIEGLING, JR., PAPERS, 1845-46. 3 items. Charleston, S. C.

Letters from John Siegling, Jr., member of a prominent Charleston family, while at Harvard Law School, Cambridge, Massachusetts. The letters describe university activities and Boston social life, and mention the Oregon question, possible war with England, and the Tirrell murder case, in which Rufus Choate won an acquittal.

1531. ALBERT SILER PAPERS, 1816 (1820-60) 1875. 69 items. Macon County, N. C.

Family and personal letters of two generations of the Siler family of western North Carolina, and two generations of the Chipman family of Montreal, Canada, and later of western North Carolina; the families were related by marriage. The Civil War letters are those of Albert Siler, who joined the Confederate Army in 1862, and mainly concern troop movements, illnesses, and deaths of men whom he knew. The postwar letters are written from Montreal to the Chipmans in North Carolina.

1532. EDWARD E. SILL PAPERS, 1862-64. 6 items. Flat Rock, N. C.

Letters of Edward E. Sill, adjutant of the 2d South Carolina Regiment, to his family, containing detailed descriptions of the battles of Fredericksburg, 1862, Spotsylvania Court House, 1864, and the siege of Petersburg and Richmond, 1864.

1533. LOUISA M. (JELKS) SILLS PAPERS, 1828 (1839-62) 1895. 35 items. Ala. and Nash County, N. C.

Personal correspondence among various members of the Jelks and Sills families, with references to the professional duties of Louisa M. (Jelks) Sills's husband, Grey Sills, a physician. The collection includes letters from Mrs. Sills's sister written from Alabama and Mississippi concerning plantation management in a "new and wild country"; letters on mercantile affairs in Alabama, where one of the boys entered business; a few Civil War letters commenting on economic conditions in Alabama and on politics; and letters concerning Reconstruction.

1534. ARTHUR SIMKINS PAPERS, 1810-46. 5 items. Edgefield District, S. C.

1535. FURNIFOLD McLENDEL SIMMONS PAPERS, 1890 (1920-29) 1931. Approximately 75,000 items. New Bern, N. C.

Official correspondence, chiefly carbon copies, covering a large part of the public life of Furnifold M. Simmons (1854-1940), Democratic party leader in North Carolina, and U. S. senator, 1901-31. There are large gaps prior to 1918, the correspondence being approximately complete for the 1920's. There are a few comments on reform politics and the orthodox Southern position during Theodore Roosevelt's administration. Other material concerns the Underwood-Simmons Tariff, Wilsonian reforms, the financing of the European War, 1914-18 (Simmons was chairman of the Senate Finance Committee), the Southern defection from Alfred E. Smith in 1928, and the technique of machine politics. Most of the collection, however, deals with routine political matters, such as applications and recommendations for appointments, requests for political literature, suggestions for procedure in campaigns, and aid to American veterans of the European War, 1914-18, in securing benefits of special legislation. There are letters from almost every public figure of the period, including Presidents Calvin Coolidge, Herbert C. Hoover, William H. Taft, and Woodrow Wilson. The collection, however, does not represent the complete correspondence of Simmons.

1536. WILLIAM H. SIMMONS ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1851-71. 6 vols. Tomkinsville (Choctaw County), Ala.

1537. WILLIAM GILMORE SIMMS PAPERS, 1838 (1844-66) 1870. 43 items. Charleston, S. C.

Personal, literary, and political correspondence of William Gilmore Simms (1806-70), South Carolina poet and novelist, which deals principally with the publication of his books and many projected works. Letters from Simms to Alfred Billings, Armistead Burt, Paul Hamilton Hayne [published by Jay B. Hubbell, The Last Years of Henry Timrod . . . (Durham, N. C., 1941)], and Joel Roberts Poinsett discuss literary and current political matters. Sixteen of the items are photostatic reproductions.

1538. JAMES A. SIMPSON PAPERS, 1861. 2 items. (S. C.)

Letters from James A. Simpson, Confederate private in "Hampton's Legion," describing the Battle of Manassas, 1861, and commenting on camp life and an epidemic of measles.

1539. WILLIAM DUNLAP SIMPSON PAPERS, 1798 (1852-78) 1914. 3,660 items. Laurens, S. C.

Legal and personal correspondence and papers of William D. Simpson (1823-90), governor of South Carolina, 1878-80, and of his law partner, Henry C. Young, and of his sons who became the law partners of Henry C. Young, dealing chiefly with the Civil War and Reconstruction periods, although the subject matter is varied. Prior to 1852, the collection is confined altogether to legal papers, chiefly deeds evidently used in legal cases. The collection includes a number of letters from Congressman Daniel Wallace to F. Nance, regarding Wallace's ward, Robert Dunlop; a handwritten copy of the "Code of Honor of Duelling," written by John Lyde Wilson and published in 1858 as the Code of Honor or Rules for the Government of Principals and Seconds in Duelling; a letter from one Richardson of Asheville, North Carolina, referring to the climate, strawberry crops, slaves, Union Democrats, and the low ebb of Masonry, July, 1860; letters from W. B. Young, describing conditions and routine life in Confederate camps, mentioning the second Battle of Manassas, 1862, telling of a trip to California, 1868, via the Isthmus, and describing the California climate and agricultural and labor conditions, and referring to postwar attitudes in Alabama and the attempt to rid that state of Radical rule; and a letter from William Watson of Greenville, South Carolina, concerning the removal of Jews from the town. Among the numerous other topics discussed or mentioned in the collection are the attitude toward freedmen; suppression of papers in the North during the Civil War; secession; abolition; struggles between Conservatives and Radicals; lack of confidence in President Andrew Johnson; emigration to Missouri; a gold movement to Idaho, Montana, and Colorado; conditions in Missouri under a Radical governor and legislature; and prices for room and board, and slaves, corn, cotton, and other agricultural products in South Carolina.

1540. RICHARD SINGLETON PAPERS, 1782 (1794-1844) 1868. 400 items. High Hills of Santee (Sumter County), S. C.

Family, business, and political correspondence and plantation accounts of Richard Singleton, captain in the Continental Army, who distinguished himself under General Francis Marion. Included are several letters from Abraham Van Buren, son of Martin Van Buren, and son-in-law of Singleton; four letters from Martin Van Buren, concerning politics and family matters; and letters of Angelica (Singleton) Van Buren, wife of Abraham Van Buren and social leader.

1541. GEORGE N. SKIPWITH DIARIES AND ACCOUNT BOOK, 1848-69. 4 vols. Richmond, Va.

A diary concerning local happenings in Richmond, notes on the weather, and business affairs of George N. Skipwith (d. 1874), an employee in the office of the James River and Kanawha Canal Company at Richmond. The account book, 1848-51, contains lists of items charged to the "R. & D. R. R. Co." by Skipwith.

1542. HUMBERSTON SKIPWITH PAPERS, 1784-1853. 4 items and 1 vol. Clarks-ville, Va.

Family letters, tax memoranda, and an account book of Humberston Skipwith (d. 1863), plantation owner in Mecklenburg County, Virginia.

1543. WILLIAM AND JEREMIAH SLADE PAPERS AND ACCOUNT BOOKS, 1751 (1800-65) 1869. 1,703 items and 16 vols. Williamston, N. C.

Family and business correspondence and records, including letters from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1820-30, letters pertaining to the Mexican War, indentures, deeds, grants, wills, account books, etc., of the Slade family, prominent in the mercantile business and in military service.

Of approximately three hundred letters written during the Civil War, many are from the Slade brothers, Henry, William, James, and "Bog" or J. B., who served in the Confederate Army. Included are comments on the organization of military companies; campaigns around Yorktown, Virginia, during 1861; fighting, refugees, and the enemy in eastern North Carolina; living conditions and high prices; Longstreet's Corps in Caroline County, Virginia, in 1863; and the military situation around Knoxville, Tennessee, in 1863. There are also war letters of one Eli Peal to his wife in eastern North Carolina, containing advice on farming operations; payment of taxes; accounts of skirmishes at Camp Burgwyn near Wilmington, North Carolina; difficulty of obtaining clothes; and references to guard duty. The correspondence of the Slade family also contains letters to and from the various sisters during the Civil War. Letters of "Bog" or J. B. Slade early in 1861 from Harris County, Georgia, reflect enthusiasm for the newly formed Confederacy. A few letters early in 1861 are from Henry Slade, a student at Trinity College, Randolph County, North Carolina, until he joined the army in the same year. Henry Slade mentions Braxton Craven, in whose home he boarded.

Among the volumes are records of administration of the estate of Ebenezer Slade (d. 1815) with accounts of hiring slaves and rent of lands; and account books of Jeremiah Slade, evidently in the lumber business, and court records kept by William Slade, apparently while serving as clerk of the court. Included also among William Slade's accounts are records of supplies advanced, of hogs killed, and of lumber sawed and six time books.

1544. RICHARD SLATE PAPERS, 1814-33. 4 items. Lancashire, England.

Letters of Richard Slate (1787-1867), minister of an independent church near Manchester and later in Lancashire, respecting the authenticity of an incident in Slate's biography of Oliver Heywood; a letter from a missionary in the South Sea Islands, detailing the difficulties encountered and commenting on the indolence of the natives; and a printed circular addressed to clergymen.

1545. DANIEL F. SLAUGHTER PAPERS, 1775 (1830-40) 1865. 100 items. Culpeper Court House, Va.

Business correspondence regarding financial difficulties and claims for service during the Revolutionary War by Daniel Slaughter, attorney of Fredericksburg and Richmond, Virginia; and material concerning Daniel Slaughter's father, Philip Slaughter, major in the Continental Army.

1546. GILFORD H. SLAUGHTER PAPERS, 1838 (1855-76) 1912. 111 items and 1 vol. Nashville and Bethlehem, Tenn.

Personal and family correspondence and papers of the Slaughter family, Tennessee planters, including itemized bills for household articles and farming equipment; a printed invitation to the funeral of Joshua W. Milton; a brief personal note written by Slaughter from a Confederate Army camp; and a daybook, 1877-82.

1547. MONTGOMERY SLAUGHTER PAPERS, 1862-64. 13 items and 1 vol. Federicksburg, Va.

Business correspondence of Montgomery Slaughter, speculator in wheat, flour manufacturer, old-line Whig, and mayor of Fredericksburg during the Civil War. Included are papers concerning proceedings of the city council during the occupation by Federal forces; copies of many letters addressed to the U. S. commander at Fredericksburg; a few letters from Slaughter's son, William, a student at the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington; and a letter book, 1862.

1548. PHILIP M. SLAUGHTER PAPERS, 1863-65. 275 items. Va.

Invoices of stores, requisitions for provisions, abstracts of purchases, etc., collected by Philip M. Slaughter, Confederate major in charge of the commissary in General William Mahone's brigade. With the exception of one item in 1864 and another in 1865, the entire collection falls in 1863.

1549. SLAVE SALES PAPERS, 1757-1863. 179 items. Various places.

Records and accounts of the purchase and sale of slaves in the Southern States, particularly in South Carolina.

1562. FRANKLIN E. SMITH PAPERS, 1818 (1835-70) 1898. 939 items. Linwood (Delaware County), Pa.

The correspondence and papers of Franklin E. Smith (d. 1878), a Pennsylvania sea captain and lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy, and of his family. The letters contain much information on Smith's family, his career and journeys as a sea captain, and the Civil War period. The collection contains significant, but scattered, material. The earlier material in the collection consists of letters from Smith to his parents and to his first wife, Elizabeth, and concerns his voyages on the trading vessel Eutaw, carrying coffee and cotton between Delaware and Calcutta, India; his transfer to the brig Mary in 1831; his connection with the shipping firm of Grinnell, Minturn and Company; and the wrecking of the ship Sampson in 1841. For the period 1838-46 the correspondence relates to Smith's second marriage, 1838, to Mary Caroline Trainer of Marcus Hook, Pennsylvania, and his settling on a farm with his wife and daughters, Sarah and Hannah. For the period 1846-52 the collection concerns Smith's return to the sea on the brig Osceola; his service in the Mexican War; the wrecking of his ship Vera Cruz, owned by the firm Burling and Dixon; a voyage around Cape Horn, 1851; a trip to San Francisco, 1851-52; and his sailing the Messenger for the firm Ritchie, Osgood and Company, transporting goods of Wm. Platt and Sons. The miscellaneous pre-Civil War material concerns Negro crews on sailing vessels, 1841; British negotiations for the purchase of Cuba, 1841; Genesee Farmer, 1842; Shelby County, Kentucky, 1846; the Revolution of 1848 in France; food prices, 1849; a cholera epidemic, 1849; agricultural conditions in Pennsylvania, 1851; Shanghai, China, 1851; price of cattle, 1853; the Taiping rebellion in China, 1853; Savannah, Georgia, 1855; education of young girls, 1856; relics in European churches, 1856; James Buchanan's inauguration, 1857; Stephen A. Douglas's nomination, 1860; Republican party election in Pennsylvania, 1860; and seizure of the English vessel Patras bearing contraband. The Civil War material is particularly full and presents the Federal point of view of the war. It deals chiefly with Smith's blockading activities aboard the U. S. S. Bienville under the command of Samuel Francis Du Pont. Among the other Civil War topics mentioned or discussed are arrival of U. S. S. Bienville at Fortress Monroe, Virginia, 1861; the battle and capture of Port Royal, South Carolina, 1861; Copperhead activities in Delaware, 1861; financing of the 1st Delaware Volunteer Regiment, 1861; a recommendation by Charles I. Du Pont to William Burton that Dr. Arthur H. Grimshaw be made colonel of the 4th Delaware Regiment, 1861; activities of Federal ships off South Carolina, 1861; "Yankee" depredations, 1862; the son of James Gordon Bennett, 1862; the Democratic party, 1862; capture of Fernandina, Florida, 1862; David L. Yulee, 1862; political corruption, particularly in the Republican party, 1862; escape of Negroes from the Confederacy to the Federal forces, 1862; propaganda, 1862; second Battle of Manassas, 1862; retreat to Washington, 1862; Rebel activities around Cincinnati, Ohio, 1862; removal of George B. McClellan, 1862; attempt of ironclads to attack Charleston, South Carolina, 1863; attack on Vicksburg, Mississippi, 1863; conditions in New Orleans, 1863; Richmond campaign, 1863; arrest of C. L. Vallandigham, 1863; Confederate invasion of Pennsylvania, 1863; Battle of Gettysburg, 1863; abolitionists, 1863; Lincoln-McClellan campaign, 1864; commodity prices, 1864; capture of blockade runner Annie, 1864; Sherman's activities of destruction, 1864; attack on Fort Fisher, North Carolina, 1864; and Franklin E. Smith's trial and acquittal for disobedience, 1864; the post-bellum letters are chiefly concerned with family affairs and include references to life in a small Pennsylvania town; Franklin E. and Mary Caroline (Trainer) Smith's attitude toward Smith's becoming a Catholic; Sarah Smith's job as governess to Lily Apsley, daughter of a merchant in Boston, Massachusetts; gas for street lighting in Wilmington, Delaware, 1866; and conditions in Boston, 1869. Included also are anti-Republican speeches and documents of the Southern Railroad Company. Among the correspondents are Thomas F. Bayard, Henry R. Bringham, John M. Clayton, Charles I. Du Pont, George P. Fisher, Arthur H. Grimshaw, and Henry H. Lockwood.

1563. GUSTAVUS WOODSON SMITH PAPERS, 1861-65. 4 items. Scott County, Ky.

Letters from Gustavus Woodson Smith (1822-96), officer in the Mexican War and major general in the Confederate Army. One letter to Jefferson Davis describes the condition of the Army of the Potomac, 1861; another, to General William J. Hardee, describes the military situation in Georgia, December, 1864.

1570. THOMAS M. SMITH PAPERS, 1870-78. 271 items. Wilmington, N. C.

Correspondence of Thomas M. Smith, a general merchant at Horse Shoe, North Carolina, until 1872, a wholesale dealer in Wilmington, a Republican, and collector of U. S. Internal Revenue; of his son, Andrew Smith; and of his niece, Kate Landing. The letters, chiefly from Kate Landing and Andrew Smith, concern student life in general at a preparatory school in Magnolia; Davenport Female College, Lenoir, 1871-73; Wilson Collegiate Institute, 1874; a preparatory school at Whiteville; Wake Forest College, 1875; and the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1876-78, all in North Carolina. Both writers were unusually observant.

1571. WHITEFOORD SMITH PAPERS, 1807 (1839-60) 1893. 185 items and 8 vols. Charleston, S. C.

Letters, diaries, and miscellaneous pastoral memoranda and accounts of Whitefoord Smith (1812-93), successively a Methodist minister of Charleston, a member of the faculty of Wofford College, Spartanburg, South Carolina, and president of the Columbia Female Seminary, South Carolina. The collection contains material on the history of the Methodist Episcopal Church in South Carolina; letters from Smith's uncle, Whitefoord Smith of Leith, Scotland, commenting on the War of 1812, the Napoleonic campaign in Spain, and current happenings in England; material pertaining to the establishment in South Carolina of a Methodist Episcopal periodical free from abolitionist control; a letter from George McDuffie, concerning Smith's desire for a professorship at South Carolina College in Columbia; a copy of a letter from John C. Calhoun, concerning the case of Bishop James O. Andrew with reference to slaveholding; copy of the resolutions drawn up by the citizens of Charleston concerning the religious instruction of slaves; Civil War material relating to gifts of the Spartanburg ladies to the soldiers, friction of the government with the press, hopes which the Confederates placed in the "ram" ships, and protests against the distillation of grain during the war; and postwar material concerning Smith's activities in the temperance movement. Included also are two diaries, 1849, 1853-63, with brief notes relative generally to the pastoral activities of Smith.

1572. WILLIAM SMITH PAPERS, 1841-85. 8 items. Richmond, Va.

Correspondence of William Smith (1796-1887), governor of Virginia, 1846-49, 1864-65, concerning appointments to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland; ice for the governor's mansion, 1864, and exemptions from conscription during the Civil War.

1573. WILLIAM NATHAN HARRELL SMITH DIARY AND PAPERS, 1838 (1856-74) 1886. 35 items and 1 vol. Raleigh, N. C.

Letters from William N. H. Smith (1812-89), Yale-trained lawyer of North Carolina (admitted to bar in 1834), active politician, member of the Confederate Congress, and chief justice of the North Carolina supreme court. One letter concerns the election of Smith to the Union Literary Society (probably of Raleigh, North Carolina); another contains interesting comments on Richmond in 1862, on England's disposition toward the Confederacy, and on the attitude of the Negro toward the war. There are twelve letters written to Smith while a member of the Confederate Congress; letters relative to conditions prevailing during the Civil War; and general business and legal correspondence. Included also is a personal diary of Smith, kept while in Murfreesboro, North Carolina, 1846-66, and chiefly concerning accounts of estates for which he seemed to be administrator.

1574. WILLIAM R. SMITH MEMORANDUM BOOK, 1852-55. 1 vol. Scotland Neck, N. C.

1575. ELIZABETH MOORMAN SMITHSON PAPERS, 1805 (1820-75) 1902. 611 items. Lunenburg County, Va.

Family correspondence of Elizabeth M. Smithson and of William Smithson, probably her father. The collection chiefly concerns personal affairs, although there are a few letters from Confederate soldiers; a letter from N. M. Osborn, Jr. a Confederate soldier, concerning the outlook for the South; and a letter giving a brief secondhand account of the Battle of Gettysburg, 1863.

1576. EDGAR SMITHWICK PAPERS, 1863-67. 30 items. Martin County, N. C.

Letters from Edgar Smithwick, a Confederate soldier, to his mother, concerning financial matters and economic conditions, and describing the battlefield at Petersburg, Virginia.

1577. THOMAS SNEED ACCOUNT BOOK, 1821-29. 1 vol. (Person County, N. C.)

Blacksmith accounts.

1578. JOHN SNOW PAPERS, 1863-65. 10 items. Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Correspondence of John Snow (b. 1843), Confederate soldier, hardware merchant, and planter. The letters concern Civil War fighting around Chattanooga, Tennessee, 1863; the Atlanta campaign, 1864; and a visit to Massachusetts after the war.

1579. SOCIAL THOUGHT IN THE WORKS OF TEN ELIZABETHAN DRAMATISTS, 1940. 1 vol. Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Typed essays of Duke University graduate students.

1580. SOCIALIST PARTY OF AMERICA PAPERS, 1900 (1915-32) 1938. 95,000 items and 23 vols. Chicago, Ill.

Official files of the Socialist party of America, which became extinct as an active organization when the party split on the war issue in 1938. The records thus virtually cover the history of the party, from the proceedings of the Unity Conference of 1901 (when the Social Democratic party was merged with certain elements of the Socialist Labor party to form the Socialist party of America) to the year preceding the outbreak of the war in 1939. The outstanding figure in the collection from 1901 until 1926 was Eugene V. Debs; after that date Norman Thomas became the dominant figure. The collection contains, almost complete, the office files of the party and correspondence on political campaigns, personal membership, organization, finance, and polity; thousands of press releases of the party; broadsides issued by national, state, and local offices; circulars; photographs; letter books; and court records. The material from 1900 to 1915 is not so extensive as for the later years, but there are letter books of the early national secretaries and proceedings of the conventions. Included also are numerous records of the efforts and progress of the party in Wisconsin, of efforts to promote municipal ownership of utilities, and of activities concerned with the European War, 1914-18, among which the Berger trial and the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs were outstanding.

The collection shows definitely the rise of revolutionary Socialism in the party until the left wing split from the group in 1919 and formed the Communist party. In 1923 there are numerous records pointing to efforts of the party to spread its organization. Abundant material exists on efforts of the party to fight the Ku-Klux Klan, to aid Negroes, aliens, and share croppers, and to free Thomas J. Mooney; much of this material was the result of the work of Clarence Senior, an enthusiastic young man who was made executive secretary in 1929; copies of many of Senior's letters are included. Records become more voluminous after 1929 when the depression drew thousands of workers into the Socialist party, but after 1932 the papers show clearly that President Franklin D. Roosevelt's social reforms had lessened general interest in the program of the Socialist party. Among the records is a copy of William Green's report to the President of the United States on Communist activity in the United States in 1933.

Much of the correspondence from 1936 through 1938 is concerned with the Young People's Socialist League. The records are also concerned with advanced instruction in socialist principles centering in Brookwood Labor College, Katonah, New York, and the Rand School of Social Science, New York City.

Among the records are countless orders for literature, letters making arrangements for speakers, reports of organizers and state secretaries, reports from speakers, and correspondence with socialists in other countries. No brief sketch of these files can give an adequate idea of the scope and importance of the records of the Socialist party of America.

Among the many notable correspondents are Heywood Broun, Sherwood Eddy, Morris Hillquit, Daniel W. Hoan, Fannie Hurst, Howard Kester, Manuel Komroff, Walter Lippmann, Ramsay MacDonald, Bertha Howell Mailly, Reinhold Niebuhr, Kirby Page, Upton Sinclair, and Deems Taylor.

Gary; a typed copy of an editorial from the New York Sun, February 1, 1878, criticizing the political activities of M. C. Butler and Martin W. Gary; Gary's accusation of Wade Hampton and Hampton's reply regarding the Tilden electors; an estimate of Wade Hampton, found among the Gary papers, written after the controversy between Hampton and Gary over the U. S. senatorship.

1587. SAMUEL LEWIS SOUTHARD PAPERS, 1828. 2 items. Flemington, N. J.

Correspondence referring to appointments by Samuel Southard (1787-1842), lawyer, U. S. senator, secretary of the navy, 1823-25, secretary of war, 1828, and Whig governor of New Jersey.

1588. ROBERT SOUTHEY PAPERS, 1798-1837. 13 items. Keswick, England.

Letters from Robert Southey (1774-1843), English poet, relating to personal, literary, financial, and publishing matters. Letters, apparently unpublished, allude to the "Welsh Invasion and the Bank stoppage," Southey's Joan of Arc, his daily routine of work, William Pitt, one Gimbernatt, Thomas Carlyle, and the manuscript of the history of Brazil. Included also are literary notes in Southey's hand, a letter from Caroline Southey to L. T. Pilgrim acknowledging for her husband a gift from Pilgrim; and a business note to Southey from Robert Baldwin. [Partially published: Charles C. Southey (ed.), Life and Correspondence of Robert Southey (London, 1849-50), I, 61; II, 8; IV, 256; and John W. Warter (ed.), Life and Correspondence of Robert Southey (London, 1849-50), VI, 132.]

1605. ABRAM PENN STAPLES PAPERS, 1813 (1833-1913) 1931. 635 items and 1 vol. Stuart (Patrick County), Va.

Personal and family correspondence of Abram P. Staples (1793-1856), member of the Virginia assembly, 1818-19, and clerk of superior court in Patrick County, Virginia, 1820-30; of his grandson, Abram Penn Staples (d. 1913), professor of law at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia; of the great granddaughter of the first Abram Penn Staples, Harris DeJarnette Staples; and a few scattered letters of other members of the family. Centering around Abram Penn Staples (1793-1856) are letters from him while a student at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, 1816; letters from him while in the Virginia assembly with comments on local politics; papers connected with his services as clerk of court; and from 1838 to 1855, letters to the elder Staples from Archibald Stuart, member of U. S. Congress from Virginia, relative to current legislative activities, business letters from Washington C. DePauw, and one letter from Beverley Tucker relative to the progress of Staples's son, Waller, a student of law at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. Beginning in 1883 there are numerous letters from Sallie Cushing Hart to her future husband, Abram Penn Staples (d. 1913). The remainder of the collection consists of letters from four ardent suitors to Harris DeJarnette Staples, daughter of Abram P. and Sallie Cushing (Hart) Staples, including a number from a titled German, Ludo von Meyenburg, and letters to her from her parents, especially from her mother, containing schemes for encouraging the suit of von Meyenburg. Included also is a single letter of Senator George W. Pepper introducing David W. Persinger, a friend of the Staples, to a lawyer in St. Louis, Missouri; and a tax account book, 1787, kept by Samuel G. Staples, the father of Abram Penn Staples (1793-1856). 1606. STATE BANK OF COLUMBIA PAPERS, 1897 (1908-23) 1933. 15,060 items and 100 vols. Columbia (Fluvanna County), Va.

Family correspondence of John Stuckey.

1637. LEWIS OSBORNE SUGG PAPERS, 1829 (1860-70) 1901. 200 items. Brower's Mill (Randolph County), N. C.

Family correspondence of Lewis Osborne Sugg, including letters from Sugg while a Confederate soldier at the Fayetteville arsenal in North Carolina, a telegram from Thomas Charles Fuller, Raleigh lawyer; references to desertions from Confederate ranks and skirmishes between them and the home guard; and a letter, 1869, from Trinity College, Randolph County, North Carolina.

1638. SAMUEL SUGG ACCOUNT BOOK, 1807-25. 1 vol. Wake County, N. C.

1639. SULARD AND HILLIARD LEDGER, 1839-42. 1 vol. St. Louis, Mo.

1640. JULIUS A. SUMMERS PAPERS, 1861-64. 4 items. Iredell County, N. C.

Letters from Julius A. Summers, Confederate soldier, describing the first Battle of Manassas, 1861, the defense of Richmond, and the destruction of Federal stores.

1641. JAMES A. SUTHERLAND PAPERS, 1857-67. 19 items. Palmyra (Fluvanna County), Va.

1642. WILLIAM T. SUTHERLIN PAPERS, 1846 (1858-65) 1894. 234 items. Danville, Va.

Letters and papers of William T. Sutherlin (1822-93), major in the Confederate Army, president of the Virginia Agricultural Society, and manufacturer of tobacco, throwing light on his interests in real estate, railroad building, wheat, cotton, and especially the tobacco business during the Confederate period. The letters describe labor problems during and immediately following the Civil War.

1643. DAVID LOWRY SWAIN PAPERS, 1854-60. 6 items. Chapel Hill, N. C.

Correspondence of David Lowry Swain (1801-68), governor of North Carolina and president of the University of North Carolina, and of Peter Force, relating to a history of North Carolina, authorized by an act of the general assembly in 1854. Among the correspondents are James C. Dobbin, Peter Force, and David Lowry Swain.

1644. JOHN SWATS PAPERS, 1857; 1865. 2 items. Burke's Mills (Augusta County), Va.

A letter to John Swats from his son in Illinois, advising him to move there from Virginia "as Illinois is a very lucrative farming country"; and a Civil War poem, written by a North Carolinian who had joined the Federal forces.

1645. JOHN SYKES PAPERS, 1857-67. 15 items. Oglethorpe County, Ga.

Business papers of John Sykes, overseer on the plantation of Henry Hull, relative to military exemption, a furlough in 1863, oath of allegiance, taxes in kind, and a labor contract with a freedman.

Personal letters from John Addington Symonds (1840-93), English author, critic, and historian, written while in Switzerland to his close friend, Edmund W. Gosse, showing Symond's admiration for Walt Whitman and his interest in classical learning.

1647. HESTER E. VAN BIBBER TABB PAPERS, 1816 (1820-22). 43 items. North End (Mathews County), Va.

Letters of Virginia girls written after attending Miss Lyman's School in Philadelphia, telling something of their teachers, studies, and social life.

1648. TABERNACLE SUNDAY SCHOOL MINUTES, 1843-56. 1 vol. Randolph County, N. C.

Sparse records of a small country Baptist Sunday School which held its meetings in Sugg School House.

1649. JAMES GOODE TAIT PAPERS, 1845-54. 4 items. Black's Bluff (Wilcox County), Ala.

Correspondence of James Goode Tait (1833-1911), a planter in Wilcox County and, after 1849, in Colorado County, Texas; and of Robert and C. W. Tait, probably his brothers. The letters are chiefly concerned with crops and with plans for moving to Texas, although there is a description of a Fourth of July celebration in 1845.

1650. WILLIAM BOOTH TALIAFERRO PAPERS, 1865; 1871. 2 items. Gloucester County, Va.

A receipt for taxes, 1865, and a letter of introduction, 1871, of William B. Taliaferro (1822-98), soldier in the Mexican War, lawyer, major general in the Confederate Army, Virginia legislator, and county court judge.

1651. W. E. TALTON PAPERS, 1861. 2 items. De Kalb County, Ga.

Personal letters from W. E. Talton, Confederate private in the 7th Regiment, Georgia Volunteers, stationed at Winchester, Virginia, commenting on crops in Virginia and the expected short duration of the war.

1652. EVANS TANNER LEDGERS, 1843-63. 4 vols. Petersburg, Va.

Accounts of a general merchant.

1653. VINCENT TAPP PAPERS, 1786 (1808-21) 1835. 210 items and 1 vol. Staunton, Va.

Business, family, and official correspondence of Vincent Tapp (b. 1757), Revolutionary soldier and clerk of Augusta County Court. Included also is information about the Tapp family; Tapp's career as a soldier; the construction of the hall of Masonic Lodge No. 13, of which he was an active member; and a volume containing records of caring for the poor in Augusta County, 1791-1822.

1654. WILLIAM TARRY PAPERS, 1807 (1826-69). 323 items. Clarksville, Va.

Family letters concerned with William Tarry; his father, Edward Tarry; and the former's five children. The letters reflect Southern social conditions in the ante-bellum period and afford brief comments on the shortage of munitions during the Civil War.

1655. J. W. M. TATE DAYBOOK, 1855. 1 vol. Altamont (Grundy County), Tenn.

Accounts of a general merchant.

1656. WILLIAM C. TATE PAPERS, 1780 (1810-68). 14 items. Burke County, N. C.

Land grants, deeds, mortgages, certificates of stock in the Western North Carolina Railroad, and a pardon, 1865, granted William C. Tate by President Andrew Johnson for participation in the Civil War.

1657. JOSIAH TATTNALL PAPERS, 1775-1861. 7 items. Bonaventure (near Savannah), Ga.

Letters from Josiah Tattnall (1762-1803), Revolutionary soldier, U. S. senator, 1796-99, and governor of Georgia, 1800-1803; and from his son Josiah Tattnall (1795-1871), Confederate naval officer. One letter to a Mrs. Campbell relates to family affairs and a new tax on carriages, and one to Seaborn Jones concerns legal business. Included also is a deed, 1775, to Lewis Johnston and one Graham, and a letter from Elijah Clarke to Tattnall, recommending John Dooly for the office of solicitor. Included also are three letters from the younger Tattnall.

1658. OSBURN TATUM ACCOUNT BOOK, 1848-75. 1 vol. n.p.

Accounts of Osburn Tatum, a physician.

1659. AUGUSTIN LOUIS TAVEAU PAPERS, 1741 (1830-86) 1931. 1,858 items and 4 vols. Charleston, S. C.

Family, personal, literary, and business correspondence of Louis Augustin Thomas Taveau (1790-ca. 1857), planter; of his wife, Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball Taveau (d. 1847); of their son, Augustin Louis Taveau (1828-86), planter and author; of the latter's wife, Delphine (Sprague) Taveau (1832-ca. 1909); and of relatives and friends.

Papers prior to 1829 consist of a copy of the will of William Swinton made in 1741, letters between the Swinton and Girardeau families, a letter to Hugh Swinton describing the death of Josias Allston, letters in 1810 of Eliza G. Maybank to Margaret Swinton recording Charleston events, the marriage settlement of Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball and Louis Augustin Thomas Taveau with opinions by Thomas S. Grimké and Robert Y. Hayne regarding the right to sell, loan, or mortgage any property mentioned in the settlement, and a copy of the will of Caroline

Olivia (Ball) Laurens, daughter of Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball Taveau by her first marriage.

Beginning in June, 1829, and continuing for more than a year, the collection contains letters to Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball Taveau from her husband, Louis Augustin Thomas Taveau, while he was in France endeavoring to settle his father's estate. The burden of his letters consists of pleas for his wife to write although he often urged her to be economical and mentioned his children and his wife's children by her first marriage.

After 1830 there is a gap in the collection until 1838, when the papers begin to center around Augustin Louis Taveau (1828-86), while in school at Mt. Zion Academy, Winnsboro, South Carolina. From 1838 to 1840, young Taveau received letters from his father urging economy and from his mother urging greater piety and complaining of her health and of her husband's dissipation in going to the races and theater and dining out. Included also are letters from young Taveau's half sisters. Letters from his mother show that she and the elder Taveau had separated by 1838. During the same period, there are letters from Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball Taveau from upland South Carolina and Asheville, North Carolina, where she went for her health, and letters from the elder Taveau who was in France to supervise the return of his two daughters, Caroline Rosalie (b. 1824) and Augusta Melanie (b. 1825), who had been in school there for some time. After 1843, the elder Taveau sometimes mentions his rice planting at his plantation, "Clermont," near Charleston, but he more often urged his son to study and cease wasting money. During the same period young Taveau received boyish letters from his friends, especially from J. A. Gadsden, while the latter attended St. Paul's College, Long Island, New York. There are numerous copies of the wills of Martha Caroline (Swinton) Ball Taveau and of Horatio Sprague around 1847 and many letters then and subsequently regarding the division of the former's personal property. From 1848 until 1854 young Taveau, usually in or near Charleston, was the central character of a correspondence centering around his need for more spending money, his desultory study of law in the office of James L. Petigru, the estrangement between his father and mother, his extensive social engagements in Charleston, his literary activities usually as a poet, and his father's complaint that his son studied too little law and wrote too many poems. Although obtaining license in 1850 to practice law, Taveau paid no attention to law but concerned himself chiefly with pleasure and some literary pursuits. Letters during this period also show that he attended the College of Charleston for two years. In the literary correspondence of this period there are letters of William Gilmore Simms and John R. Thompson, those of the former containing advice to young Taveau and those of Thompson dealing generally with the condition of the Southern Literary Messenger, which he edited. In one letter Thompson tells of the financial troubles of the Messenger, stating that he had put $5,000 into the journal in an effort to provide a good Southern publication. The correspondence with Thompson also deals with young Taveau's efforts to write poetry for the Messenger, one or two of his poems having been published, and with young Taveau's efforts to obtain subscribers in Charleston. Many letters of young Taveau and of his sisters, prior to 1851, are concerned with the son's efforts to get spending money from the father.

After the beginning of the elder Taveau's illness in 1851, there are numerous letters from the trustee of the elder Taveau's estate regarding spending money for the son. By June, 1852, young Taveau succeeded in getting money for a trip abroad, his tour lasting until the end of 1854. Letters and papers of that period consist of hotel bills, other papers pertaining to his travels, letters from young Taveau to his friends regarding his travels or his need for extra money, and letters from his friends and relatives in Charleston giving accounts of cholera epidemics, yellow fever epidemics, parties, accounts of trips to various springs, weddings, and general gossip. Many of these letters were from W. H. Huger and Keating L. Simons, brother-in-law of Taveau.

On August 15, 1854, Taveau married Delphine Sprague, daughter of Horatio Sprague, merchant and consul at Gibraltar, where he had long been stationed on business. Sprague's wife, a Frenchwoman, was living at the time of Taveau's marriage, but Horatio Sprague had been dead for some time before 1854. Taveau and his wife returned to Charleston in 1855, and purchasing the Oaks Plantation on North Santee River, St. Paul's Parish, Colleton District, and a large number of slaves, he began growing rice. From 1855 until 1860, the papers contain correspondence with the publisher of Taveau's book of poems, The Magic Word and Other Poems (Boston, 1855), published under the pseudonym of "Alton," correspondence with the Sprague family in an effort to obtain the remainder of Delphine (Sprague) Taveau's patrimony, papers relative to a mortgage on Oaks Plantation held by Robert Hume, plans for Negro cabins, estimates for ditching and banking at Oaks, letters relative to the failure of Simons Brothers in Charleston in 1857 and the consequent loss of Oaks Plantation because Simons Brothers held Taveau's notes, letters of Taveau describing a trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, with his slaves and their sale, letters of Taveau to his wife describing various plantations in Mississippi and Louisiana, where he went in search of a rice plantation, and a series of letters in 1860 to and from Taveau, Ralph Elliott, and Clifford Simons regarding a supposedly slighting remark involving Taveau's credit.

Late in 1861 Taveau settled on a farm near Abbeville, South Carolina, but soon afterwards joined the Confederate Army. His career in the army continued until 1865. In letters to his wife during the war period, Taveau gave accounts of his efforts to get on the staff of General Nathan George Evans; descriptions of Charleston during the war; efforts and success in being transferred from any regiment ordered to the Virginia battlefields; methods for supporting his family; errands and small tasks for his wife in regard to his personal comfort; descriptions of Jackson, Mississippi, and its environs; a reference on June 20, 1863, to the artist of the London Illustrated News; descriptions of the battered condition of Fort Sumter; reference to an English gun of great range and fire power received in Charleston in 1863; reference to a torpedo boat attack on a Federal ironclad in a letter of October 8, 1863; accounts of the theft by Taveau and others of provisions and supplies sent by the Federals to Fort Sumter by truce boat for Federal prisoners; reference to a brief tenure in the Subsistence Department of the Army near Abbeville, South Carolina; accounts of his virtual desertion from General Thomas L. Clingman's brigade; copy of a letter evidently intended for a newspaper, protesting that gentlemen of birth and education could get no commissions in the army while sons of tinkers could; lists of supplies sent his family; accounts of high prices in Charleston; accounts of his duties as guard at the "Sub-Treasury" in Charleston; papers relating to an effort to permit Delphine (Sprague) Taveau and her three children to sail for Europe in December, 1864; and oaths of allegiance and passports issued to Taveau and his wife and children, March 3, 1865, for going to Boston, Massachusetts.

Immediately after the war, the papers contain letters and copies of letters published in the New York Tribune by Taveau under the title of "A Voice from South Carolina," stating that former Southern leaders could not be trusted and condemning them for having allowed conscription. Included also are drafts of letters from Taveau to Horace Greeley and William Aiken protesting that he, Taveau, had seen the error of his belief in slavery; and letters relative to Taveau's efforts to get the position of collector of the customs at Charleston; accounts of an interview of Taveau with Greeley and with President Andrew Johnson; letter of June 25, 1865, describing conditions in Charleston and Columbia, South Carolina; a copy of a petition signed by Henry L. Benbow, A. R. Chisholm, William Gregg, and Taveau begging President Johnson to appoint a provisional governor for South Carolina; several letters to and from William Aiken; and letters written by Taveau to his wife in the autumn of 1865 from various points in Virginia including areas near Richmond, Alexandria, and Warrenton, where he had gone in search of a farm.

Taveau and his family finally settled in 1866 near Chaptico in St. Mary's County, Maryland, on a farm partly purchased by Delphine (Sprague) Taveau's brothers but with a mortgage on it. From 1866 until 1881, the correspondence is concerned with efforts to obtain patents and money for developing a revolving harrow and a steam plow invented by Taveau; efforts to obtain money for meeting the annual interest on the sum owed for the farm near Chaptico; and accounts of Taveau's literary activities. Included from 1866 until 1877 are many letters of Joseph Smith, retired rear admiral of the U. S. Navy and old friend of Horatio Sprague, remarkable for their undeserved sympathy to Taveau, his understanding of national problems, descriptions of summer jaunts to the North, his fears that the United States was not to become a great nation, and accounts of many errands at the U. S. Patent Office for Taveau. There are letters and papers bearing on Taveau's efforts to interest the Ames Plow Company, as well as manufacturers of farm machinery in Dayton, Ohio, in his inventions and drawings and circulars relative to the inventions.

From 1878 until Taveau's death, his papers contain manuscripts of his poems and correspondence with many leading publishing houses regarding the publication of Montezuma (published in New York in 1883 and again in 1931). Thereafter much of his correspondence consisted of letters of thanks from various relatives, friends, and well-known literary figures for copies of Montezuma sent them by Taveau; and letters to newspapers and magazines submitting his poems and usually followed by letters of rejection. During the 1880's there are many letters from T. J. Hyland-MacGrath, a genealogist of New York. There are also clippings of notices of Taveau's poem Montezuma. Included are many unpublished poems by Taveau, two volumes of poems, two volumes of "Leon de Montega; a Romance of Cadiz," a few copies of articles on agriculture, notes on genealogy, and many clippings. Included also are many letters of Augustin Louis Taveau, Jr., usually relative to the finances of the Taveau family and to his work as overseer of a farm, "Jutland," in Maryland. Throughout the collection there are many letters from the mother and sisters of Delphine (Sprague) Taveau, usually in French. Letters of her brothers, however, were generally in English. The mother of Delphine (Sprague) Taveau and one or two of her sisters continued to live at Gibraltar. Earlier in the collection there are many letters in French from the relatives of Louis Augustin Thomas Taveau.

Among the correspondents are William Aiken, O. W. Holmes, J. J. Pettigrew, W. G. Simms, Joseph Smith, and John R. Thompson. [Some of Taveau's earlier literary correspondence including his letters, and replies of well-known literary figures, chiefly from John R. Thompson, have been published, although some of the biographical data concerning Taveau is incorrect: David K. Jackson (ed.), "Some Unpublished Letters of John R. Thompson and Augustin Louis Taveau," William and Mary College Quarterly, XVI (April, 1936), 206-221; "Letters of Georgia Editors and a Correspondent," Georgia Historical Quarterly, XXIII (June, 1939), 170-176.]

1660. CABELL TAVENNER AND ALEXANDER SCOTT WITHERS PAPERS, 1784 (1828-67) 1929. 3,000 items. Wood County, W. Va.

Family and legal correspondence and papers of Cabell Tavenner (1808-49), attorney and member of the Virginia House of Delegates, and of various members of the family of Alexander Scott Withers (1792-1865), author of Chronicles of Border Warfare . . . (Cincinnati, 1895). The two families were allied through the marriage of Alexander Withers's daughter, Jennet Scott, to Cabell Tavenner in 1840.

The bulk of the collection is made up of legal documents, some of them dating as far back as 1784 and bearing, either in the original or as a copy, signatures of Beverly Randolph and Henry Lee. Included are land surveys, land grants, leases, articles of agreement, deeds of sale, trial dockets, and petitions. Among the names appearing most often in the early papers are those of Samuel Hanway and Thomas Laidley. Most of the tracts of land concerned lay in Harrison and Monongalia counties, now in West Virginia, although some were in other areas of Virginia and West Virginia. These early documents apparently fell into Tavenner's hands by reason of his profession, for many similar ones of later dates are concerned with litigation, chiefly on the collection of notes or the settlement of land claims. The earliest personal papers are those of Cabell Tavenner written while he was a student at Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, including routine "compositions" and an oration delivered before the "A. L. S. V. U." In 1832 Tavenner received from the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, the degree of Bachelor of Laws; the collection for this particular year includes letters not only from his Jefferson College friends, but also from Tavenner to his father, Thomas Tavenner, mentioning fees at the University of Virginia, types of examinations given candidates for legal degrees, high feelings of students on the Nullification issue, and the work of Professor John A. G. Davis in promulgating Southern political views. Papers for the years 1833-41 include household accounts of both the Tavenner and Withers families and legal correspondence of Cabell Tavenner which indicates that he had moved from Parkersburg in Wood County (now West Virginia), home of both the families, and established himself in Weston, Lewis County (now West Virginia). Letters for 1842-44 reveal that Tavenner was a member of the Virginia House of Delegates, but they are meager in their allusions to the work of that body. There are, however, occasional references to impeachment proceedings against one Judge Scott. As a consequence of Cabell Tavenner's death there are numerous letters concerning the settlement of his estate, most of these being from Enoch T. Withers, Jennet Scott (Withers) Tavenner's brother, and an executor of the estate. These letters and later ones indicate that Cabell Tavenner had rather extensive landholdings.

Following 1849, the Withers family, with whom the collection then became largely concerned, began to separate. In 1856 Mary Josephine ("Poca" or "Josey") Withers, younger sister of Jennet Scott (Withers) Tavenner, married James Owen, a printer. He went to Austin, Texas, looking for work, and she followed somewhat later with their young son, Horace. Her description of the trip through South Carolina, Alabama, and Louisiana is graphic, as is that of life in Galveston, Texas, where they ultimately settled. Particularly interesting are references to the number of Germans in Texas and the employment of a Dutch girl as a maid when Negroes could not be had. In April, 1859, Enoch Thornton Withers, brother of Jennet Scott (Withers) Tavenner, migrated with his wife, Sarah (Steinbeck) Withers, and his family, to Birdville, Tarrant County, Texas. He wrote to his father of the appearance of the landscape and the adaptability of the country to wheat and cattle raising, particularly Cashmere goats. Sometime prior to 1859, another younger sister of Jennet, Elizabeth Ann ("Bettie") Withers, married John Thornhill, of New Orleans, and went to that place to live, taking with her William Cabell Tavenner, the eldest son of Cabell and Jennet Scott (Withers) Tavenner, to work as clerk in her husband's mercantile firm. It is possible that this firm was a commission house, since "Willie" often wrote to his family in Virginia on the state of the cotton market in New Orleans. Many of these letters include descriptions of New Orleans as seen through the eyes of a boy approximately eighteen years old. In the correspondence from both Texas and New Orleans there are frequent references to the ever-present fear of yellow fever and the prevailing custom of going North in the summer months to escape the "Yellow Jack." The Withers family was related to Bolling R. Chinn, of Louisiana.

With the approach of the Civil War the correspondence includes much political discussion and reveals a definite line of demarcation between the portion of the Withers family in the Lower South and that remaining in western Virginia. "Willie" Tavenner tells in letters to his family in Virginia of his own and his uncle Thornhill's joy at Virginia's seceding and announces that he has joined the Confederate Army in Louisiana. Early in the war he was transferred to Virginia, where he later became lieutenant colonel of the 17th Virginia Cavalry. His letters tell little of his life in the Confederate Army, but the letters of Henry Withers, eldest son of Alexander Scott Withers, and, like his father, a Union adherent and advocate of the establishment of West Virginia, tell more about his daily life as a Federal soldier. The latter, a major in rank, was held as prisoner of war in Richmond during the final months of 1862 and beginning of 1863. "Willie" Tavenner died in 1864 from a wound received at the battle of the Monocacy, Maryland, July 9, 1864. Perhaps even more valuable than the soldiers' letters are those of "Poca" (Withers) Owen telling of the exorbitant cost of living then prevailing in Texas, and those of "Bettie" Thornhill describing New Orleans after it fell to the Federal Army, and her trip to Demopolis, Alabama, in 1863, as a refugee.

The postwar correspondence, though large in bulk, declines in value. It is composed almost entirely of family news and includes many letters to Bettie and Jennie Tavenner, daughters of Jennet Scott (Withers) Tavenner, from friends and relatives in school at the Academy of Visitation, Wheeling, West Virginia, the Parkersburg (West Virginia) Female Seminary, and, near the turn of the century, Woodberry Forest School, Orange, Virginia. In the decade of the 1860's there are frequent allusions to current fashions in women's dress. The last decades of the collection are taken up almost wholly with letters concerning an action instituted by Jennet (Withers) Tavenner and her daughter, Janet Ann Tavenner, to settle a claim to a tract of land in Webster County, West Virginia, apparently a portion of the deceased Cabell Tavenner's estate. Several letters, not only closely related to the rest of the collection, but also containing information of value, are as follows:

(1) 1849, January 15, and 1891, January 31. Letters from Lyman C. Draper to Alexander Scott Withers and his granddaughter, Janet Ann Withers, respectively, concerning the source of material from which Withers had written his Chronicles of Border Warfare. . . .

(2) 1850, April 13. A letter giving an account of the escape of slaves with stolen property across the Ohio River.

(3) 1860, August 5. A letter concerning the attempts of Abolitionists to incite rebellion among the Negroes from Kansas to northern Texas.

(4) 1862, August 28. An account of Confederate soldiers raiding a general store in Virginia and stealing $2,500.

(5) 1864, March 8. An account of a Confederate sympathizer seeking permission to raise a company in northwest Virginia.

(6) 1865, August 20. A Southern matron's opinion of the general worthlessness of "freedwomen" as maids.

(7) 1867, March 18. Use of laughing gas as an anesthetic.

1661. A. G. TAYLOR AND (WILLIAM A.) MILLER LEDGER, 1860-70. 1 vol. Danville, Va.

1662. DANIEL WALTON TAYLOR PAPERS, 1842-52. 5 items. Sherburne (Rutland County), Vt.

1663. GRIFFIN TAYLOR PAPERS, 1792 (1818-62). 39 items. Frederick County, Va.

Papers of Griffin Taylor, probably clerk of Frederick County in 1792 and later tax collector, consisting of lists of tax assessments and rates, and a few personal papers.

1664. JOHN TAYLOR PAPERS, 1789-1875. 12 items. Caroline County, Va.

Letters from John Taylor (1753-1824), political writer, agriculturist, and U. S. senator, concerning debts of the estate of General Thomas Nelson; settlement of the estate of one Carter, evidently of West Point, Virginia; imminence of war with Great Britain in 1807; references to agricultural pursuits; the principles of republicanism; political theories of Albert Gallatin with reference to Thomas Jefferson; and the proposed establishment in Richmond of a newspaper to enunciate republican principles, probably to be edited by James Mercer Garnett. Included also are copies of seven letters and papers bearing on a pamphlet by John Adams in 1776; and the family history of John Taylor of Caroline in a letter from Taylor's grandson in 1875.

1665. JOHN B. TAYLOR LETTER BOOK, 1820-21. 1 vol. Norfolk, Va.

Official correspondence of John B. Taylor as deputy marshal.

1666. JOHN J. TAYLOR PAPERS, 1862-64. 10 items. Cedar Grove (Orange County), N. C.

Correspondence between John J. Taylor and his family while he was in a Confederate military camp, 1862-64, in the western part of North Carolina. Two letters from Taylor's mother, who made the long journey from Cedar Grove to a camp near Wilmington, where her son was ill, reveal conditions in camp and the difficulties of travel.

1667. JOSEPH J. TAYLOR ACCOUNT BOOK, 1836-72. 1 vol. Lockville (Chatham County), N. C.

1668. WILLIAM TAYLOR PAPERS, 1797; 1801. 2 items. Baltimore, Md.

Correspondence of William Taylor, apparently a merchant, referring to the shipping of produce and financial matters.

1669. ELLEN TEAGUE PAPERS, 1866-80. 45 items. Abbott's Creek (Davidson County), N. C.

Correspondence and papers of Ellen Teague and other members of her family. Among the correspondence is a kind of family history, with information on Baptists, prepared by an older member of the family. Included also are letters from a Missouri branch of the family with comments on agricultural and economic conditions in that state during the 1870's; letters from a student at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, with an account of student life in 1876; and other family letters.

1670. EDWARD TELFAIR PAPERS, 1773-1839. 68 items. Savannah, Ga.

Letters from Edward Telfair (ca. 1735-1807), governor of Georgia and delegate to the Continental Congress, concerning some personal business obligations, describing the difficulties of the government in keeping white settlers out of Indian territory, and commenting on artillery pieces received at Savannah in 1807, and to Telfair on routine business. Among the correspondents are Oliver Bowen, David Brydie, William Clark, Joseph Clay, James Dunwody, William Ewen, William Few, John Graham, John Houston, Robert Howe, James Jackson, Alexander McGillivray, Edward Telfair, and John Adam Treutlen.

1671. W. A. TEMPLETON PAPERS, 1861-64. 6 items. Yorkville, S. C.

Letters from W. A. Templeton, a private in the Confederate Army, most of which were written from Camp Gregg, Virginia, and discuss "Yankee" depredations in the neighborhood, rumors of peace, and the miserable condition of Virginia roads in winter.

1672. ALFRED TENNYSON PAPERS, 1831-97. 85 items. Farringford, Isle of Wight, England.

Letters of Alfred, Lord Tennyson (1809-92), poet; of his brother, Frederick Tennyson (1807-98); and of Hallam Tennyson (1852-1928), son of Alfred, Lord Tennyson. Fourteen letters from Alfred Tennyson to Sophy Rawnsley (Mrs. Edward Elmhirst) are largely personal, although one of these expresses Tennyson's reluctance to become poet laureate. Other letters of Tennyson contain references to such matters as the possible publication of his poems in the United States; the value of his own poetry; and the presentation of one of his volumes to Queen Victoria. Letters of Frederick Tennyson refer to the death of his father and to early publication of his brother's poems, etc. Letters of Hallam Tennyson, most of them to Theodore Watts-Dunton, contain many allusions to the works of his father. Included also are letters of Hall Caine, Sidney J. Low, Lewis Morris, Vernon Randall, M. H. Spielmann, and Theodore Watts-Dunton relative to the publication of articles and reviews on the works of Tennyson and rumors of his possible resignation as poet laureate.

1673. MARY VIRGINIA (HAWES) TERHUNE PAPERS, 1843 (1849-56) 1913. 66 items. Amelia County, Va.

Letters from Mary Virginia (Hawes) Terhune (1830-1922), author, known as "Marion Harland." The letters for 1843-57 are addressed to school friends and tell about schoolgirl affairs and her attempts to write; the remainder of the letters, 1896-1913, are to friends and are full of memories of earlier years.

1674. ANTOINE AND BARTHELEMY TERRASSON PAPERS, 1773 (1780-1860) 1869. 1,253 items. Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters and papers of the French trading firm of Terrasson Brothers established in Philadelphia by Antoine and Barthelemy Terrasson as a branch of their father's firm, John Terrasson and Company, with headquarters in Paris and Lyons, France. Many of the letters are from John Terrasson, chiefly to Barthelemy Terrasson, who, before coming to America, had been stationed at Cadiz, to oversee the firm's trade with Lisbon, Malabar, and Macáo. While at Philadelphia, Barthelemy Terrasson also received letters from his brother, Antoine, who traveled for the firm. Many of these letters reflect the trade of the firm in grain, the furnishing of supplies to French and American armies, and the purchase of tobacco when their operations were first started at Yorktown and Alexandria, Virginia, Baltimore, Maryland, Charleston, South Carolina, and New Bern and Edenton, North Carolina. The correspondence contains frequent mention of the movement of the French fleet, forces under Rochambeau and D'Estaing, world-wide trade, rates of exchange, and evidences of speculation and trade during the Revolutionary period. Correspondence in 1784 reveals that the Terrasson brothers became involved in a quarrel with John Ross over the ownership of trading vessels which the Terrassons held jointly with Ross. Albert Gallatin carried messages to Ross for the Terrassons, and their papers also contain many drafts drawn on Stephen Girard.

The Terrassons disappear from the correspondence about 1790, and the remaining papers are concerned with Mark Prager, owner of a trading firm of Holland. Evidently some member of the Prager family married into the Terrasson family. This later correspondence reveals something of Prager's trade up to 1820 but much of younger generations of his family, centering around Harriet Prager (d. 1864) of Philadelphia and the children of her brother, Charles Prager of Wheeling, Virginia, during the 1850's and 1860's. These letters include comments on family affairs, slavery, and other current questions, Abraham Lincoln, Copperheads, and the Mason-Slidell affair. About one hundred of the letters were written during the Civil War. The collection contains very little between 1810 and 1850, and much of the early correspondence is written in a medley of French, Portuguese, and English.

1675. WILLIAM A. TESH PAPERS, 1858-64. 74 items. Yadkin County, N. C.

Letters from William A. Tesh, a Confederate soldier in Company I, 28th North Carolina Regiment. The letters concern the raid on Hagerstown, Maryland, the Battle of Gettysburg, 1863, camp life, deserters, and food prices.

1676. JESSE TETTERTON PAPERS, 1849 (1857-61) 1884. 23 items. Bath, N. C.

Personal correspondence of Jesse Tetterton, one letter, May, 1857, commenting on hard times and the high cost of provisions, and other of the same month concerning the apprehension of runaway slaves. The Civil War letters, 1861, concern operations around Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, and Manassas Junction, Virginia.

1677. DELPHINA L. E. THINTON PAPERS, 1864-69. 4 items. Yanceyville, N. C.

Personal correspondence of the Thinton and Taylor families, impoverished farmers. Included is a manuscript copy of a song, "News from Home," copied by B. J. Thinton.

1678. JAMES THOMAS PAPERS, 1860-64. 11 items. Sparta (Hancock County), Ga.

Personal, business, and legal correspondence of Judge James Thomas, including letters commenting on slaves, Georgia courts, and the stand North Carolina took after Lincoln's election.

1679. JAMES THOMAS, JR., PAPERS, 1850 (1852-61) 1879. 14,086 items. Richmond, Va.

This collection consists principally of the apparently complete business papers and records, 1850-63, of James Thomas, Jr. (1806-82), one of the largest of antebellum tobacco manufacturers. In addition to an extensive business correspondence, numerous orders for tobacco from Maine, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Georgia, the Netherlands, England, and Australia are included, as well as "Prices Current" bulletins from firms throughout the world. The collection not only gives a detailed history of Thomas's enterprises, but affords much information on the tobacco industry in general and on other phases of the economic life of Virginia in the 1850's. Some of Thomas's private correspondence is also in the collection, including an occasional letter from such men as J. L. M. Curry and George Frederick Holmes. Some information is given on Thomas's aid to Basil Manly in his work with the Virginia Baptist Seminary, Richmond, and on his financial assistance, which made it possible for the institution to remain open after the Civil War.

1680. REBECCA THOMAS PAPERS, 1880-89. 48 items. Shadwell (Albemarle County), Va.

Personal letters to Mrs. Rebecca Thomas from her children and friends.

1681. WILLIAM HOLLAND THOMAS PAPERS AND ACCOUNTS, 1814-98. 2,700 items and 79 vols. Haywood County, N. C.

Letters and papers of William H. Thomas (1805-93), lawyer, Indian agent and trader, and colonel in the Confederate Army, concerning his life in western North Carolina, the removal of the Cherokee Indians and the status of those who remained in North Carolina, the building of roads and railroads, fighting during the Civil War in East Tennessee, postwar administration of Indian affairs, and private business of Thomas. There are also account books, daybooks, and ledgers showing a record of goods bought and sold in Thomas's five stores in Haywood and Cherokee counties. Included also are business correspondence and miscellaneous accounts, 1875-90, of his son, William Holland Thomas, Jr., merchant and farmer of Jackson County, North Carolina.

1682. JACOB THOMPSON PAPERS, 1859; 1862. 2 items. Washington, D. C.

Letters of Jacob Thompson (1810-85), secretary of the interior and secret agent of the Confederate Government, one, 1859, being a routine letter signed by Thompson while Secretary of the Interior and the other, a protest from Thompson to President Buchanan against reinforcing Fort Sumter.

1683. KATE THOMPSON AUTOGRAPH ALBUM, 1876-80. 1 vol. Bonnywood, S. C.

Album of autographs kept by Kate Thompson.

1684. MERRIWETHER JEFFERSON THOMPSON PAPERS, 1861-74. 5 items. New Madrid, Mo.

Military letters from M. Jeff Thompson (1826-76), brigadier general in the Confederate Army and state rights leader of Missouri, about obtaining supplies and ammunition, with comments on a skirmish with the Federal forces.

1685. SARAH E. THOMPSON PAPERS, 1855 (1864-91) 1904. 137 items. Greene County, Tenn.

Correspondence of Sarah Thompson, Federal spy, who furnished General Alvan Cullem Gillem with the information which led to the attack on the command of General John H. Morgan at Greeneville, Tennessee, in which the latter was killed. The correspondence includes, in addition to an account of this incident in Mrs. Thompson's own hand, numerous testimonials of her services to the Federal Government and recommendations which ultimately led to very poorly paid and short-lived jobs in the Treasury Department, the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and the Post Office Department. These letters indicate something of the poverty under which she struggled after her marriage to Orville J. Bacon, of Broome County, New York, in January, 1866, and her belief that the government should reward her with a lucrative position in payment for her services and those of her first husband, Sylvanus H. Thompson, of Company I, 1st Regiment Tennessee Cavalry, who was captured and shot by Morgan's men as a spy. A letter of January 14, 1865, describes the work of the Refugee Relief Commission of Ohio in Cincinnati. Included also are letters of Federal soldiers to Sarah E. Thompson written to her because of her services in hospitals where she nursed wounded soldiers, and because of her lectures, after the Civil War, on her spying activities during the war.

1686. THOMAS THOMPSON PAPERS, 1849-51. 3 items. Abbeville, S. C.

1687. WADDY THOMPSON PAPERS, 1821-51. 4 items. Pickens, S. C.

A letter from David Johnson to Waddy Thompson (1798-1868), member of U. S. Congress, 1835-41, and minister to Mexico, 1842-46, offering reasons for the reorganization of the court system of South Carolina and a bill of complaint against G. S. Thompson and R. S. Coxe.

1688. WILBUR THOMPSON PAPERS, 1862-64. 2 items. (Ga.)

Personal letters from Wilbur Thompson, a Confederate soldier, to his family, expressing his war weariness.

1689. WILLIAM THOMPSON RECEIPT BOOK, 1807-11. 1 vol. Charleston, S. C.

1690. BENJAMIN PETER THORP PAPERS, 1837-89. 28 items. Granville County, N. C.

Business correspondence and accounts of the Thorp family, probably planters, containing information on economic conditions in North Carolina and prices of various commodities, mainly during the 1840's.

1691. WILLIAM P. THURMAN NOTEBOOK, 1857-58. 1 vol. Charlottesville, Va.

Handwritten notes taken in Latin, Greek, and mathematics classes while William P. Thurman was a student at the University of Virginia. Thurman was later a physician, settling at Fancy Grove (Bedford County), Virginia.

1692. BENJAMIN THURMOND SALE BOOK, 1848-51. 1 vol. Buckingham County, Va.

Sale book of Benjamin Thurmond's estate.

1693. JOHN A. THURMOND PAPERS, (1854-64) 1909. 93 items. Fabers Mills (Nelson County), Va.

Family letters and letters from John A. Thurmond, a farmer who served for a short time in the Confederate Army.

1694. FRANCIS ORRAY TICKNOR PAPERS, 1839-80. 39 items. Columbus, Ga.

Correspondence of Francis O. Ticknor (1822-74), a physician, poet, musician, and horticulturist, with Paul H. Hayne and William N. Nelson, containing poems and references to Ticknor's family and his activities. Of the two originals, one is from William N. Nelson, and the other is by Ticknor. The thirty-seven typed copies are from originals in possession of Mrs. Michelle Cutliff (Ticknor) Furlow, of Albany, Georgia.

1695. BENJAMIN RYAN TILLMAN PAPERS, 1894-97. 3 items. Trenton (Edgefield County), S. C.

Political letters from friends of Benjamin R. Tillman (1847-1918), U. S. senator and governor of South Carolina. One letter deals with state control of the liquor trade.

1696. JOHN W. TIMBERLAKE PAPERS, 1843-50. 25 items. Charlottesville, Va.

Correspondence concerning the cotton market in New Orleans, Louisiana, and John W. Timberlake's business as a druggist of Charlottesville.

1697. TOBACCO INSPECTION BOOK, 1815-23. 1 vol. (Richmond, Va.?)

Record of inspection of tobacco, apparently at warehouses in Richmond, Virginia, although some of the inspections were made in Clarksville, Virginia, and some in Milton, North Carolina.

1698. ROBERT TOOMBS PAPERS, 1846-78. 15 items. Wilkes County, Ga.

Letters from Robert Toombs (1810-85), member of U. S. Congress, 1844-53, U. S. senator, 1853-61, and Confederate soldier. Included are letters to one Miller on legal business, 1846; to T. G. Thomas on the Kansas question, 1857; and to Jefferson Davis on the wisdom of marching an army into Maryland, 1861.

1699. PETER DELLA TORRE PAPERS, 1830-53. 7 items. Charleston, S. C.

1700. ALEXANDER H. TORRENCE PAPERS, 1754 (1883-1915). 559 items. Iredell County, N. C.

Family papers and correspondence of four generations of the Torrence family. The earlier papers are those of Adam Torrence (d. ca. 1780), Revolutionary soldier, and consist of plats and memoranda concerning the settlement of his estate. Most of the papers fall in the 1850's and concern the settlement of the estate of Alexander H. Torrence (d. ca. 1848), lawyer and local politician. Included are records on the hiring of slaves, 1853-60; the guardianship of the children of Alexander Torrence; and lists of farm equipment and household furnishings with values.

1701. A. S. TOWNES DIARY, 1864-65. 1 vol. S. C.

A diary kept by A. S. Townes, a Confederate soldier in Hampton's Legion, in the back of a diary started by a Federal soldier who saw active service in western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee. Townes's entries, in pencil, concern the evacuation of Richmond and activities around Farmville in April, 1865. Entries of the Federal soldier, in ink, are much clearer and fuller.

1702. JAMES TREAKLE PAPERS, 1861. 7 items. Alexandria, Va.

Family letters written to James Treacle, a pilot on a Potomac River boat, 1860-61, while he was imprisoned as a spy by the Confederate forces, and papers relating to his trial.

1703. WILLIAM HENRY TRESCOT PAPERS, 1866. 2 items. Charleston, S. C.

Letters from William Henry Trescott (1822-98), historian and diplomat, while representing South Carolina in Washington, 1866, in the matter of adjusting difficulties arising under the Reconstruction Act, written to James Conner, concerning the trial of Confederates, the South Carolina Radicals, the activities of President Andrew Johnson, and Reconstruction plans.

1704. TRINITY COLLEGE PAPERS, 1839 (1883-1910) 1940. 6,593 items and 163 vols. Randolph County, N. C., and Durham, N. C.

Administrative correspondence and numerous records of various types connected with Union Institute, Normal College, and Trinity College, the successive names of the institution which ultimately became Duke University. The records pertain to the presidents, the faculty, boards of trustees, the library, and student organizations. Administrative correspondence is generally limited to the presidential terms of Braxton Craven (1822-82) from 1842 to 1882, and John Franklin Crowell (1857-1931) from 1887 to 1894.

There is also correspondence of the administration of John Carlisle Kilgo (1861-1922); of Marquis Lafayette Wood (1829-85), and of John F. Heitman (1840-1904), both of whom held the positions of president and chairman of the faculty respectively for brief periods; and letters and papers of John Spencer Bassett (1867-1928), historian and teacher, concerning activities of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association, of which Bassett was the first secretary and treasurer; letters from E. Graham Daves, president of the association; a few historical papers requested by Bassett for his writings; and a letter from Charles J. Hedrick concerning the dismissal of his father, Benjamin F. Hedrick, from the faculty of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Included with the correspondence of these men are such items as class lectures, plans for the expansion of the institution, grade books, building plans, curricula outlines, and letters concerning supplies and equipment. Included also are many sermons of Craven, who was also a Methodist minister, and the original manuscript of the recollections of Crowell. Important among the volumes are the constitution, accounts, and minutes of the board of trustees of Union Institute, 1839-53; the records of Normal College, 1853-55; the muster roll of the military department of Trinity College, 1864; and an account book, 1845-82. Included also is a fragment of a manuscript "History of Union Institute and Normal College," by Brantley York (1805-91), first principal of Union Institute Academy. A great bulk of the records consists of grade books and account books of William Trigg Gannaway (1825-1910), long a member of the faculty. Included also are grade books and notebooks of William H. Pegram; grade books of Robert L. Flowers, professor of mathematics in Trinity College and president of Duke University; a large collection of press notices relative to the so-called Bassett affair; and commencement addresses and declamations. Many order books, account books, records of loans, and other items connected with the library are also included. Among the student organizations there are records of the Trinity College Historical Society; extensive records of the Columbian Literary Society, 1848-1930, and of the Hesperian Literary Society, 1851-1917; the New Testament Club; the Theological Society; and the Science Club. There are also papers connected with the administrations of John C. Kilgo and William P. Few.

Among the correspondents are R. L. Abernethy, E. A. Alderman, A. B. Andrews, James Atkins, C. B. Aycok, Josiah W. Bailey, K. P. Battle, Joseph G. Brown, T. K. Bruner, F. H. Busbee, W. P. Bynum, W. A. Candler, Jas. H. Carlisle, J. S. Carr, Walter Clark, Josephus Daniels, Edward Graham Daves, Chas. F. Deems, B. N. Duke, Washington Duke, W. W. Duncan, P. T. Durham, Kope Elias, R. L. Flowers, R. B. Glenn, P. H. Hanes, T. T. Hicks, J. A. Holmes, J. C. Horner, T. N. Ivey, Thos. J. Jarvis, J. C. Kilgo, J. H. Kirkland, C. H. Mebane, T. C. Mendenhall, Edwin Mims, W. J. Montgomery, W. R. Odell, L. S. Overman, Bruce R. Payne, Dred Peacock, Walter Sikes, F. M. Simmons, John H. Small, Chas. L. Smith, J. H. Southgate, Henry J. Stockard, B. R. Tillman, D. H. Tuttle, Henry Van Dyke, and George T. Winston.

1705. JOHN W. TROUTT PAPERS, 1862-65. 20 items. Craig County, Va.

Correspondence between John W. Troutt, a soldier in the Confederate Army, and his family and friends who lived on Sinking Creek, Craig County. The main interest is in the portrayal of unusual customs, such as "wool pickings" and "sugar boilings."

1706. THOMAS TRUEBLOOD PAPERS, 1866-70. 3 items. n.p.

Correspondence of the Trueblood family, impoverished Southern farmers, including one letter, 1866, from Mary Trueblood, concerning the death of four of her children from scarlet fever.

1707. RICHARD TUBMAN PAPERS, 1753 (1811-29) 1858. 135 items. Augusta, Ga.

The earlier papers, 1753-1800, consist chiefly of deeds dealing with the transfer of land in Maryland between Peter Dent, George Tubman, and Charles Tubman. The papers for 1807-36 are chiefly those of Richard Tubman (d. 1836) and concern his somewhat extensive affairs in Augusta, cotton trade, and the attitude of the farmers and merchants toward the War of 1812. After 1836 the papers are in the name of his wife, Emily H. Tubman, who evidently continued her husband's business.

1708. HENRY ST. GEORGE TUCKER PAPERS, 1796-1834. 7 items. Winchester, Va.

Letters from Henry St. George Tucker (1780-1848), Virginia jurist, to James M. Garnett, dealing with conditions which later led to the War of 1812, speculations over presidential candidates in 1811, and the great number of pamphlets issued at that time.

1709. NATHANIEL BEVERLEY TUCKER PAPERS, 1836 (1848-51). 66 items. Williamsburg, Va.

Typed copies of letters of Nathaniel Beverley Tucker (1784-1851), author and professor of law at the College of William and Mary, 1834-51, to James Henry Hammond, advocating state sovereignty and urging Hammond to take the lead in the 1850 secession movement in South Carolina. The letters, often long, reveal the political theory and reasoning of the state sovereignty group. Throughout the correspondence are references to "the rights of the South," Tucker's love of Virginia, his objections to the Second U. S. Bank, his hatred of Martin Van Buren, construction of railroads, John C. Calhoun's ability, disturbances in Europe, and plans for the Nashville Convention of 1850. There are also brief references to Thomas R. Dew and George Frederick Holmes. Thirteen pieces are merely excerpts from letters of Tucker to Hammond; four letters are from Hammond to William Gilmore Simms relative to a new edition of Tucker's The Partisan Leader, the Nashville Convention, Tucker's character, and his death; one letter is from William B. Hodgson to Hammond relative to the Nashville Convention; and one original from Tucker to Henry A. Wise recommends an applicant for a position as postmaster.

1710. NANNIE WHITMELL TUNSTALL PAPERS, 1848 (1875-78) 1886. 20 items. Richmond, Va.

Letters to Nannie W. Tunstall, short-story writer, from Governor James Lawson Kemper and George Washington Custis Lee, chiefly concerned with social affairs.

1711. JAMES TUPPER PAPERS, 1862-65. 20 items. Columbia, S. C.

Letters to James Tupper, South Carolina state auditor, and, in 1862, central secretary for a commission appointed by the South Carolina convention to enable planters to evacuate their slaves before the arrival of Federal troops. Most of the letters are from slaveowners seeking remuneration for slaves who had died while impressed by the government for defense work.

1712. MARY ELIZABETH TURLEY PAPERS, 1853-55. 10 items. Moorefield (Hardy County), Va. (now W. Va.)

1713. A. J. TURLINGTON PAPERS, 1851-77. 15 items. Cumberland County, N. C.

Personal and business correspondence between A. J. Turlington and his brother, W. H. Turlington, a Wilmington merchant, concerning the timber and turpentine business, recreational and cultural advantages in Wilmington, and other matters. A few Civil War letters comment on yellow fever in Wilmington and conditions in the camp there.

1714. S. C. TURNAGE DAYBOOKS AND LEDGERS, 1907-24. 18 vols. Smithfield, N. C.

Accounts of S. C. Turnage, a general merchant associated with one Talton. Especially valuable are the agricultural prices for the period of 1909-14.

1715. ANNE A. TURNER DIARY, 1821-37. 1 vol. Fayetteville, N. C.

A diary filled for the most part with religious introspection and family matters.

1716. EDWIN C. TURNER PAPERS, 1839 (1853-67) 1887. 116 items. Fauquier County, Va.

Letters dealing with operations at the Kinloch plantation, of which Edwin C. Turner was owner; with Turner's official connection with the Manassas Gap Railroad; and with secession, expressing strong opposition to the fire-eaters of the Cotton States.

1717. GEORGE WILMER TURNER PAPERS, 1846 (1860-76) 1896. 1,574 items. Goochland County, Va.

Family and personal correspondence and legal and business papers of George W. Turner, a Goochland County planter. The bulk of the material falls in the period after the Civil War and concerns difficulties and poverty during Reconstruction. There are letters concerning family and plantation affairs, letters pertaining to the education of Turner's six sons, letters from children in school at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, and Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, and letters from those who were teaching (most of the children turned to teaching after the war). The collection contains information on the beginning of public education in Virginia, Southern social life, and economic conditions during the Reconstruction period.

1718. JESSE TURNER PAPERS, 1827 (1840-93) 1910. 337 items. Van Buren, Ark.

Correspondence of Jesse Turner (1805-94), prominent Whig, lawyer, jurist, and member of the Arkansas Secession Convention, including letters from Albert Pike and Absalom Fowler seeking Turner's legal advice; letters on political activities of the 1840's; Fowler's opinions on the necessity and methods of political writings; letters from Turner on secession; letters describing the temper and work of the Secession Convention; letters from Turner's wife, who with her son was caught in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in the secession fever and experienced some difficulty in returning to Arkansas; letters written after 1871 by the family of Albert Pike, of Alexandria, Virginia, concerning financial difficulties; later correspondence concerning Mrs. Lunsford P. Yandell's portrait of Robert Crittenden, with information about the life of Crittenden and his famous duel with Henry Conway, 1827; and letters of condolence upon Turner's death. Included also is a typed volume containing memorials to Judge Turner by the supreme court of Arkansas and by the Crawford County (Ark.) bar.

1719. JOHN TURNER ESTATE PAPERS, 1847-62. 1 vol. (Hillsboro, N. C.?)

Accounts of John Turner's estate as kept by John Boroughs as executor and guardian of Turner's children, Nancy, William, Josiah, and John C. Turner.

1720. JOSEPH TURNER PAPERS, 1864. 2 items. Fayetteville, N. C.

Personal correspondence of Joseph Turner, apparently a Confederate captain, one letter concerning financial matters, and the other from a friend concerning the loss of her uncle at the Battle of Cold Harbor, 1864.

1721. JOSIAH TURNER PAPERS, (1861-65) 1880. 45 items. Hillsboro, N. C.

Family and political letters of Josiah Turner (1821-1901), member of the Confederate Congress and editor of the Raleigh Sentinel, relating to Reconstruction and Turner's difficulty with the family of Governor W. W. Holden.

1722. WILLIAM TURNER PAPERS, 1830-93. 13 items. Perry County, Ala.

Personal and family letters of William Turner, some of which contain interesting and valuable information as to prices and general economic conditions in the 1830's.

1723. WILLIAM TURNER PAPERS, 1839. 2 items. Putnam County, Ga.

Letters to William Turner, evidently a relative of Joseph Addison Turner, editor of The Countryman and sponsor of young Joel Chandler Harris, from Jabez Jackson relative to an appointment to the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, and from Wilson Lumpkin analyzing national politics in 1839.

1724. MICHAEL H. TURRENTINE PAPERS, 1843 (1863-65) 1868. 40 items. Hillsboro, N. C.

Family correspondence of Michael H. Turrentine (d. ca. 1868), a Confederate

2d lieutenant in the 31st North Carolina Regiment, consisting chiefly of letters from him while stationed at Fort Caswell or Gatling's Battery, North Carolina. The collection concerns the gubernatorial election of 1846; social life at Kittrell Springs, North Carolina, 1860-63; a smallpox epidemic, 1863; social conditions in eastern North Carolina, 1863; attack on the English steamer Kate by Federal blockaders off Cape Fear, North Carolina, 1863; morale of Confederate soldiers, 1864; evacuation of Savannah, Georgia, 1864; and a description of Charleston, South Carolina, after a Federal attack, 1864. Among the undated material are a list of slaves with prices, and diagrams and descriptions of the fortifications along the North Carolina coast during the Civil War.

1725. TUSCARORA FREIGHT BOOK, 1830-36. 1 vol. Near Edenton, N. C.

Records of the schooner Tuscarora as kept by its master, John L. Harvey, while trading in eastern North Carolina.

1726. M. TUTWILER ACCOUNT BOOK, 1859-65. 1 vol. Richmond, Va.

1727. JAMES HOGE TYLER PAPERS, 1900-11. 3 items. Richmond, Va.

Letters from James H. Tyler (1846-1925), soldier in the Confederate Army, Virginia senator, 1877, lieutenant governor, 1889, and governor, 1898-1902. Two of the letters are addressed to General Horatio C. King, secretary of the Society of the Army of the Potomac, concerning the business of that organization, and the third is addressed to Dr. Charles E. Rice of Alliance, Ohio, in reply to an inquiry as to the letters of prominent Virginians.

1728. JOHN TYLER PAPERS, 1848-72. 6 items. Sherwood Forest, Va.

A letter from John Tyler (1790-1862), president of the United States, 1841-45, concerning agriculture, particularly wheat. Included also are two letters from John Tyler, Jr., U. S. Internal Revenue assessor, Florida District, consisting of notes of introduction to members of Congress, and three letters of Robert Tyler relative to Virginia politics during Reconstruction. Included also is a Confederate bond.

1729. WILLIAM TYLER PAPERS, 1799. 2 items. Augusta, Ga.

1730. WILLIAM R. TYNER DAYBOOK AND LEDGER, 1847-49. 2 vols. Smith Church (Davie County?), N. C.

Accounts of a general merchant.

1731. BRYAN TYSON PAPERS, 1857 (1863-86) 1903. 250 items and 2 vols. Moore County, N. C., and Washington, D. C.

Letters and papers of Bryan Tyson, opponent of secession and abolitionism, government clerk, and inventor; and of his brother James Tyson, who, as early as 1868, was living at Durham Station, at that time in Orange County, North Carolina. Bryan Tyson, the author of A Ray of Light; or, A Treatise on the Sectional Trouble Religiously and Morally Considered, which was published in 1862, at Brower's Mill, Randolph County, North Carolina, left his home state probably in anticipation of capture. He secured a clerkship in some department of the government, but during 1867-68 he was assistant examiner in the pension office. During the war period Tyson's correspondence reflects his interest in the Democratic party and his activities in G. B. McClellan's presidential campaign, 1864, but more particularly his efforts to spread Unionism among Confederate soldiers who were imprisoned in the North. Numerous letters, 1863-65, from prisoners of war to Tyson contain requests for money, clothes, and tobacco; the bulk of these letters came from prisoners of war at Point Lookout, Maryland, although some were written from hospitals and a prison camp at Elmira, New York. These war prisoners often described their indifference to the war, their intentional surrender to Federal troops; their outright desertion; oaths of allegiance and the amnesty oath; their forced induction into the Confederate Army by the Conscription Act; the ambush and killing of men known to favor the Union; and the rounding up of deserters in North Carolina by Confederate troops. These deserters and Union sympathizers centered in Randolph County and neighboring counties. Letters from Indiana indicate that numerous Union sympathizers fled from the same area of North Carolina during the war and settled in Indiana, one correspondent, Newton D. Woody, writing as follows on February 5, 1865, from Mooresville, Indiana: "I see every few days men that keep cuming [sic] from our old counties Randolph Chatham Alamance and Guilford. . . ."

The correspondence also contains information on Tyson's business ventures, notably the sale of "McClellan's Bee Hive," and his efforts to raise money for developing an invention for removing additional gold from discarded ores. The matter of raising money for this invention occupied nearly all of Tyson's letters to his brother, James, during the 1880's and 1890's. The letters also contain accounts of Tyson's numerous travels in the interest of developing the invention. Many of Tyson's letters immediately after the war are concerned with obtaining contracts for carrying U. S. mail, showing that he apparently used his position as clerk in order to underbid competitors, later farming out the contracts. Included also are a few family letters to James Tyson, a copy of Bryan Tyson's book, A Ray of Light, and two account books of James Tyson.

Correspondence of the Wagon family, concerning their migration from Calcasieu, Louisiana, to San Saba County, Texas.

1748. BENJAMIN LEONARD COVINGTON WAILES PAPERS, 1843 (1845-56) 1859. 126 items and 29 vols. Washington, Miss.

Letters and diaries of B. L. C. Wailes (1797-1862), agriculturalist, geologist, and professor of agriculture at the University of Mississippi, Oxford. There are more than a hundred letters from notable scientists of the time, chiefly members of the American Society for the Promotion of Science, such as Louis Agassiz, John James Audubon, Peter Force, Robert W. Gibbes, John and Joseph LeConte, and Henry W. Wheatland. The diaries consist of Volumes V-IX, 1852-53, and XIV-XXXVI, 1854-62. (Eight volumes, I-IV and X-XIII, are in the collection of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.) There is also a volume containing 204 typed copies of letters and accounts from and to Wailes. The diaries contain detailed accounts of Wailes's farming operations and the collection of fossils. [Partially published: Charles S. Sydnor, A Gentleman of the Old Natchez Region: Benjamin L. C. Wailes (Durham, N. C., 1938).]

Letters and papers of Gilbert C. Walker (1832-85), governor of Virginia, 1869-74, including two documents appointing commissioners for the Commonwealth of Virginia.

1751. JOHN K. WALKER PAPERS, 1854 (1861-64) 1876. 72 items. Alamance County, N. C.

Letters chiefly to relatives from John K. Walker, Confederate soldier and son of Garrison and Lucinda Walker, describing Civil War campaigns and battles and giving the common soldier's attitude toward the war.

1752. LEROY POPE WALKER PAPERS, 1861-68. 5 items. Huntsville, Ala.

Official letters and one business letter from Leroy P. Walker (1817-84), Alabama politician and Confederate secretary of war, 1861.

1753. MILTON AND OLIPHANT S. WALKER PAPERS, 1861-64. 11 items. Edgefield District, S. C.

Civil War letters written by privates in the Confederate Army. One letter, September, 1861, concerns disputes among the volunteers in camp; another, October, 1861, tells of religious services in the Confederate camp; one, 1864, pertains to Milton Walker's capture at the Battle of Malvern Hill, Virginia, 1862, and his imprisonment in Elmira, New York; and the remainder concern depredations at Beaufort, South Carolina, by Negroes, and contain accounts of deaths in the Walker family. Oliphant Walker was killed in the battle of Chancellorsville, Virginia, 1863.

1754. R. LEWIS WALKER DAYBOOKS AND LEDGER, 1880-96. 4 vols. Milton, N. C.

Accounts of R. Lewis Walker's drug business.

1755. ROBERT JOHN WALKER PAPERS, 1842-46. 9 items. Northumberland, Pa.

Letters from office seekers to Robert J. Walker (1801-69), as secretary of the treasury under President James K. Polk, 1845-49; and a letter concerning the storage of goods in the customhouse in Savannah, Georgia.

1756. WILLIAM HENRY TALBOT WALKER PAPERS, 1850 (1860-70) 1883. 289 items. Augusta, Ga.

Letters from William Henry Talbot Walker (1816-64), graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York, in 1837, lieutenant colonel in U. S. Army during the Mexican War and brigadier general in the Confederate Army, 1861-64. The letters for 1850-60 contain records of Walker's U. S. Army career from Mississippi to West Point, to Minnesota, and back to Georgia. The Civil War letters show a brooding resentment toward the Confederate military leaders. The letters, generally to his wife, contain criticism of Jefferson Davis and accounts of skirmishes in northern Virginia during the autumn of 1861. Included also are letters to and from Walker's daughter, Molly, who married Dr. Charles Schley, of Savannah, Georgia.

1757. ROBERT D. WALL PAPERS, 1850-57. 26 items. Beaufort County, N. C.

Papers relating to the purchase of goods, and family letters commenting on the prices of naval stores and foodstuffs, and on politics in Beaufort County.

1758. GEORGE T. WALLACE PAPERS, 1862. 4 items. Glencoe (Norfolk County), Va.

Letters from George T. Wallace, a Virginia planter near Norfolk, describing trouble with slaves because of the proximity of Federal troops.

1759. LEWIS WALLACE PAPERS, 1864-1901. 7 items. Crawfordsville, Ind.

Photostatic copies of letters from Lew Wallace (1827-1905), author, U. S. Army officer, and U. S. minister to Turkey. The letters concern administrative matters in connection with his services during the Civil War; his visit to Palestine; and a disagreement with Robert Underwood Johnson, editor of the Century Magazine.

1760. EDWARD D. WALSH PAPERS, 1863-66. 13 items. Lenoir, N. C.

Letters from Edward D. Walsh, in the 10th North Carolina Regiment, C.S.A., at Smithville (now Southport), and near Wilmington, concerning fortifications around Wilmington, the ladies of the town, etc.; and postwar love letters. One letter, 1866, from Charlotte Patrick while at Louisburg College, North Carolina, tells of "Yankee" schoolteachers coming to teach Negroes in Louisburg.

1761. GEORGE WALTON PAPERS, 1776-1802. 12 items. Augusta, Ga.

Official letters and papers of George Walton (1741-1804), governor of Georgia. The collection consists of a requisition for payment of supplies during the Revolution; orders to sheriffs of Georgia; Walton's proclamation ordering all state officials to take the oath of allegiance to the U. S. Constitution; a receipt from Walton; two letters from George Washington, one proclaiming a day of Thanksgiving and the other transmitting acts for establishing the U. S. Treasury Department and the regulation of coastal trade; a letter from Thomas Jefferson, enclosing an act authorizing the first census, regulating naturalization proceedings, and making government appropriations; and a letter from William Few, requesting information on Indian negotiations.

1762. WAR OF JENKINS'S EAR PAPERS, 1739-40. 45 items. London, England.

Pencil copies of papers of the Colonial Office from originals in the British Public Records Office, relative to the participation of North American colonies in the War of Jenkins's Ear, generally in communications with the Duke of Newcastle, secretary of the Southern Department. Included are plans of campaign; instructions for the governors and for Lord Charles Cathcart, Admiral Edward Vernon, Colonel Alexander Spotswood, Colonel William Blakeney, and other officers; plans for raising troops in North American colonies; and schedules of payment for men and officers.

1765. WILLIAM WARE PAPERS, 1865. 2 items. Danville, Va.

Business correspondence of William Ware, a bank teller.

1766. G. W. WARREN DAYBOOKS AND LEDGER, 1881-83. 3 vols. Louisville (Ga.)

General mercantile accounts.

1767. GEORGE W. WARTHEN PAPERS, 1858 (1862-64) 1893. 20 items. Sparta (Ga.)

Letters from George W. Warthen, a captain in the Confederate Army, commenting at length on military operations around New Bern, North Carolina, Charleston, South Carolina, and Petersburg, Virginia; a petition from his soldiers asking him to resign; and two miscellaneous papers.

1768. THOMAS J. WARTHEN PAPERS, 1861-63. 25 items. Sandersville, Ga.

Official and personal letters of Thomas J. Warthen, colonel of the 28th Georgia Regiment, C.S.A., stationed at Manassas, Virginia, pertaining to the Civil War in Georgia and Virginia, the conscription bill, furloughs for soldiers, dissatisfaction over officers, etc. One interesting letter, February, 1862, expresses alarm for the safety of Richmond and comments on the Merrimac's attempts to defend Norfolk.

1769. BUSHROD WASHINGTON PAPERS, 1791; 1828. 2 items. Westmoreland, County, Va.

Letters from Bushrod Washington (1762-1829), nephew of George Washington and associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, 1798-1829. The first letter is addressed to his mother; the second deals with a legal matter.

1770. GEORGE WASHINGTON PAPERS, 1753-1816. 18 items. Mt. Vernon, Fairfax County, Va.

Miscellaneous items, including five photostatic copies and two facsimiles, connected with George Washington (1732-99), including one authentic letter to Major James Gibbon (1758-1835), and three others which are probably contemporary copies. Included also are the following: a letter from William Digges to Washington, 1760; notes for surveys of land, 1753, signed with Washington's name but probably a copy; list of Washington's body guard showing sums paid each, 1783-86; a six-page letter of Tobias Lear to Major Augustine Washington describing the inauguration of George Washington in 1789; a plat for land of John West at the forks of the Ohio and Kanawha rivers, supposedly made by Washington; two routine items relative to payment of bounties by the U. S. War Department signed by Tobias Lear in 1816; five photostatic copies of letters and papers relative to Washington's visit to the United Brethren of Wachovia in North Carolina; and two facsimiles, one a letter to Abraham Skinner relative to military action in 1781 and the other the will of Mary Washington.

1771. LAWRENCE WASHINGTON PAPERS, 1858-59. 3 items. Westmoreland County, Va.

Letters from Lawrence Washington, concerning the estate of his son, Henry Augustine Washington, who was, until his death in 1858, professor of history at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia.

1772. LAWRENCE Q. WASHINGTON PAPERS, 1865-66. 5 items. Richmond, Va.

1775. WASHINGTON COUNTY COURT RECORDS, (1774-1859) 1893. 3,713 items. Tenn.

Apparently that portion of the court records of Washington County, Tennessee, constituting the sheriff's papers, including court orders, subpoenas, and search warrants, which were placed in the sheriff's hands for execution. Some of the records, however, consist of regular court records concerned with suits for slander, assault, and the recovery of debts. A number of papers are court orders to sheriffs of surrounding counties. Although routine in nature, the papers contain many names connected with the early settlement of eastern Tennessee, explanations for failure to pay debts, and information on suits for land, horse stealing, slander, theft, and divorce.

1776. WASHINGTON INSTITUTE TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION CONSTITUTION, 1857. 1 vol. Harris Depot, N. C.

Minutes of meetings and the constitution of the association.

1777. WASHINGTON MINING COMPANY LEDGERS, 1843-57. 2 vols. Davidson County, N. C.

Business accounts of the company, consisting of inventories of merchandise and records of advances of cash and merchandise sold presumably to employees.

1779. HENRY WATSON, JR., PAPERS, 1762 (1819-67) 1880. 1,565 items. Greensboro, Ala.

Letters, papers, and business correspondence of Henry Watson, Jr. (1810-88), lawyer and planter, concerning chiefly Watson's activities; a visit to Greensboro, Alabama, in 1831; return to his home in East Windsor, Connecticut, for the study of law with Henry Barnard; his return to Greensboro to begin the practice of law in 1834; the establishment of a lucrative practice; the accumulation of property including a plantation and slaves; establishment of the Planter's Insurance Company; his marriage to Sophia Peck; his efforts to dispose of two shares in the Ohio Land Company; and the settlement of his father's estate. Included in Watson's letters to his friend, Julius Reed, and to his father and brothers are descriptions of life in Alabama in 1834, with accounts of the soil, settlement, and agriculture; politics in Alabama, 1834-44; westward migration; activities of Northern abolitionists in Alabama in 1836; panic of 1837; secession; and the sale of cotton before and after the Civil War. Included are letters to and from Watson's partner, John Erwin, also a prominent Whig leader in Alabama; two land grants to Edwin Peck signed by Martin Van Buren; a letter of Henry Watson to an editor on the subject of fertilizers, 1840; a few letters from Confederate soldiers imprisoned at Johnson's Island, Ohio; contracts of Watson with freedmen; and sixteen letters from Henry Barnard [partially published: Bayrd Still (ed.), "Observations of Henry Barnard on the West and South of the 1840's," Journal of Southern History, VIII (May, 1942), 247-258]. More than one half of the collection centering around Henry Watson consists of bills, receipts, and prices current.

The first part of the collection consists of letters and papers of John Watson (d. 1824), a frequent contributor to Joel Barlow's American Mercury, including fragments and several complete literary manuscripts; and papers relating to the settlement of John Watson's estate. Among the earlier papers are several letters to Henry Watson, Sr., from his friend, Elisha Stanley, describing Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Kentucky; the mercantile business during the War of 1812; the martial spirit and activities of the Kentuckians during the War of 1812; and the disastrous effects of peace on mercantile pursuits.

Letters chiefly to Sophia Zevely, a teacher in Salem Female Academy, from her brothers with interesting side lights on women's academies of the ante-bellum South. One letter, 1839, describes the New Year's reception at the White House in Washington. The letters are chiefly concerned with family affairs; a few are to Sophia Zevely from former students.

1895. JAMES C. ZIMMERMAN PAPERS, 1850 (1862-64) 1876. 91 items. Forsyth County, N. C.

Family letters of James C. Zimmerman, Confederate soldier, to his wife. Unusually excellent, these letters, to Adaline (Spease) Zimmerman, give accounts of her husband's army experiences beginning with his letters from Salisbury, North Carolina, and later from Richmond and vicinity, Cedar Mountain, Fredericksburg, Spotsylvania Court House, Winchester, and Martinsburg, Virginia. Zimmerman's letters give accounts of the various sections through which he passed, methods of travel, exposure, marches, food, clothes, amusements, drill, full accounts of the wounded and killed of the company, efforts to obtain furloughs, deserters, prices, dysentery, hatred of "Yankees," opportunities of winning the war and later fears of losing it. His letters also reveal something of the content of his wife's letters including her efforts to farm and a hint that her husband desert. Zimmerman's letters contain considerable comment on deserters as well as stories from Federal soldiers regarding desertions in their ranks. One letter refers to the work of Federal spies and the use of balloons by the Federal forces at Fredericksburg. Included also are letters of A. J. Spease to his sister, Adaline (Spease) Zimmerman; a letter of Zimmerman in March, 1865, relative to his parole from Camp Chase, Ohio; and a few letters after the war from A. J. Spease, who settled in Missouri.

1896. JOHN JOACHIM ZUBLY PAPERS, 1773. 2 items. Savannah, Ga.

Letters from John Joachim Zubly (1725-81), Presbyterian minister and Georgia Tory, on a legal matter; and a letter from a committee on matters of colonial policy.
